FAST DAYS.
The 17th of April and the 4th of September are appointed as days of fasting, humiliation, and prayer throughout the bounds of this Conference.

THE COURSE OF STUDY, &c.

"For the first year.—The Holy Bible and the Book of Discipline. In studying the Bible the candidate must consult Watson's Biblical and Theological Dictionary, so as to be able to give a good account of the history of the Bible and its versions, of peculiar Biblical terms, and also of Biblical Biography, Chroology and Geography,—the last named to be studied with special and constant reference to the maps in Watson's Dictionary. As far as opportunity may serve, the marginal translations and references must also be examined and compared; and Coke's, Benson's, or Clarke's Commentary be consulted when practicable, especially on difficult passages, and Wesley's Notes throughout. Dr. A. Clarke's Clavis Biblica may aid both the student and the examiner.

"For the second year.—The Holy Bible and the Discipline, as before; Wesley's Sermons, especially those of a doctrinal character; Fletcher's Portrait of St. Paul; Porteous' Evidence of Christianity; and Watson's Apology for the Bible, (the editions from our own press); and any approved English Grammar.

"For the third year.—The Holy Bible and the Discipline, as before; and Watson's Theological Institutes, to be first read through, and closely studied a second time, throughout, so as to be prepared to pass a satisfactory examination on the Evidences, the Doctrines, the Morals, and the Institutions of Christianity.

"For the fourth year.—A summary review of the preceding studies, with the Defence of our Fathers, and the Original Organization of the Methodist Episcopal Church. Watson's Biblical and Theological Dictionary, under the appropriate heads, for a condensed view of ecclesiastical history, and of the various Christian denominations; together with the Constitutions and latest reports of the Bible, Missionary, Sunday School, and Tract Societies. And any work from our own press on the best mode of forming and conducting Sunday Schools and Bible Classes.

The Committee for examination of candidates for admission into full connection in this Conference, shall always be appointed at the Conference preceding the examination, and shall meet at the place of the next session, at 9 o'clock, A. M., two days previous to the session; of which due notice shall be given to the candidate, whose duty it shall be to attend accordingly.

No candidate neglecting to attend as aforesaid, without good and sufficient reason in the judgment of the Conference, shall be admitted into full connection at that session.

The Committee shall consist of a number not less than the number of districts within the Conference; and not less than one
The work of examination shall be subdivided among the members of the committee at the Conference preceding; and it shall be the duty of each member to attend and take part accordingly; but in case any one be unavoidably prevented, he shall give the earliest notice in his power to the chairman of the committee, who shall therefore, either appoint a substitute to perform that part of the examination, or perform it himself.

The committees of examination for each year, and the work of subdivision, as provided for in the fourth resolution above, shall be published annually in connection with the Minutes.

COMMITTEES OF EXAMINATION.

For the examination of Preachers of the first year,—

W. M. Kennedy is Chairman of the Committee of the first year; N. Talley, of the second; B. English, of the third; and W. M. Wightman, of the fourth.

SPECIAL ALLOWANCES.

The Conference directed that $350 be raised to meet certain necessitous cases for this year. The Presiding Elders and Preachers having charge of Circuits and Stations, are charged with this matter.

CONFERENCE INSTITUTIONS.

The Missionary Society of the South Carolina Conference, auxiliary to the Missionary Society of the M. E. Church.

Officers and Managers.—William Capers, President; Wm. M. Kennedy, 1st Vice-President; S. Dunwody, 2d Vice-President; W. M. Wightman, Secretary; Joseph Holmes, Treasurer; and N. Talley, H. Bass, C. Betts, W. Martin, H. A. C. Walker, Joseph Moore, W. Crook, C. A. Crowell, and B. English, Managers.

The following is the REPORT OF THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

The Board of Managers of the Missionary Society of the South-Carolina Conference congratulate the society and its friends on the recurrence of another anniversary. It is with feelings of no ordinary joy, and of sincerest gratitude to God whose kind providence has peculiarly marked the operations of this department of our work during the past year, that we make mention of its continued prosperity and success. The time has been, when the cultivation of this field of labour was considered an experiment; but nurtured up under the fostering care of the Head of the Church it has attained a maturity and vigour which under the same blessing promise an abundant reward to all our toil. But while we speak of our Missionary operations as forming a distinct department of our work, it should be remembered that it is distinct, rather in its local peculiarities and in the mode of its support, than in any essential difference in those who labor, or those who are instructed. Let it never be forgotten that Methodism and itinerancy have been synonymous from the beginning. One hundred years have rolled around since our apostolic fathers commenced this missionary work. The rich had houses of worship, and ministers, and the word of God. But these were but a small minority even in Christendom. The poor, the multitudes of poor, had neither the book, nor the preacher, nor the Church. And yet the poor had souls which required instruction in the way to heaven; and into the highways and hedges did these missionaries go to compel them to come in, and partake of the grace and mercy of God, through Jesus Christ our Lord.

