Outside linebacker Chase Corn and fullback J.R. McNair represent Wofford on the 2002 Division I-AA Athletic Directors Association Academic All-Star Team.

Corn, recently accepted to the Medical University of South Carolina, is also one of 10 finalists for a $5,000 postgraduate scholarship through the organization. A Dean's List student, Corn carries a 3.73 grade-point average while majoring in biology.

To be eligible for the team, student-athletes must be in their sophomore year, have a minimum 3.2 GPA, and be a starter or key reserve. Wofford was one of just six schools to have two selections on the 43-member squad.

A senior from Spartanburg, S.C., Corn was a three-year starter. He totaled 58 stops this season, including nine for a loss.

Corn helped anchor a Wofford unit that led the SoCon in run defense (125.9 yards per game), pass defense (144.5 yards per game), and total defense (270.4 yards per game). He had sacks against Maryland and Elon in addition to recording an interception in a win over Chattanooga.

McNair, a Dean's List student majoring in finance, placed third on the Terriers with 707 yards rushing (4.8 per carry) and nine touchdowns.

The junior from Jonesboro, Ga., rushed for a career-high 143 yards in a 39-10 win over East Tennessee State. He came back the next week with 107 yards and two touchdowns against Furman. He earned team Offensive Player of the Week honors after a 93-yard performance with two touchdowns in a 31-24 win versus Western Carolina.

Stasie Earns Southern Conference Postgraduate Scholarship March 19, 2003

SPARTANBURG, SC -- The Southern Conference today announced that Lady Terrier Jenn Stasie has been named the female recipient of the Mike Wood Foundation Graduate Scholarship. She will be recognized at the Southern Conference Honors Dinner on May 27 in Myrtle Beach, S.C. The scholarship is a part of the TIAA-CREF Academic Awards Program.

Stasie is a senior guard in women's basketball at Wofford. She was the sole upperclassman on this past season's Terrier squad. Stasie averaged 9.0 points and 4.6 rebounds per game and ranked second in the league in three-point field goal percentage. With a 3.38 grade point average in economics, Stasie was named to the TIAA-CREF Academic All-Conference team. She is a member of Wofford's Accounting and Finance Club.

The scholarship's male recipient is Southern Conference Player of the Year Troy Wheless of the College of Charleston.

Three Terriers Earn All-SoCon Recognition
April 17, 2003

The Southern Conference announced Thursday that Wofford tennis players Wendy Rohr, Ellen Rogers, and Lee Porter earned All-Conference honors for the 2003 season. Rohr and Rogers were a first team selection in doubles, while Porter was a second team pick in No. 2 singles.

Rohr and Rogers played No. 1 doubles for the women's tennis team this spring. They accumulated an 11-6 overall record on the season, including 6-3 in conference matches.

Porter tallied the best singles record by any Terrier this year. He finished 7-1 in league play and 9-3 overall. While the majority of his matches fell at No. 2 singles, he also marked a perfect 2-0 record when playing in the No. 1 flight.

The honors marked the second for Rohr, a junior from Lawrenceville, Ga., who was a second team All-Conference pick in 2002. They mark the first All-Conference recognition for Rogers, a freshman from Lookout Mountain, Ga.

Porter, a senior from Chapin, S.C., earned his first All-Conference selection.

Wofford Announces 2002-03 Team MVPs

May 6, 2002

The Wofford College athletics department released its list of Most Valuable Players from the 2002-03 school year.

Baseball: Scott Holloway

Holloway has been the Terriers' true iron man behind the plate, catching all but a small handful of innings. He's been productive at the plate, with a .312 batting average - nearly 100 points higher than a year ago. He has also defied the stereotype about a catcher's speed, becoming the Terriers' leadoff hitter of late. His .312 average increases to .343 in SoCon play. He's established himself as a true team leader in just his sophomore year.

