Bradshaw Nets 18 as Lady Terriers Drop Conference Game to Furman
Jan. 5, 2004

Despite a game-high 18 points from junior guard Brie Bradshaw (Cincinnati, Ohio), the Wofford Lady Terriers suffered a 70-40 defeat to conference rival Furman in the Benjamin Johnson Arena Monday evening. Bradshaw netted double-figures for the first time in five games and for the eighth time this season on 6-of-16 (37.5 pct.) shooting from the field and 6-of-6 from the foul line.

Wofford was unable to maneuver around the stingy Lady Paladin defense. From the opening tip, the Lady Terriers were faced with either a full-court or half-court press and trapping scheme that disrupted much of their offensive opportunities.

On its own offensive end, Furman fed the ball to the low block often, where center Orion Wake took over and finished with a double-double on 12 points and 13 rebounds. Guard Tommi Paris paced the Lady Paladins with 14 points, including an 8-of-8 effort from the charity stripe.

Furman rattled off nine straight points to open the contest before a Nakia Mister (Irmo, S.C.) layup put Wofford on the board at 16:23. The Lady Paladins opened their lead to as much as 17 in the opening session before Wofford brought it within 32-21 at the break.

The second half opened similar to the first with Furman scoring the first 16 points before Bradshaw knocked home a jumper at 14:39. The Lady Paladins continued their pressing defense to put the game away.

Mister finished with eight points, while freshman K.C. Correll (Gastonia, N.C.) registered five points and five rebounds.

With the loss, Wofford drops to 0-13 overall and 0-7 in the Southern Conference. Furman improves to 5-6 and 2-2 in the league.

The Lady Terriers will play their final non-conference game of the season Saturday, Jan. 10 against UNC Asheville. The tip-off is slated for 3 p.m. in the Benjamin Johnson Arena.
Bradshaw scores career-high 27 points as Lady Terriers lose to UNC Asheville
Jan. 10, 2004

Junior guard Brie Bradshaw (Cincinnati, Ohio) set a career high with 27 points on 12-of-19 (63.2 pct.) shooting, but it was not enough as the Wofford Lady Terriers fell in their final non-conference contest of the season, 78-59, to visiting UNC Asheville Saturday afternoon in the Benjamin Johnson Arena.

Bradshaw netted two of her three attempts from behind the 3-point arc and collected four rebounds, all offensively, in 35 minutes of action.

Freshman Jenny Weurding (Cumming, Ga.) garnered her first career start and finished with a game-high 11 rebounds and added nine points on 4-of-7 (57.1 pct.) from the field. She also posted a game-best four blocks, one more than the entire UNC Asheville roster.

Also chipping in for the Lady Terriers was junior guard Ricaye Harris (Muncie, Ind.). Harris finished with 16 points, including a team-best 5-of-9 (55.6 pct.) from the foul line. She also added a career-best eight assists.

After Harris scored the opening points of the game with a 3-pointer at 19:52, the Bulldogs tallied the next seven points to ignite a 16-5 run over the first seven minutes to make the score 16-8 at 13:02 before a Bradshaw 3-pointer closed Wofford back within five with 12:56 to play in the first session. UNC Asheville eventually pushed its lead to 16 before the break.

Following intermission, the Lady Terriers could get as close as 12 after implementing a press. Bradshaw scored 18 of her 27 points in the second half on 8-of-12 (66.7 pct.) shooting.

Wofford drops to 0-14 with the loss, while the Bulldogs improve to 10-3.

The Lady Terriers will step back into Southern Conference action Tuesday night as they travel to Boone, N.C., to face Appalachian State at 7 p.m. Wofford will next play in Benjamin Johnson Arena Saturday, Jan. 17 against Georgia Southern. Tip-off is slated for 5 p.m. against the Lady Eagles.

Lady Terriers hang tough in loss at Appalachian State Tuesday
Jan. 14, 2004

Playing one of their better games of the season, the Wofford Lady Terrier basketball squad fell 78-66 at Appalachian State Tuesday night. The Lady Terriers hung tough with the Mountaineers for much of the game before a 16-4 run put the game out of reach.

