Writing Center Closed

---

The Writing Center has closed for the semester and will reopen in February. The room itself will remain open whenever the Sander Teszler Library is open. Happy Holidays!

---

Web Technology Talk - Dr. Joe Derrick

---

Monday, Dr. Joe Derrick will present a talk on 'Web Technology: XML' at 11:00 a.m. in OB 114. Everyone is invited. Dr. Derrick is a candidate for the computer science position.

---

Graduate degrees in science or engineering

---

The Institute of Paper Science & Technology, a research university in partnership with GA Tech, offers multidisciplinary programs focusing on technical areas pertinent to the pulp & paper industry. Each FT student receives a full tuition scholarship and a competitive fellowship. For more info, see www.ipst.edu

---

Stress Reliever in Health Services

---

Drop by Health Services during exam week for some homebaked cookies, hot apple cider, Christmas music and a dose of encouragement mixed in! Wishing you well on exams.

---

Summer Internship with Santee Cooper

---

For information regarding an outstanding summer opportunity in South Carolina--with paid housing and stipend--go to www.santeecooper.com/community/environment/interns.html or contact Prof. Akers at x4261.

---

Holiday Parking

---

If you plan on leaving your car on campus for the Christmas Holidays; please put it in the parking lot behind Marsh Hall. If that lot becomes full, use the Richardson lot. That way we can secure the fences in each lot, helping to protect your vehicle.

Thank you for your help,

Happy Chanukah - From Dr. Bob Moss

---

Happy Chanukah!

Sunday night was the first evening of the Jewish holiday of Chanukah. Your Jewish colleagues, both students and faculty, will be celebrating this holiday for the next eight days. I'd like to share a bit of the holiday, it's traditions and history with you via the miracle of email!

More than 2000 years ago, the land that is now Israel was ruled by the Syrian king Antiochus. Antiochus forbade the Jews to observe the Sabbath or study the Torah, and he erected a statue of Zeus in their sacred temple of Jerusalem. Jews who resisted his decrees were executed.

In 167 B.C. the Jews rose up against Antiochus. After three years of fighting, they drove the Syrians out and reclaimed the temple in Jerusalem. They rekindled the Temple's menorah, a type of candelabra that symbolizes God's Divine Presence. Chanukah is a celebration of that victory, and the re-establishment of the Jews' religion and their Temple.

Chanukah is also popularly named the Festival of Lights after the miracle of the oil needed to light the Temple Menorah. Only one small jug of oil, sufficient for one day, was found when the Temple was reclaimed - but it somehow lasted for eight days.

Therefore Chanukah is celebrated for eight days. Each night special prayers are recited, and lights of a Menorah are lit. One more candle is lit each night. It is customary for children to play a simple game called dreidel, to exchange presents each night, and to eat traditional foods such as potato pancakes called 'latkes', and fried dough called "Sufganyot" [we often substitute donuts!].

Since it follows the Hebrew calendar, Chanukah falls on a different date each year. It usually falls in December, not far from Christmas. Chanukah is one time children are envious of their Jewish friends, as they get to open gifts on each of EIGHT nights!

Happy Holidays!

- Network Outage Scheduled
- Stress Buster!
- Lenti Piano Duo to perform at Wofford
- Windows XP Presentation
- Tickets to "Swing"

---

Network Outage Scheduled

---

There will be a campus network outage on Monday, December 17th, 2001, from 4pm until, approximately, 7am on December 18th (the following morning).

Access to the following network resources will be affected:

- Internet access (this includes all Internet web servers and external e-mail accounts such as HOTMAIL, Yahoo, AOL, ...)
- E-mail messages sent to and from off-campus locations will be undeliverable during this outage. Most e-mail servers (including the Wofford e-mail server) will hold and queue undeliverable e-mail messages for two to three days, but some sites will return undeliverable messages to the sender (i.e. 'bounce the message') much quicker.
- Internet access (for emphasis)

It should not be necessary to change or modify the network configuration of any computers or printers on campus. After the outage is over, web browsers, chat clients, e-mail programs, and all other network applications should behave just like they always did.

If you have any questions about this e-mail, then please call the Information Technology Help Desk at x4357 (H-E-L-P).

Stress Buster!

---

Drop by Health Services for a steaming cup of hot cider, homemade cookies and dose of support and encouragement. Wishing you well on exams.

---

---

This interim on January 17 at 7:00 p.m. in Leonard Auditorium, the Wofford music program will host the Anthony and Marianne Lenti duo, four hands on one piano, in a free concert. The Lentis have been reviewed by the Washington Times as 'scintillating, shimmering,' and they have performed on four continents over the past twenty years. Their three CDs have received Grammy Guide listings and enthusiastic reviews. Don't miss this opportunity to hear a wonderful interim interlude! Contact Prof. Akers for further details: X4261.

---

Windows XP Presentation

---

A representative from Microsoft will make a presentation on Windows XP to the Spartanburg Personal Computer User group on Thursday, December 20, Olin Theatre, 7:00 p.m. Visitors are welcome and admissions is free. For more information call 597-4031

---

Tickets to "Swing"

---

I have two tickets to the musical 'Swing!' at the Peace Center for June 4. I know it's early, but that's how I got such great seats... SECOND row, seats 6&7. Turns out we'll be out of town. So I need to offer the tickets up for sale. They're $55 each. If anyone is interested in them, please give me a call, at x4623.

Thanks.

-Bob Moss