Men's Basketball: Mike Lenzly and Lee Nixon

It seems only fitting that these two players share MVP honors. Both came to Wofford in the same season, are left-handed, and play in the backcourt. They both earned All-SoCon honors and are members of the 1,000 career points club. From the point guard position, Lenzly topped the Terriers in scoring, rebounding, and assists, becoming the only player in the SoCon to lead his team in all three categories. He was also the lone SoCon player to rank in the Top 10 in scoring and assists and the Top 20 in rebounding. Nixon placed second in scoring, including 27 points in a win at Virginia Tech. He became known for his clutch shots, including a late 3-pointer to beat Georgia Southern and jumper with 0.2 seconds to play to force overtime in an eventual win at VMI.

Women's Basketball: Ricaye Harris

Harris led her team and ranked third in the SoCon in scoring with 14.6 points per game. Though just a sophomore, she scored 410 points in the season, while making a team-high 79 assists and 60 steals. She was named Southern Conference Player of the Week on Feb. 25 after tallying a career-high 28 points in the Lady Terriers' game against Chattanooga. She scored 26 points and made six assists in Wofford's SoCon Tournament game against Davidson, a feat which landed her on the All-Tournament second team.

Men's Cross Country: Andrè Caldwell

Caldwell is making his second appearance in the role of men's cross country MVP. He consistently recorded Wofford's top times in all competitions and topped the squad at the Southern Conference Championships. His dedication over the last two years has made him a team leader despite the fact that he is only a sophomore.

Women's Cross Country: Emily Smothers

Smothers is probably the best women's cross country athlete to come through Wofford in recent years. She is a hard worker and consistent team leader, and posted the fastest times on the team in every meet last fall. She also competes in track and owns the school record in the women's 3,000 and 5,000 meter runs. She will graduate Phi Beta Kappa. The Most Valuable Player in women's cross country is Emily Smothers.

Football: Jesse McCoy and Heavy Jones

Two seniors share the football MVP, fitting in that they come from each side of the ball. McCoy became Wofford's first 1,000-yard running back in 23 years, while becoming the Terriers' career leader in per carry average. He went over 100 yards in key wins over Georgia Southern and Appalachian State. He defined the big play for the Terrier offense and led the team with 10 touchdowns. On the flip side, Jones topped the Terriers and SoCon in tackles for loss and sacks. He'll graduate as Wofford's career leader in both categories. His presence was instrumental in the Terriers topping the SoCon and placing among the national leaders in run defense, pass defense, and total defense. He was simply dominant.

Men's Golf: Jon Stephenson

Stephenson had a stroke average of just 74.9 this season. He notched a season-low one-under-par performances at the UCF Intercollegiate last fall, and then finished third at the Emerald Coast Collegiate. He led his team in five of the 10 tournaments the team competed in this year, and is now the team MVP for the second year in a row.

Women's Golf: Laura Robinson

Robinson tallied a team-low 81.7 stroke average. She finished in a tie for ninth place at the Coca-Cola Intercollegiate, her top finish of the season. She was 26th at the Southern Conference Championships this spring. Though just a sophomore, she led Wofford in five of the nine tournaments in which the team competed this year.

Men's Soccer: Jared Gandy

Gandy came in last fall as a freshman and made an immediate impact on defense. He played and started in 19 contests. Though a defender, he also scored his first career collegiate goal in the Terriers' match with Winthrop.

Women's Soccer: Katie Menegaz

Menegaz was the Lady Terriers' starting goalkeeper for the fourth season, and executed her job with some amazing saves. She had 117 stops on the season, tying for the most ever by a Wofford goalkeeper in a single season. She was the sole goalkeeper in five of Wofford's six shutouts on the year. She earned Southern Conference Player of the Week honors in October after tallying three wins in which Wofford allowed just two goals. She shut out Western Carolina and held the College of Charleston scoreless into a double overtime en route to earning All-Tournament honors at the Southern Conference Championships.

Men's Tennis: Lee Porter

In his senior season, Porter broke through to lead his team to its highest victory total as a Division I program. He led the team in singles wins with nine, and finished 7-1 in the Southern Conference. He was named second team All-Southern Conference, becoming the first Wofford men's player ever to join the All-SoCon team. His singles wins became deciding factors in key 4-3 wins over Chattanooga and Davidson. He was also named SoCon Player of the Week after the win against Chattanooga.