Wofford entered halftime down by four, 36-32, anchored by three 3-pointers (3-of-3) from junior guard Ricaye Harris (Muncie, Ind.) and sophomore forward Nakia Mister (Irmo, S.C.) who netted 6-of-6 from the foul line. A free throw from Harris at 7:11 of the half gave the Lady Terriers their largest lead of the game at 24-19.

In the second half, Wofford gained a four-point cushion of 42-38 with 15:56 to play. Following a media timeout at 15:26, Appalachian’s Aisha Bryant scored 11 of the Mountaineers’ next 13 points to ignite the run and give the home team an eight-point advantage, 52-44, at the 12:20 mark. Bryant finished with a game-high 26 points, her fourth straight game in which she has scored at least 26 points.

After freshman guard K.C. Correll (Gastonia, N.C.) made a lay-up to bring Wofford within seven (59-52) with 8:37 on the clock, the Lady Terriers finished the contest by making their last 14 points from the foul line. Wofford concluded the game with a 25-of-29 (86.2 pct.) effort from the charity stripe.

Junior guard Brie Bradshaw (Cincinnati, Ohio) finished with a team-best 21 points, including a 9-of-11 (81.8 pct.) showing from the foul line. Harris and Mister also posted double-figure scoring nights, tallying 17 and 16 points, respectively. Mister converted 8-of-8 from the foul line and collected a team-high eight rebounds, all on the defensive glass.

With the loss, the Lady Terriers will enter Saturday's home game against Georgia Southern with a 0-15 record, including 0-8 in the Southern Conference. The Mountaineers improved to 3-11 overall and 2-5 in the league.

Wofford will host the Lady Eagles Saturday afternoon in the second half of a Terrier basketball doubleheader in the Benjamin Johnson Arena. Following the men's game at 2:30 against Davidson on FOX Sports South, the Lady Terriers and Georgia Southern will tip-off at approximately 5 p.m.
Mister nails 16 in second straight game for Lady Terriers
Jan. 17, 2004

Sophomore forward Nakia Mister (Irmo, S.C.) tallied 16 points in the second straight contest, but it was not enough as Georgia Southern withstood a second half Lady Terrier rally for a 87-64 victory. Mister finished the contest on 5-of-9 from the field and 6-of-8 from the foul line. She also collected a team-high tying five rebounds with freshman Jenny Weurding (Cumming, Ga.).

The Lady Eagles used a first half cushion in which they converted 17-of-28 (60.7 percent) shots to open up an early lead against the Lady Terriers.

Freshman K.C. Correll (Gastonia, N.C.) scored Wofford's first nine points, but by the time she scored the ninth tally, Georgia Southern had opened up a 21-9 advantage with 9:31 remaining in the half. The visitors never looked back in racing to a 44-22 lead at the break.

In the second half, the Lady Terriers found more open looks and used sustained ball pressure to force the Lady Eagles into 28 total turnovers, 14 in each half. Wofford turned the ball over only 13 times in comparison.

It was in the second session in which Mister took control of the low post, scoring 13 of her 16 points. Weurding also became a force after halftime for the Lady Terriers, recording two of her three blocks and scoring all seven of her points, including a 3-of-4 effort from the charity stripe.

Correll finished with 13 points, including a 6-of-6 mark from the foul line.

For Georgia Southern, Kellie Tiller and Shawnica Hill each scored 14 points to pace the Lady Eagles, while Leslie Spoon collected a game-high seven rebounds.

Georgia Southern improves to 8-6, 5-4 in the Southern Conference with the victory, while the Lady Terriers drop to 0-16, 0-9 in the league.

Wofford will continue its three-game homestand Monday evening against the College of Charleston. Tip-off is slated for 5 p.m. and will be the first contest of a Terrier basketball doubleheader.
Lady Terriers mount rally against Cougars Monday night
Jan. 19, 2004

After being down 17-2 just under five minutes into the contest, the Wofford women's basketball team used a miraculous comeback to close within eight at the half before eventually falling, 70-64, to visiting College of Charleston Monday night in the Benjamin Johnson Arena.