The Missionary spirit from first to last proceeds upon the principle, that the depravity of the human soul is so entire, that the lost of itself it will never seek after God and holiness—that the lost are to be sought for, and brought back, or they never will be restored. It waits not for the Macedonian cry, come over and help us; nor till the shriek of despair from the verge of eternity is heard in piercing accents, saying, No man cared for my soul; but with a burning love which many waters cannot drown, it rushes forth upon its errand of benevolence, and bids the guilty world a hearty welcome to the mercy seat and all its treasury of grace.

Infinite is the distance at which the missionary spirit stands from the spirit of the world. The latter in the narrow circle of its own selfishness is at a loss to understand the expansive benevolence of the former; and supposes that some sinister design must be concealed under this pretended philanthropy. It is inadequate to the comprehension of those sublime and spiritual views by which the other is actuated, for it looks not to the love of God in the gift of Jesus Christ for the redemption of a ruined world. But before the spirit of the Missionary enterprise there is opened up a glorious future. The boundaries of earth and the limits of time do not circumscribe its view. It regards man, not so much in his relation to things which are temporal as to the things which are eternal. Its eye is fixed upon his moral nature, his principle of immortality, and it looks beyond the circumstances of this world which sin has spoiled, to the illimitable and glorious destinies of that world which has been revealed by grace through the gospel of our blessed Lord. It aims at such a conquest as the sword of the Macedonian won—it asks not the triumphs which conquerors boast—its laurels are not stained with blood—not its exultation and glory gained by the subjugation of empires, and the destruction of the political existence of hostile states.

Born in heaven and baptized with heaven's own spirit, it is all meekness, gentleness and love. It has for its object the destruction of sin, the renovation of man's moral nature, and the freedom of his spirit from the thraldom of Satan. This is its legitimate sphere of action, and beyond this, (into whatever excesses fanaticism may run,) the spirit of the gospel goes not. "My kingdom is not of this world," said our divine Redeemer, and the church in its missionary operations keeps this principle constantly before it. It pretends not to interfere with the relations which the political constitution of the country has established. On the contrary, it is taught to reverence those institutions. Its pity is not excited by imaginary misery as attached to any condition of poverty or servitude, because it knows that these things form no barrier to human happiness and spiritual salvation. It has no purposes to serve by the political elevation or depression of any man or race of men, for its message of mercy is to all, and its wise and Almighty Author has so constituted it as that its benefits are adapted to every conceivable condition of human nature. There are those who destitute of the spirit of piety—and unable to comprehend the noble objects of the Missionary enterprise, and having private and political ends to serve, have from the beginning endeavored to excite suspicion in reference to that part of the Missionary field which in the Providence of God has been particularly placed under the superintendence of this Conference. But we rejoice that every year's experience has more fully proven the error of such suspicions; and that the testimony of those who have the best opportunity of observing the operations of this system is clear and unequivocal in its support. The board take pleasure in submitting to the Society and to the public the following testimony to the faithfulness and purity of their missionaries, and to the excellence and success of the work of God on the missions to the blacks.

The undersigned, planters of St. Helena Parish, immediately interested in the mission of the Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, impressed with a deep sense of the importance of this benevolent cause, do hereby express our gratification at the course pursued during the past year by the Rev. Messrs. Leadbetter and Kirkland, and in view of the same, adopt the following resolutions—

Resolved, That in our opinion the present system of moral and religious instruction pursued by these missionaries among the negroes on our plantations is in the highest degree beneficial to their temporal and spiritual welfare.

Resolved, That we will make every effort in our power to aid these zealous men in the work of religious improvement among our slaves—that we will encourage them to go on imparting the "glad tidings of salvation" to those whose condition, temporal and eternal, is peculiarly entrusted to our care.

The following letter from a well-known, experienced, and influential gentleman of Georgetown District, the Board take pleasure in also submitting.

SAMPIIT, Dec. 18, 1830.

To the Missionary Board of the South-Carolina Conference, Methodist Episcopal Church:

GENTLEMEN,—Being much gratified with the improvement of my negro children who have been catechised once a fortnight by Missionaries from the Methodist Episcopal Church, and being very desirous to have religious service on my plantation every Sunday, that my old people as well as others may conveniently attend, I have erected a decent meeting house for the purpose, and will cheerfully contribute three hundred dollars annually to the Missionary fund, to have preaching every Sunday forenoon, and to have the children catechised in the afternoon.