Women's Tennis: Wendy Rohr

Rohr continued to dominate at No. 1 singles this year, notching a 7-2 league record and earning her second straight first team All-SoCon honors. She also earned her second Player of the Week recognition after going 4-0 to close the regular season. She led her squad to a tie of its strongest record as a Division I team with 11 wins. She was also an All-Conference pick at No. 1 doubles with partner Ellen Rogers.

Men's Track: Katon Bethay (Indoor) and Adrien Borders (Outdoor)

The track team had two outstanding performers this year. During the indoor season, Bethay as a freshman excelled beyond all expectations. He finished second at the Southern Conference Indoor Championships in the shot put event, earning an automatic All-SoCon bid. He continued his strong performances in the outdoor season, seeing meet wins in the shot put and hammer throw and a second place finish in the discus throw in early meets, and finishing in the Top 10 in all three events at the SoCon Championships. He is also a member of the football team. Borders was named Most Outstanding Field Performer at the SoCon Outdoor Track & Field Championships. He became the first ever Wofford athlete to qualify for NCAA Division I post-season competition in any sport when he hit a mark of 49 feet, 2.75 inches in the triple jump during the Chanticleer Classic. He went on to win both the triple jump and the long jump at the SoCon Championships, while finishing in the Top 10 in the 100 and 200 meter dashes. He owns the Wofford records in the triple jump, long jump, and 200 meter dash. He is also a member of the men's basketball team.

Women's Track: Ashley Adamson

This freshman joined the track squad and contributed immediately, excelling in the middle distance events. She finished in the Top 5 in the 800 meter run at the Chanticleer Classic and at the Furman Series Meet. She also owns the school record in the 800 with a time of 2:26.06. She also consistently led Wofford in the event in the indoor track season.

Volleyball: Molly Bushong and Currie Gossett

The volleyball team had two outstanding performers this year. Both players are seniors who will leave their names studded throughout the Wofford record books. Bushong has been a team leader since stepping on the court as a freshman. She has been a four-year starter at setter for Wofford, and has amassed a school-record 4,271 assists in that time. She broke her own record for assists this year with 1,168. She now owns Wofford's three highest single-season assist totals. Gossett now holds the team records in blocks, with 514, and kills, with 1,193. She led the team this season in kill percentage, kills and blocks.

She has been one of the most familiar court presences for Wofford over the last four years, and has now played in a school-record 459 games.

Eleven Wofford Student-Athletes Named Academic All-SoCon
May 12, 2003

The Southern Conference today announced its TIAA-CREF Academic All-Conference teams for spring 2003. Wofford placed 11 student-athletes on the teams, including baseball's Keith Sturkie, Tony Carbone, and David Dufour, track and field's Jonathan Cheek and Emily Smothers, men's tennis's Jason Mengel and Brandon Smith, women's tennis's Candy Gore and Wendy Rohr, and men's golf's Daniel Felder and Jon Stephenson.

This is the first year that the Southern Conference has named an All-Academic Team by season, and only spring sports athletes were eligible for the current award. To be eligible, a student-athlete must have at least a 3.2 cumulative grade point average and have competed in at least one-half of their team's competitions during the spring season.

Wofford had previously placed five student-athletes on Academic All-Conference teams during the winter season.

A commitment in excess of $1 million from a trustee and former Terrier baseball player made it possible for Wofford College to hold a groundbreaking ceremony today for its new on-campus baseball field.

The Wofford Board of Trustees approved the $1.8 million project, which will bear the name of Russell C. King Field. The remainder of the funds is expected to be raised in the next few weeks. The new field will be located at the current baseball facility on campus. A former chairman, King has served on the Wofford Board of Trustees for 22 years.