A pair of free throws by freshman forward Susanna Paul (Corpus Christi, Texas) were the only points registered by a Lady Terrier in the opening five minutes against a stingy Cougar defense. The College of Charleston eventually pushed its lead to 29-8 at the 10:25 mark for its largest lead of the game.

Using pressure defense and knocking home timely shots, Wofford began its comeback before the half ended. Freshman point guard Mary Jo Yee (Charlotte, N.C.) was 5-of-6 from the field, including 1-of-1 from behind the 3-point arc for 12 points before the break. The Lady Terriers also blocked four Cougar shots, including a swat from behind by sophomore guard LaToya Strong (Baltimore, Md.) on an Erica Nesmith shot with 7:27 to play giving Strong her first career block. At the half, Wofford trimmed the margin to eight, 39-31.

Nesmith scored the first points of the second session pushing the College of Charleston lead back to 10. However, the Lady Terriers did not quit and would slowly chip away at the lead. Junior guard Ricaye Harris (Muncie, Ind.), who was held scoreless in the first half, nailed consecutive 3-pointers to bring the margin to one, 60-59, with 4:34 remaining.

Sophomore forward Nakia Mister (Irmo, S.C.) tied the game by making 1-of-2 free throws before a Jenny Weurding (Cumming, Ga.) jumper from 15 feet gave the hosts their first lead of the game, 62-60, with 2:09 left.

The teams traded turnovers, but it was the Cougars who finished the game with a 10-2 run to close out the victory.

Yee scored a career-high 15 points while Harris added 16 points, all after intermission. Paul also finished with a career high, tallying 10 points on 4-of-6 from the field and 2-of-2 from the charity stripe. Weurding registered a game-high four blocks and added six points and four boards.

Guards Rachel King and Patrice Bryant paced the College of Charleston with 16 and 14 points, respectively. Bryant also finished with a game-high eight rebounds.

With the loss, the Lady Terriers drop to 0-17, 0-10 in the Southern Conference while the Cougars improve to 5-11 overall and 3-7 in the league.

Wofford will conclude its three-game homestand with a 3 p.m. contest Saturday afternoon against East Tennessee State.
Four players score in double figures for Lady Terriers Saturday
Jan. 24, 2004

Led by 21 points from junior guard Brie Bradshaw (Cincinnati, Ohio) and a career-high 16 points from freshman guard Mary Jo Yee (Charlotte, N.C.), the Wofford women’s basketball team had four players register double figure scoring efforts in an 80-65 loss to visiting East Tennessee State Saturday afternoon in Benjamin Johnson Arena.

Bradshaw snapped out of a two-game slump to record her fifth 20+ scoring outing of the season. She connected on 8-of-20 (40.0 percent) from the field and 5-of-8 (62.5 percent) at the foul line.

Yee posted a career-high effort for the second-straight game by making 5-of-11 (45.4 percent) field goals, including 4-of-6 (66.7 percent) from behind the 3-point arc. She also finished the contest with a career-best six assists.

After falling behind early, the Lady Terriers produced a 25-11 run to take a 29-27 lead with 3:30 remaining in the first half. The surge started with a 3-pointer by junior forward Stephanie Ripberger (Ft. Thomas, Ky.) at 12:15 and lasted until Bradshaw connected on 1-of-2 from the charity stripe.

The Lady Bucs led by six at the break, 37-31, and maintained a single-digit lead throughout the early minutes of the second half. Senior forward Lauren Trantham gave East Tennessee State its first double-figure lead at 4:32 since the Lady Terriers started their first half run.

Guard B.J. Banjo recorded the last three points for the visitors, all from the foul line, to close the scoring and tie her career-high with 17 points. Lady Buc center Tiffani Mayes finished with 21 points and a game-high 15 points for ETSU, her fourth double-double of the year.

