COURSE OF INSTRUCTION.

The course of instruction is distributed into separate schools, and these are adapted to two elective Courses of Study, to each of which is attached a corresponding degree. This system gives to the student greater freedom in the choice of studies and to the teacher a larger discretion in classifying his pupils. Upon satisfactorily completing the course of study in any school, the student will receive a diploma signed by the Professor of that school and the President of the College.

IX.—INTRODUCTORY CLASSES.

PROFESSOR GAMEWELL.

The young men belonging to these classes are regarded as college students, and are amenable to all college rules. A candidate is required to be at least twelve years of age (the average age this year is nineteen), and to have some acquaintance with English Grammar and Arithmetic. The aim of the course of instruction is to fit students for the Junior Class in the schools of Mathematics, Latin, Greek, and English, and to meet the wants of students who are behind in one or two studies.

SUB-INTRODUCTORY CLASS.—Mathematics. Three recitations a week. Thomson's Algebra. Latin. Four recitations a week. Allen and Greenough's Grammar; Jones' First Lessons in Latin. Greek. Three recitations a week. Goodwin's Grammar; White's First Lessons in Greek.

INTRODUCTORY CLASS.—Mathematics. Seven recitations a week. Robinson's Arithmetic; Thomson's Algebra. English. Three recitations a week. Reed and Kellogg's Higher Lessons in English; History; Map-Drawing; Written Spelling. Latin. Four recitations a week. Allen and Greenough's Grammar; Cæsar (Chase and Stuart's Series); Exercises. Greek. Four recitations a week. Goodwin's Grammar; Xenophon's Anabasis (Goodwin and White); Exercises.

NOTE.—In the Greek, Latin, and English Exercises, special attention is given to Spelling and Penmanship.

ORGANIZATION OF CLASSES.

TIME OF ENTRANCE.

Special attention is invited to the following paragraph:

The Faculty would impress upon Parents and Guardians, the fact that the classes are organized on the first day of October, and that a student must be present at this time, in order to derive the full benefits of the course of instruction. Students who enter late, labor under great disadvantages. Very few young men can do satisfactory work in a class that is one or two months in advance of them. It is often the case that they soon find themselves hopelessly behind their class and are compelled to give up the study.

DEGREES AND HONORS.

1. Certificates of distinction will be awarded to undergraduates for distinguished proficiency in any study.
2. Diplomas will be given to students who graduate in separate Schools.
3. For the Degree of Bachelor of Science (B. Sc.), distinguished graduation in the Schools of Chemistry and Geology, Natural Philosophy and Astronomy, Mathematics; graduation in the Schools of English Literature, Modern Languages and Moral Philosophy and Metaphysics; proficiency in Intermediate Latin, (Essay or Oration.)
4. For the Degree of Bachelor of Arts, (A. B.) Graduation in the Schools of Latin, Greek, Mathematics, English Literature, Moral Philosophy and Metaphysics, and Natural Philosophy and Astronomy; proficiency in the School of Chemistry and Geology, (Essay or Oration.)
5. The Degree of Master of Arts, (A. M.) will be conferred upon any Bachelor of Arts (A. B.) graduate who shall have passed a satisfactory examination on a post-graduate course of study, prescribed by the professors, in any two Schools which the student may elect.

EXAMINATION.

The examinations are chiefly written. There are two examinations during the year—one at the end of the half session in February, the other in June. These examinations are meant to be strict and thorough, and students who fail to pass them satisfactorily, are required either to take the same class again, or are conditioned in the departments in which they are deficient.

REPORTS.

Four reports of the scholarship and deportment of each student are sent during the session to the parent or guardian, the fourth report giving the average of recitations and examinations for the whole year.

LITERARY SOCIETIES.

Connected with the College are two Literary Societies, the Calhoun and Preston, who have well furnished halls, with valuable and increasing libraries. Great interest is manifested by the students in these societies, and they are regarded by the Faculty as an indispensable part of the College machinery. They hold weekly meetings, celebrate their anniversaries in November of each year, and alternately elect one of their honorary members to make the Annual Address on Tuesday of Commencement Week. The Legare Society has been organized for the benefit of the students of the Introductory Classes.

LIBRARIES.

There are three Libraries—one belonging to the College, and two to the Literary Societies—containing about 6,000 volumes. These Libraries are conveniently arranged, and are open under proper restrictions, to all the students. Prof. David Duncan a short time before his death bequeathed his very rare and valuable classical library to the College.

LOCATION.

Wofford College is located at Spartanburg, S. C., a quiet, pleasant, and healthy town, celebrated for the high moral tone of its society. The climate is of almost unsurpassed healthfulness, cases of serious sickness being very rare. Situated near the mountains, having fine scenery, pure air and good water. Spartanburg is a good summer resort for those living in malarious districts. The abundance of the surrounding country renders boarding comparatively cheap.

ROUTES.

Spartanburg can be reached by the following railroads, over which daily mail trains pass: The Spartanburg, Union and Columbia Railroad, the Atlanta and Charlotte Air Line Railroad, and the Asheville and Spartanburg Railroad, now completed to the mountains. The advantages of telegraph lines are enjoyed by students wishing speedy communication with their homes.

EXPENSES.

The necessary expenses of a student of Wofford College are as follows:

Tuition Fee, per year, payable in October and February.....	$60 00
Contingent Fee, payable in Advance	6 00
Chemical Fee (only in Junior year), Payable in Advance.....	4 00
Laboratory Fee (for B. Sc. students only), payable in Advance...	5 00

MESS HALL.

Although the College is conducted on the non-resident system, yet a few students are permitted to occupy rooms in the College building and to take their meals in a room fitted up for this purpose. This arrangement has worked well and has enabled students to board at a very low rate—seven dollars a month.

PRIVILEGED STUDENTS.

All students preparing for the ministry, as well as the sons of itinerant ministers of the South Carolina Conference, are exempt from the regular tuition fee, but are required to pay all contingent fees. Candidates for the ministry, other than the sons of itinerant ministers of the South Carolina Conference are required to bring the recommendation of the Quarterly Conference of the Pastoral Charge to which they belong, and to give their notes for the full amount of tuition, to be paid in case they fail to enter upon the work of the ministry.

MEMORANDA.

Wofford College was named for the Rev. Benjamin Wofford, who gave one hundred thousand dollars "for the purpose of establishing and endowing a College for Literary, Classical and Scientific Education, to be located in his native county, Spartanburg, and to be under the control and management of the Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, of his native State, South Carolina." The College was chartered by the Legislature of South Carolina, December 16, 1851. The buildings were completed and transferred to the Board of Trustees January 1, 1855, and consist of a large College edifice, a president's house and houses for four professors.