I solicit the consideration of the Conference, and if compatible with the rules of the society, I beg leave to request an appointment that we have service every Sunday at my plantation on Sampit. I am, with great respect, your obedient servant.

(Signed) FRANCIS WITHERS.

The Board submit as is usual, a brief notice of the various fields of Missionary labor of which this Conference has the oversight.

1. The Savannah, May, and New River Mission has been during the past year under the charge of the Rev. John M. Deas. It includes 9 plantations, has about 20 church members, and 176 children who are orally catechised. This mission is represented as in a prosperous condition.

2. The Beaufort Mission has been served by the Rev. Messrs. Thos. E. Leadbetter and William C. Kirkland. It includes 30 plantations; and has near 200 church members, and 400 children under catechetical instruction, orally as before and in all cases. The Missionaries represent it as in a flourishing condition, which is confirmed by the resolutions above.

3. Pocotaligo Mission. This has been under the care of the Rev. John N. Davis, who reports 9 plantations as served. It contains 38 church members and 211 probationers; and has 167 children catechised. It is represented as in a healthful state.

4. Combahee and Ashepoo Mission. This mission has been served by the Revs. Charles S. Walker and Thomas S. Daniel. It comprehends 9 plantations, with 775 church members, and 300 children catechised. It is also represented as in a prosperous condition.

5. Pon Pon Mission. This Mission has been served by the Rev. Charles Wilson. It numbers but 4 plantations, though these are very large; and includes 368 church members, and 153 children under catechetical instruction. It is likewise flourishing.

6. South Santee Mission has been under the charge of the Rev. John R. Coburn. It numbers 14 plantations, with 255 church members, and 217 probationers, and has 225 children catechised. This mission is likewise in a good condition.

7. North Santee Mission has been under the care of the Rev. William C. Ferrell. It embraces 14 plantations, having 385 church members, with 200 children catechised. This mission is represented as not only in a good condition but improving, and calls for the service of an additional laborer.

8. Cooper River Mission. The Rev. Lewis J. Crum was appointed to this field, but his health having failed early in the year, the Rev. John H. Massey was employed for the remainder of the year. It embraces 18 plantations, with 14 white and 441 colored members, and 225 children catechised. This mission is also improving and needs another missionary.

9. The Wateree Mission was supplied by the Revs. W. A. Gamewell, and Larke O'Neal. It includes 25 plantations, with 40 white and 498 colored members, and 200 children catechised. This Mission has been so enlarged, and the work so prosperous as to require in the opinion of the Board a division and they accordingly recommend such a division, and the establishment of another mission to be called the Rocky Mount Mission.

10. Upper Santee Mission was served by the Revs. Samuel Leard and Sherod Owens. It embraces 27 plantations, with 740 church members, and 70 children catechised. It is represented as in a prosperous condition.

11. The Broad River Mission was under the charge of the Rev. Joseph Holmes. It comprehends 9 plantations, with 56 church members, and 40 children under catechetical instruction. The missionary represents it as in a prosperous state.
12. Black River and Pee Dee Mission was served by the Revs. Leonard Rush and Cornelius McLeod. It comprises 42 plantations, and has 32 white and 1033 colored members, and 1086 children catechised. This mission is very flourishing; and at the request of Mr. Withers, the Board recommend the insituation of a new mission to be called the Santee Mission.

13. Waccamaw Neck Mission has been served by the Rev. William J. Jackson, and Jas. L. Bolin. It embraces 22 plantations, with 4 white and 574 colored members, 525 children catechised. This mission is also represented as flourishing.

14. Catawba Mission to the whites, has been served by the Rev. J. B. Anthony. It has 12 preaching places, and 92 white and 8 colored members. The Board recommend the discontinuance of this mission, and that it be incorporated in the Lincolnton and Kings' Mountain Circuits.

15. The Rock Fish Mission, is also among the whites, and has been under the charge of the Rev. Allen McCorquodale. It has 16 preaching places, with 144 white and 131 colored members. It is reported as prosperous.

The Board recommend the establishment of a mission to the blacks on Cape Fear River, to be called the Cape Fear Mission. Also a mission among the whites between the waters of Little Pee Dee and Waccamaw Rivers, to be called the Fair Bluff Mission. They also recommend the employment of a domestic Missionary for the suburbs of Charleston.

A mission to the whites is also recommended to be established on the Saluda River within the bounds of Anderson District, to be called Upper Saluda Mission.

The Board think it desirable, if practicable, to have a suitable superintendent of the Missionary work, whose whole time might be given to it, both to increase the interest of the public generally in this department, and to secure uniformity in the conduct of the work; who should visit each mission at least twice a year.