Russell C. King '56 made it possible for NCAA baseball to return to campus after an eight-year absence. Since beginning Division I play in 1996, Wofford had played its games off-campus at Duncan Park, a former minor league baseball facility. The Terriers' existing baseball field did not meet Division I standards.

"We very much appreciate the generosity of Mr. King in enabling us to have a first-class field on campus," Wofford baseball coach Steve Traylor said. "This will provide our student-athletes with a tremendous baseball experience, and the field will certainly enhance our recruiting efforts.

"Russell C. King Field is for our student body, providing another opportunity for the Wofford community to come together."

The Terriers will begin play at Russell C. King Field next season when they host South Carolina on Feb. 7 in the 2004 opener.

Lights will be installed at Russell C. King Field with the first-ever night game at Wofford slated for Mar. 10 when the Terriers host Clemson at 7 p.m.

"Wofford has been envied and praised for the number of gathering spaces on our campus where students and faculty can interact," Wofford president Dr. Benjamin Dunlap said. "There could be no better springtime addition to that list than a handsome, centrally-located baseball facility -- and that is what Russell C. King and other generous donors are making possible.

"As a sometime Yankee fan, it pains me that no one remembers King Kong Keller. But, as an ardent Terrier supporter, it gives me real satisfaction to know future generations will recognize the name of one of the best power hitters in Wofford's history. Russell King used to launch homers over the railroad tracks and, according to a legendary account for which there are several purported eyewitnesses, one of his shots fell into a coal car and traveled all the way to Arizona -- surely the longest home run on record!

"Russell C. King Field will be as significant an addition to our campus as Russell himself was to Wofford baseball in the 1950s."

King is part of a three generation family at Wofford that also includes an athletic background. His father, Russell Calvin King '29, played baseball and football for the Terriers as did one of his four uncles who attended Wofford. King's son, Russell C. King, III '81, is also a Wofford graduate.

"I've been a long-time advocate of bringing baseball back to campus," King said. "Back in my day, and in the future, a lot of students would come and watch at least part of the game. It was a good atmosphere and a place for students to gather.

"This will be a first-class facility and will have a significant impact on the beauty and activity for that corner of the Wofford campus. This is something I was prepared to do and wanted to do. It will help us attract some quality opponents and we'll be able to have some night games. As a former player, I'm excited about having a new field for our program."

Other components of the new facility include a major gift from Toccoa Switzer and her family for the construction of the seating area, which will have 900 permanent seats located behind home plate. Grass banks behind each dugout will bring total capacity to 2,500. A series of rocking chairs, overlooking the field, will highlight the plaza area.

The Switzer family also has a long relationship with Wofford, spanning four generations. Toccoa Switzer is a former member of the Wofford Board of Trustees. Her late husband, James L. Switzer, Sr. '40, was an alumnus, as are her two sons, James L. Switzer, Jr. '80 and Dr. Paul K. Switzer, III '77. The next generation is about to begin, as Toccoa's granddaughter, Lizzie Switzer '07, is enrolling this fall.

"The Switzers made the first gift on the project," Dunlap said. "Without their generous support, Wofford baseball might have wandered in the alien corn a lot longer than it did.

"Long before 'Field of Dreams' made the thought a by-word, the Switzers were convinced that, if we built it, the springtime crowds would return to Wofford to enjoy an afternoon at the ballpark. Next season will prove how right they were."

The Carolina Panthers will arrive at Wofford College on Friday for the start of their annual summer training camp.

The Panthers, preparing for their ninth National Football League season, have trained at Wofford since their debut campaign in 1995. Panther owner and founder Jerry Richardson is a 1959 Wofford graduate and former All-America wide receiver for the Terriers.

The first practices for the Panthers will be held Saturday at 8:50 a.m. and 3 p.m. The Panthers' camp will run through Aug. 21. Updated practice schedules can be accessed by calling the Spartanburg Convention and Visitors Bureau at (800) 374-TEAM or by visiting www.teamspartanburgsc.org.

The Wofford football team will have a 16-day overlap with the Panthers as the Terrier players report to campus on Aug. 5.