Junior guard Ricaye Harris (Muncie, Ind.) and sophomore forward Nakia Mister (Irmo, S.C.) also tallied double figures for the Lady Terriers, as each scored 10 points. Mister just missed a double-double of her own with nine rebounds.

With the loss, Wofford drops to 0-18 overall and 0-11 in the Southern Conference. The Lady Bucs improve to 8-8, 8-3 in the league.

The Lady Terriers will next play at league-leading Chattanooga Monday night before returning home next Saturday against Elon in a Terrier basketball doubleheader.
Lady Terrier contest versus Chattanooga rescheduled
Jan. 27, 2004

The Wofford - Chattanooga women's basketball game originally slated for Monday evening has been rescheduled for Feb. 11 at 7 p.m.

The recent ice storm and inclement weather in the Upstate prevented the Lady Terriers from leaving Spartanburg Sunday night on their trip to play the league-leading Lady Mocs.

Wofford will resume its schedule Saturday at 5 p.m. against Elon in the first half of a Terrier basketball doubleheader against the Phoenix.
Bradshaw nets 21 again as Lady Terriers fall to Elon
Jan. 31, 2004

Junior guard Brie Bradshaw (Cincinnati, Ohio) scored 21 points for the second straight game and tallied over 20 for the sixth time this season but it was not enough as the Wofford Lady Terriers dropped an 82-67 decision to Elon this afternoon in Benjamin Johnson Arena.

Bradshaw nailed 9-of-17 shots from the field and was 2-of-2 from the foul line in a game-high 38 minutes against the Phoenix.

After finding itself down 10-4, Wofford used a 14-7 spurt to take a 18-17 lead with 13:53 remaining in the first half on a Ricaye Harris (Muncie, Ind.) 3-pointer. A 3-point play by K.C. Correll (Gastonia, N.C.) would push the Lady Terrier lead to its largest margin, 24-19, with 12:46 to go before the break.

The game remained tight as Correll converted a layup to knot the score at 28-28 heading into the final eight minutes of the half. Elon closed the first session with a 18-10 run to lead 46-38 as the teams headed to the lockerrooms.

In the second half, Wofford again chipped at the Phoenix lead and cut it to five on a pair of Bradshaw free throws with 6:55 to play. The margin would be the closest the Lady Terriers would get the rest of the way as Elon pulled away for the victory.

Correll finished with 15 points, including 7-of-14 from the charity stripe, and Harris added 11.

Freshman Jenny Weurding (Cumming, Ga.) came off the bench and provided three blocks to raise her season total to 41. She needs just two more to earn a spot in the top 10 career listing at Wofford and is 18 shy of tying the single-season record.

With the loss, the Lady Terriers drop to 0-19, 0-11 in the Southern Conference. Elon improves to 11-8, 7-5 in the league.

Wofford will next play at Furman Tuesday evening at 7 p.m. The Phoenix also are in action again Tuesday night as they take on UNC Greensboro in Greensboro at 7 p.m.
Wofford women's basketball knocked off by Furman Tuesday
Feb. 3, 2004

Despite a 26-point outing from junior guard Brie Bradshaw (Cincinnati, Ohio), the Wofford Lady Terrier basketball team fell 78-46 at Furman Tuesday evening in a matchup of Southern Conference rivals. Bradshaw tallied the first 15 points for Wofford en route to falling just a point behind her career-best effort.

She also was nailing shots from long range, making 6-of-11 (54.5 percent) from behind the 3-point arc, including making her first three attempts. The six makes ties Ricaye Harris (Muncie, Ind.) for the season's best and is one shy of tying the school record for most in a single game.

Bradshaw converted a lay up to bring the Lady Terriers within three, 18-15, with 8:47 to go in the first half. Furman then turned on its offensive juices and used a 19-5 to close the half and lead 37-20 at the break.

The Lady Paladins would then score the first six points of the second session to push their lead to 23 before K.C. Correll (Gastonia, N.C.) stole the ball and raced the length of the court for a lay up.

