Wofford College Bulletin

ALUMNI NUMBER

Christmas, 1942

In this crisis of our nation's history Wofford men, whether at home or in the camp, whether on land or sea or in the air, are meeting their obligations with generous devotion to the cause that will at last bring freedom to men of every clime.

With a deep sense of gratitude we, the officials of your Alma Mater, extend to you, at this Christmas season, our sincere good wishes, and we join with you in looking forward to the day when total victory shall attend our cause and when, through our nation's might, there shall come to all mankind the fruits of a just and enduring peace of which Christmas is the true and noble symbol.

President.

WALTER KIRKLAND GREENE

A. B. Wofford 1903; M. A. Vanderbilt 1905; M. A. Harvard 1921; Ph. D. Harvard 1923; Head of English Department and Dean of Wesleyan College 1922-28; Professor of English and Dean of Undergraduate Instruction at Duke University 1928-42; President of Wofford since August, 1942.

“WOFFORD DAYS” IN SOUTH CAROLINA METHODISM

In 1861-65 Wofford saw its students melt away to take up arms for the Confederacy of heroic memories. In 1918 it had the same experience in answer to the call of a united country. In both periods some, alas! did not return, but many did come back to take up their college work where they left off. Their college did not close, but was waiting for them.

Now once more their country is calling them, and gallantly they are answering the call, with the result that Wofford is facing, by the loss of two-thirds of its student body, a reduction of at least $30,000 in its income. As before, the Methodist Church in South Carolina is generously coming to its rescue. Each of the two Conferences has appointed “Wofford Day” in all the churches of the State—the South Carolina Conference, Sunday, December 13, the Upper South Carolina Conference, Sunday, January 10. On these days every Methodist will be asked to make a contribution toward keeping unimpaired those enriching educational values that Wofford stands for. They must be preserved even in war time.

Will not you, each Wofford man, share in this on these days? The Wofford men who come back must find their College waiting and ready for them.

HENRY NELSON SNYDER.

THIS YEAR’S STUDENT BODY

Ten states, the District of Columbia, and Cuba, and 41 counties in South Carolina are represented among the 400 students enrolled at Wofford College this year.

South Carolina leads among the states, of course, with 355 students. North Carolina is second, with 15, and Alabama, Pennsylvania, New York, Tennessee, Georgia, Missouri, New Jersey, Florida, the District of Columbia, and Cuba follow in order.

One hundred seventy-six Wofford students are from Spartanburg county. Horry and Union counties are each represented by 13; Laurens by 12; Chester and Lexington by 10; Marion by 9; Cherokee and Florence by 8; Anderson, Chesterfield, Darlington, and Edgefield by 7; Greenville and Greenwood by 6; Marlboro and Sumter by 5; Bamberg, Orangeburg, Richland, and York by 4. The rest are distributed among Aiken, Clarendon, Dillon, Dorchester, Georgetown, Lancaster, Abbeville, Allendale, Barnwell, Calhoun, Charleston, Pickens, Saluda, Williamsburg, Colleton, Fairfield, Hampton, Jasper, Lee, and McCormick.

COACH TED PETOSKEY

Fred Lee ("Ted") Petoskey, All-American end at Michigan and former basketball, baseball, and end football coach at Carolina, became director of physical education at Wofford in September. Coach Petoskey was married six years ago to Julia Deschamps of Columbia. They have two children, Julia Amelia, age four, and Fred Lee, Jr., who will be one year old Jan. 5, his father's birthday.

During his short three months at Wofford, Coach Petoskey has made himself a part of the life of the College, and has achieved wide popularity among faculty and students alike.

Football and Physical Training

Though Coach Petoskey has had to be

... "the cook and the captain bold
And the mate of the Nancy brig,
The bosun tite and the midshipmite
And the crew of the captain's gig," in other words, the whole coaching and physical training staff (with some student assistants), he has nevertheless welded together a hard-charging, hard-tackling, and precise-blocking football team. Dogged by injuries and lack of reserves at the first of the season, Wofford lost in succession to Catawba, Newberry, and Presbyterian College. Wofford came back strong, however, to lace a favored Randolph-Macon twenty to nothing, then scored against Presbyterian in a hard-fought return match that was much closer than the score indicates (we were on P. C.'s three-yard line at the end of the game), and in a game against a Fort Benning team, won handily forty-five to seven. The Newberry game on Thanksgiving saw Wofford defeated twenty-one to twelve in a spectacular game.

All students not in the R. O. T. C. are undergoing a rigorous physical training program consisting of setting-up exercises, rope climbing, and intra-mural sports. Coach Petoskey believes in working his men hard, so that they will be physically tough when they enter the armed services. "Both in physical training classes and on the athletic field, we are trying to develop stamina, courage, and resourcefulness," Coach Petoskey says.