Thus, brethren, we have laid before you the field of Missionary labour which is eminently yours. Upon that field the dews of heaven's grace have fallen, and the blessing of Israel's God has rested. Amid the hardships and exposures of that work some of our brethren in former years have sunk and died. Only the year before that which has now just closed, two of our esteemed brethren went down to the grave. Their memory is blessed, and will long be cherished with respect among us. We are called to record with grateful hearts the mercy of the Lord who has kept us alive through this blessed year, to behold our denominational jubilee, and rejoice on the Centenary of Methodism.—We hail with holy exultation the peace and prosperity which prevail throughout our bounds at the present time, and regard this as a harbinger of still greater success in the second century of our history. In this glorious work of evangelization let us still go on, until the whole harvest now white and ready for the sickle shall be gathered into the garner of God.

All which is respectfully submitted.

REPORT ON THE NEW YORK RESOLUTIONS.

The Committee to whom was referred the Temperance Resolutions of the N. Y. Conference, beg leave respectfully to report:

That they have given to the subject the consideration which the time at their command would allow, and which the importance of so grave a subject as a proposal to alter a fundamental law of the church involves. Your Committee yield to none of the many and weighty advocates of the cause of Temperance, in attachment and effort—they deplore the evils to the world which the manufacture and common use of ardent spirits involve and entail; and in all lawful, wise and safe measures, to exterminate from society this evil, they will claim a full share. But at the same time, it cannot be denied that the time in which we live is full of agitation and change. Novel schemes, subversive of old and tried institutions; bold and rapid movements, and an impatience of the existing order of things, these are the prophetic shadows cast by great coming events. Your Committee conceive that there is danger to the church of falling into the same feeling: of cherishing a disposition to innovate and deal in experiment, forgetful of the fact, that whatever is new in Christianity, whether in principle or doctrine, whether in theory or practice, is false: that however experiment may improve and perfect human systems, the Gospel is not, cannot be more than perfect; and at the very beginning, it was the “perfect law of liberty.” To push, therefore, the adventurous spirit of innovation into the first principles of a church constitution, reposing as it does upon the clear warrant of Holy Writ, must be attended with peril. The most urgent necessity must be shown to exist, the defect of existing law must be clearly made out, the scriptural sanction must be manifest, and the severest caution should mark the whole affair, lest innovation becoming the order of the day, and a breach being once made, the black and perilous floods of strife should sweep over the whole church.

Now, your Committee think that the article in the General Rules as it now stands, and as it has stood for nearly half a century, is as good as the proposed substitute. With regard to the difference between a case of necessity, and a case of extreme necessity, of course every one in the end will judge for himself. Let it be a case of actual necessity, and where is the bar in reason or scripture, against the use of spirituous liquors. And, on the other hand, if one is disposed to be dishonest with his own conscience, it will not be difficult to imagine an extreme necessity out of a small inconvenience.

These objections however, in the judgment of your Committee, do not lie against either the rescinding or altering of the 8th section of the 2d chapter of the Book of Discipline. This stands in the relation of a prudential regulation; the “General Rules” are the terms of communion, and we cannot but consider it highly desirable, that any thing in the Discipline which seems to give a licence to the manufacture and trade in ardent spirits should be stricken out.

Your Committee therefore, respectfully recommend for adoption by the Conference, the following Resolutions, viz.

1. Resolved, That this Conference is deeply sensible of the evils to society, and the individual involved, in the use and traffic of ardent spirits, and will never be wanting in a hearty cooperation in all proper efforts to abolish this evil.

2. Resolved, That the fundamental law of the Methodist Episcopal Church, embodied in the General Rules resting upon the firm foundation of scriptural authority, and which prohibits the drinking of spirituous liquors, unless in cases of necessity, is good and sufficient—scripturally clear and properly guarded.

3. Resolved, That inasmuch as the law proposed to be substituted for the existing article, might be as easily evaded, as the present, and moreover as there is some constitutional difficulty in the contemplated mode of reaching the general rules, and we are wholly opposed to the principle of disturbing settled constitutions, and primary fundamental rules of Church discipline, especially in these times of agitation and breaking up—that therefore, we cannot concur with the Resolution of the New York Conference proposing a change in the general rules.

4. Resolved, That while we wish the general rules to remain undisturbed, we heartily concur with the recommendation to the General Conference, which proposes either the rescinding of the 8th chapter of the 2d section of the Book of Discipline; or the amending it as to do away the manufacture of and trade in ardent spirits up to the full extent of our influence.

All which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) C. Betts, Chairman.