Wofford would chip away at the lead and bring it to an 18-point edge on two separate occasions, the last coming on another Bradshaw triple with 9:13 remaining at 59-41. However, once again, Furman outscored the Lady Terriers down the stretch and were sparked by another 19-5 run to close the game.

In addition to leading the team in scoring, Bradshaw tied for the team lead with three steals and her five rebounds were one shy of the six collected by Nakia Mister (Irmo, S.C.). Sixteen of the remaining 20 Wofford points came from bench players, including six, all on 3-pointers, from Stephanie Ripberger (Ft. Thomas, Ky.).

Furman was led by four players in double figures, including preseason all-league performer Deshara Shealey's 16 and fellow guard Tommi Paris' 14.

With the loss, Wofford drops to 0-20, 0-13 in the SoCon, while Furman improves to 13-8 overall and 10-4 in the league.

The Lady Terriers return to the court in Benjamin Johnson Arena at 5 p.m. Monday against Appalachian State in the first half of a Wofford basketball doubleheader. The Lady Paladins will next play Saturday afternoon against the same Mountaineers of Appalachian State.
Lady Terriers fall to Appalachian State Monday
Feb. 9, 2004

The Wofford women's basketball team fell, 65-48, to visiting Appalachian State Monday night in the Benjamin Johnson Arena.

The Lady Terriers held an early 7-3 lead on a free throw by Nakia Mister (Irmo, S.C.) before the Mountaineers went on a 10-5 run over the next 6:05 before LaToya Strong (Baltimore, Md.) connected on a 3-pointer to give Wofford the lead back at 15-13 with 7:37 to play in the first half. As the clock ticked off in the first half, Appalachian applied a full-court pressure and closed the half on a 13-2 run to take a 26-17 lead into the break.

Ricaye Harris (Muncie, Ind.) nailed a trey to open the second half to bring the Lady Terriers within six, 26-20, at 19:26. The six points were as close as Wofford would get the rest of the game, as the Mountaineers continued to pressure the ball and eventually built a 20-point cushion at 60-40 with 3:31 remaining on a Lindsay Smith 3-pointer. Freshman Crystal Barriner scored 12 of her game-high 21 points after the intermission, knocking down 8-of-11 shots for the game, including 2-of-3 from 3-point land.

Mister paced the Lady Terriers with 13 points, including 5-of-6 from the charity stripe. She also collected four rebounds and tallied four steals in a team-high 31 minutes. Freshman Susanna Paul (Corpus Christi, Texas) grabbed a career-high seven rebounds, including six defensively.

Junior guard Brie Bradshaw (Cincinnati, Ohio) did not start the contest, her first non-start of the season, and finished with nine points. Freshman Jenny Weurding (Cumming, Ga.) registered five blocks to raise her season total to 48. She has moved into a three-way tie for eighth all-time in the Lady Terrier record books and stands 11 shy of tying the single-season mark.

With the loss, Wofford drops to 0-21 overall and 0-14 in the Southern Conference. Appalachian State improves to 5-16 and 4-10 in the league.

The Lady Terriers will next play at the top team in the conference, Chattanooga, Wednesday at 7 p.m. The Mountaineers continue their season also Wednesday evening as they return home to Boone, N.C., to face Western Carolina.

Freshman Mary Jo Yee, making her first career start, hit four 3-pointers to equal a career-high with 16 points before Georgia Southern rallied from an eight-point first-half deficit for a 69-38 victory this afternoon in Statesboro, Ga.

The Terriers led 14-6 when freshman K.C. Correll scored on a layup with 13:15 to play in the first half. It capped a 7-0 Wofford run.

The Eagles (11-12, 7-10) rebounded and took the lead for good at 19-18 on a Nicole Newton free-throw with 4:21 to play before the intermission.

The Terriers (0-23, 0-16) trailed 29-21 at the half.

Jenny Weurding, one of six rookies on this year's Wofford roster, scored 10 points for her second straight game in double figures. She also grabbed a team-high five rebounds.

Wofford continues on the road Monday with a 7 p.m. game at College of Charleston.