DEAN NORTON

On September 1st, Dr. C. C. Norton, for seventeen years professor of sociology and political science at Wofford, became Dean, succeeding Captain LeRoy Cox, '23, who is serving with the armed forces. Dr. Norton's previous experience as dean in another institution, his varied talents as speaker, his unfailing good humor, and his genuine sympathy for the student's viewpoint make him a wise choice for the difficult task for which he has been chosen.

Dean Norton continues in his post as professor of sociology and political science.

WOFFORD TEACHERS IN SERVICE

LeRoy Cox, '24, is a captain in the Army Air Corps. Dr. W. A. Stanbury, English professor on leave, is a lieutenant in the U. S. Navy. Dr. J. C. Loftin, chemistry professor on leave, is a lieutenant in the Army.

DR. ADER IN ARIZONA

Dr. O. B. Ader is now teaching at the university in Tucson, Arizona, where he went for his health. He writes that he is improving and sends a check to help defray the expenses of such alumni services as the College News Letter.

NEW CHEMISTRY INSTRUCTOR

Mr. J. W. Boozer, of Columbia, S. C., has been added to the science faculty to replace Dr. J. C. Loftin, who is a lieutenant in the U. S. Army.

DEBATING AT WOFFORD

After a very successful debating season last year, when Wofford won a majority of its debates, the debating squad, under the direction of Dr. C. F. Nesbitt, has begun this year with the hope of continued achievement in spite of the difficulties we face in this war period. Along with other schools, we share the current interest in tournament competition in debating, oratory, and the speech activities generally. Our opportunities for such competition this year will be sharply curtailed because of the difficulties of transportation. However, interest has increased rather than decreased.

There are several prominent freshmen, among them one of last year's high school debate champions. And several upper classmen with previous experience are continuing their interest.

The Dixie Forensic Tourney, sponsored annually by Winthrop College, was held this year in Charlotte, December 2-5. Wofford was represented by two debate teams, an orator, and the director, Dr. Nesbitt. The student speakers included Ed Sims of Orangeburg, Fletcher Padget of Saluda, James Halford of Johnston, and James Walker of Johnston.

Last year Fletcher Padget won the State Oratorical contest. Professor Bourne is the faculty adviser in charge of the annual Wofford oratorical contest. Dr. Nesbitt is director of debating.

STUDENT PUBLICATIONS

The 1942 Wofford College Bohemian, edited by George B. Beach of Greenwood, with John W. Ballenger of Spartanburg as business manager, was recently awarded "All-American" rating, the highest honor obtainable for college yearbooks in this country. This is the second consecutive year that the Bohemian has been so honored, the 1941 book, edited by James Allen Knight, with R. D. Guilds, Jr., as business manager, having received the same award. Dan Carmichael is editor and Rembert Burgess is business manager of the Bohemian this year. Professor W. R. Bourne is faculty adviser.

At the recent South Carolina Intercollegiate Press Convention the Old Gold and Black, campus newspaper, received first prize for an editorial by Guy Wilkes, entitled "Our Task." This was one of only three prizes awarded for individual contributions to newspapers. Last year Emmet Walsh also won a first prize for his feature story on the installation of the Phi Beta Kappa chapter at Wofford. R. O. Purdy, Jr., is editor and J. C. Shealy is business manager of this year's Old Gold and Black. Professor J. L. Salmon is faculty adviser.

At the same press convention the Journal, literary magazine of the college, won three out of nine first places for individual contributions, to lead all other magazines in the state. This makes the fourth year in a row that the Journal has won three first places — in three of the four years it led all other magazines. Sheldon Dannelly was editor in 1938-39 when first places were won by Owens Wood (two firsts) and Virgil Ward. Owens Wood was editor in 1939-40 when first places were won by John Thomason, George Beach, and Owens Wood. Bernard Cannon was editor in 1940-41 when first places were won by Bernard Cannon (two firsts) and John Thomason. John Thomason was editor in 1941-42 when first places were won by Henry Cecil, George Beach, and John Thomason. George Whitaker is editor and Jimmy Crawford is business manager of this year's Journal. Professor Coates is faculty adviser.

Dr. LeGrand Tennis has been elected secretary of the Student Publications Board to succeed Dr. Stanbury.

WOFFORD COLLEGE LYCEUM

Professor Raymond Bourne, '23, is chairman of the Lyceum committee this year. As it did last year, Wofford is cooperating with Converse College in bringing two outstanding speakers to Spartanburg. Because of the uncertainties incident to the war, no announcement has yet been made concerning the programs, but the committees of the two schools hope to be able to present speakers who will rank with the important men who have appeared on the Wofford lecture platform in past years.

LIKE FATHER, LIKE SON

C. W. Lever, '46, is occupying the same room (324 Carlisle), has the same gold watch, the same Bible, and has his room arranged in the same way his father's was arranged in 1917. His father: the Rev. Waldo Lever of the Upper S. C. Conference.

