Headlines!

An exhibition of important newspaper stories from the library's collections.

Local newspaper accounts of significant events convey a level of urgency that is lost as history is transformed into textbook narration. This exhibition of pages from the library's collection of newspaper archives includes important days in our national and regional histories.

- Charlotte Tinsley's resignation

Charlotte Tinsley's resignation

Charlotte Tinsley has resigned her position as Treasurer at Wofford, effective immediately. As many of you know, Charlotte has been out on medical leave for the last few weeks. I am happy to be able to inform you that her health has improved significantly and she is feeling well. Nevertheless, she has decided that the time has come for a change of direction in her professional life.

Charlotte has been a dedicated and valuable member of the Wofford community for many years and we deeply appreciate her service to her alma mater. If you have the opportunity, I hope you will join me in wishing her well and thanking her for the service she has rendered here.

David Wood

Expanded Electronic Newspaper coverage
-----

The following message describes additional newspaper coverage available through the Library's InfoTrac databases. To access, begin at the Library's web page under databases. Please contact a librarian if you need more information.

June 11, 2002

GREENVILLE NEWS ADDED TO CUSTOM NEWSPAPERS:

The Greenville News has been added to the Custom Newspapers (InfoTrac) database provided to you by DISCUS. The database name & description that appear on the InfoTrac/Gale menu of databases has been revised to read:

Custom Newspapers: NY Times, Greenville News, Post & Courier
Full-text articles from: New York Times, latest 365 days, and Greenville (SC) News, 1/2002+ . Selected full-text articles from the Post & Courier (Charleston, SC), 1/2001+

The Custom Newspapers database is accessible from your menu of all InfoTrac/Gale databases.

CUSTOM NEWSPAPERS -- AN UPDATE ON CONTENT:

As is the case with most electronic versions of newspapers, there are differences in coverage between the print and electronic versions. Such differences generally occur as well among the various print versions of newspapers delivered/distributed in different localities.

THE GREENVILLE NEWS:

- Coverage begins January 3, 2002.
- Update schedule varies, but it appears that updates are made once or twice a week.
- Coverage generally includes all staff-written news, regional news, business news, sports and feature articles (arts and lifestyle), as well as editorials, letters to the editor and obituaries. A few omissions or gaps were noted, but seemed to be minor.

THE POST & COURIER:

- Coverage begins January 1, 2001.
- Update schedule varies, but it appears that updates are made once or twice a week.
- Note that, sometimes, partial coverage from a specific day's paper is added in one update and additional coverage from that same day's paper is added in a later update.
- Coverage of expected content (i.e., all or most staff-written articles) is currently incomplete and uneven:
- A number of staff-written news, sports, & feature articles are not included.
- Editorials and letters to the editor are not included.
- Obituaries are not included, although often the 'Deaths Summary' that lists the deceased's name & city is included.
- From early April 2002 forward, section letters (A, B, C) are not included with the article page number.

THE NEW YORK TIMES:

- Coverage licensed to DISCUS is the latest 365-days only, a 'rolling' file.
- Update schedule appears to be daily, Monday - Friday only.
- Covers the 'Late' edition (as opposed to the 'National' edition).