The official mascot of NCAA basketball, J.J. Jumper, to perform at Wofford
Feb. 19, 2004

Wofford sports marketing is pleased to announce that J.J. Jumper, the official mascot of NCAA basketball, will be performing at the February 23 basketball doubleheader in the Benjamin Johnson Arena.

Game one of the doubleheader begins at 5:00 p.m. as the women's basketball team faces Western Carolina and the evening concludes with the men's squad in action against The Citadel. It marks the home finale for the Wofford men and the next-to-last home game for the women.

J.J. Jumper has performed around the country and Wofford will mark his next-to-last regular-season stop on a tour that takes him to 111 sites in 2003-04.

"We are fortunate to have J.J. performing at our final men's home game. J.J. has a very interactive routine that our fans should really enjoy. This performance will add another element to our usual full slate of basketball season promotions," said Wofford sports marketing director Lenny Mathis.

J.J. Jumper’s purpose is to increase enthusiasm and awareness of NCAA basketball, while engaging and educating youth on healthy physical, emotional and educational values. J.J.’s mission is to represent both genders and all races. J.J. Jumper is an attention getting 6-5 green creature with orange hair, size 26 shoes and a big heart that motivates youth to do their best on and off the court. J.J. appears at men's and women's basketball games, giving away NCAA basketball promotional items and performing skits during timeouts and/or halftime.

J.J. Jumper was created in 1999, in part to help member institutions reach their younger fans. During the past three seasons, J.J. Jumper has made more than 275 visits at member institutions, appearing at almost 600 men's and women's basketball games. J.J. performs at men's and women's basketball regular-season games in all three divisions, conference tournaments and all NCAA basketball championships.

For tickets to the game, call the Wofford athletic ticket office at (864) 597-4090.

For more information on J.J. Jumper, please visit NCAA kids at www.ncaasports.com.

Weurding breaks record as Lady Terriers fall to Davidson Saturday
Feb. 21, 2004

Freshman center Jenny Weurding (Cumming, Ga.) established a new Wofford single-season block record, but it was not enough as the Lady Terriers dropped a 65-51 decision to visiting Davidson Saturday afternoon in the Benjamin Johnson Arena. Weurding finished the game with four blocks to raise her season total to 60, one higher than the previous school mark of 59 set by Phoebe Clark during the 2001-02 season.

Weurding was one of four freshmen to start the contest for Wofford for the second-straight game. She finished with six rebounds, four points and an assist in 28 minutes. Fellow rookie Susanna Paul (Corpus Christi, Texas) matched Weurding with six rebounds and four points.

Junior guard Brie Bradshaw (Cincinnati, Ohio) broke out of a two-game slide to lead Wofford with 14 points while sophomore forward Nakia Mister (Irmo, S.C.) also reached double figures for the Lady Terriers with 12 points and a team-leading seven rebounds.

Ashley Hallsted paced the Wildcats with 17 points on 7-of-11 shooting and passed the 1,000-point mark in her career. Davidson also received a 16-point outing from Katie Hamilton.

Wofford kept the game close, at 22-21 with 8:41 remaining in the first half before the Wildcats pulled away with a 15-5 spurt to take the teams into the locker rooms at 37-26. Davidson would push its lead to as high as 24 on a Meghan Bryant lay up with 5:25 remaining but not before the Lady Terriers clawed their way back into the game and closed the contest on a 13-3 run.

With the loss, Wofford drops to 0-25 overall and 0-18 in the Southern Conference. The Wildcats raise their record to 15-11, 12-7 in the league.

The Lady Terriers will next face Western Carolina Monday at 5 p.m. in Benjamin Johnson Arena in the first half of a Terrier basketball doubleheader. Davidson will close its regular-season with a 7 p.m. contest Thursday at Furman.
Women's basketball loses to Western Carolina Monday
Feb. 23, 2004

The Wofford women's basketball team dropped a 78-59 decision to visiting Western Carolina Monday night in the Benjamin Johnson Arena.