DR. SNYDER'S OFFICE

Mr. Charlie Hammond, '91, recently re-carpeted and furnished with settee and chairs, Dr. Snyder's new office. In presenting Dr. Snyder with a receipted bill, Mr. Hammond recalled that he still had an English theme that Dr. Snyder praised fifty-one years ago.

CIVILIAN PILOT TRAINING

The Civilian Pilots (they're actually in the Army) are now living on the first floor of Carlisle hall, regular students having all moved to the second and third floors.

BROTHERS AT WOFFORD

This year there are three brothers at Wofford for the first time in many years. They are Dan, David, and Wilson Carmichael of Mullins. Incidentally, their father and two of his brothers also attended Wofford in the early twenties and a little earlier. Lt. E. L. Culler of Orangeburg, now assistant P. M. S. & T. at his Alma Mater, was here in the late twenties with two of his brothers. So far as we know, no other three brothers attended Wofford at the same time. Lt. Culler's father and grandfather also attended Wofford.

GEOLOGY MUSEUM

Six thousand rock and mineral specimens, one hundred Indian relics — some of them very rare, collections of fossils, and an assortment of Philippine weapons of an earlier day have been arranged and placed on display on the second floor of the science building. A. L. White, '42, worked for nearly two years, most of the time without pay, to get the collection in order.

WOFFORD IN WORLD WAR I

Four hundred and twenty-five alumni saw service in World War I. Approximately half of these were commissioned officers. Twenty-eight college classes (from 1882 to 1921) were represented. Every class from 1896 to 1921 except classes 1898 and 1903 was represented. So far in this war, thirty-three classes are represented, stretching from 1897 to 1945. Every class since 1911, except classes '16, and '18, is represented.

WORLD WAR I CANNON FOR SCRAP

The old German cannon that stood for more than twenty years near the R. O. T. C. building has been given to the local office of Civilian Defense to be sold for scrap.

FLAG RAISING

A detail of four students raises and lowers Old Glory each morning and evening from the flagpole in front of the Main building, two of the students standing at attention during the ceremony.

BROTHERS IN UNIFORM

Three sets of four brothers, five sets of three brothers, and thirty-two sets of two brothers — all of them former students at Wofford — are in the armed services.

The "quadruplets" are the Cecils from Spartanburg, the Fosters from Spartanburg (a fifth Foster is in the Naval Air Corps Reserve), and the Owingses, whose father belongs to the Upper South Carolina Conference.

The "triplets" are the Rushtons (captains all) from Johnston, the Griffins from Pinewood, the Kinards from Spartanburg, the Hardins from Chester, and the Latimers from Honea Path.

All except twelve of the eighty-eight brothers were commissioned officers when this was written.

DOCTORS IN THE SERVICES

At least twenty alumni are doctors or dentists in the armed forces. Twenty-two hold reserve commissions and are now in dental or medical schools. And another thirty-two Wofford students are now taking pre-medical work.

DECORATIONS

"The Light of Noble Deeds Unquenchable Forever"

Major Joseph Harold Moore, class of '37 and star football end, received the Distinguished Service Cross in December, 1941, and the Distinguished Flying Cross in September, 1942, for action against the Japanese in the Philippines. Major Moore was in Spartanburg recently on a furlough, but is now back in action.

Lt.-Col. John Beverly Montgomery has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross for his part in the mass flight of bombers from America to England, from England to Russia, and from Russia back to America in July, 1941.

Lt. Henry P. Elias, class of '41, has been cited for the Silver Star award for bravery and skill in action against the Japanese in China.

Lt. D. W. McCravy, Jr., was cited and promoted for bravery in North Africa recently.

WOFFORD ALUMNI IN THE ARMED SERVICES

The following list of men in the service is, we are fully aware, very incomplete. Many men listed as privates are, no doubt, commissioned officers by now. Many others have much higher ranks than those listed, since much of the information is not recent. More important, there are certainly a great many of you in the armed forces of the country who are not on the list.

Will you not, therefore, send us your name, rank, branch of service, mailing address, and college class if your name has been omitted? Also, if you know of anyone else who should be included in the list, won't you drop us a card? We are particularly anxious that as many men as possible receive the periodic letter that we are writing to those in uniform. We have no other means of securing your correct address unless you or your friends send it to us.

Incidentally, the second News Letter is being combined this time with this annual Christmas Bulletin of the College. If you are in uniform and would like a copy of the first News Letter, let us know, and we'll send you one.

The "g" after the class numeral indicates that the alumnus is a graduate of Wofford.

If we add to this list the men who are in the various reserve units subject to immediate call and those in the advanced unit of the R. O. T. C., there are about 800 Wofford men in the services.