The Lady Terriers led most of the first half with their largest margin at six, 25-19, with 6:05 remaining before halftime. However, the Catamounts would outscore Wofford 15-4 to close the half and take a 34-29 lead into the break.

Wofford came out of the locker room with a 4-0 run on back-to-back lay ups by Susanna Paul (Corpus Christi, Texas) to close the gap to one point. Western Carolina then put the game away for good with a 17-0 spurt over 4:49 on the clock before Jenny Weurding (Cumming, Ga.) converted a lay up for the hosts at 13:53.

LaToya Strong (Baltimore, Md.) knocked home a 3-pointer with 8:56 left to bring the Lady Terriers within 10 but Western scored seven straight points to increase its lead to 17 with 4:31 to go. The Catamounts kept Wofford from trimming the margin any closer than 14 the remainder of the contest.

Brie Bradshaw (Cincinnati, Ohio) paced the Lady Terriers with 14 points, her second straight outing with that tally, while Stephanie Ripberger (Ft. Thomas, Ky.) notched 10, including a 2-of-2 effort from behind the 3-point arc.

Four Catamounts reached double figures, led by Jennifer Gardner's 18 and Tiffany Hamm's 17. Gardner also collected 11 rebounds for a double-double in 21 minutes.

With the loss, Wofford drops to 0-26, 0-18 in the Southern Conference. Western Carolina improves to 11-15, 10-9 in the league.

The Lady Terriers will conclude their regular-season with a 7 p.m. game Friday versus UNC Greensboro in the Benjamin Johnson Arena. The Catamounts close their regular-season at home against Appalachian State Saturday at 4 p.m.
Weather causes final women's basketball game to be delayed
Feb. 27, 2004

Due to the recent winter storm that came through the Carolinas the last couple days, the Wofford - UNC Greensboro women's basketball contest has been postponed one day.

The game was originally slated for Fri., Feb. 27 at 7 p.m. However, the two teams will now meet tomorrow, Sat., Feb. 28 at 2 p.m.

It marks the last regular-season contest for both schools as they prepare for the Southern Conference Tournament next week in Charleston, S.C.

UNC Greensboro rallied from a 13-point deficit in the final 14 minutes to post a 59-53 victory over Wofford in Southern Conference women's basketball action this afternoon in Spartanburg, S.C.

Leading 26-19 at the half, the Terriers took their largest margin of the game at 36-23 on a Nakia Mister free-throw with 14:04 to play.

The Spartans (9-18, 9-11) answered with a 22-7 run, capped by a 3-point play from Megan Honeycutt, over the next 5:44 to take a 45-43 lead with 8:20 remaining. Honeycutt had seven of her 14 points in the spurt while Amanda Eaton scored 10. All 14 of Eaton's points in the game came in the second half.

Wofford pulled even at 48-48 on a Ricaye Harris 3-pointer with 6:23 to play. However, that would be the Terriers' final field goal for the next six minutes. UNCG's Shanika Jackson countered with a trey to give the Spartans a 51-48 advantage and a lead they would not relinquish the remainder of the contest.

The Terriers closed within 52-50 on a pair of Brie Bradshaw free-throws with 4:17 remaining. The Spartans then scored the next seven points before a Wofford 3-pointer from Mary Jo Yee with nine seconds left provided the final margin.

Lindsey Reed topped UNCG with 16 points (6-of-7 from the field, 4-of-4 at the line). The Spartans shot 50 percent (12-of-24) in the second half after a 28.6 effort (8-of-28) in the opening 20 minutes. For the game, UNCG was at 38.5 percent with Wofford at 35.2.

Reed also had a game-high nine rebounds as the Spartans held a 44-32 edge on the boards, including 15-11 on the offensive end.

Bradshaw topped Wofford with 13 points off-the-bench. Jenny Weurding, one of four freshmen in the Wofford starting lineup, added 10 points on 5-of-7 shooting. Nakia Mister had a team-high eight rebounds to go with seven points and four steals.

Both teams return to action Wednesday in opening-round games at the SoCon Tournament in Charleston, S.C. Wofford (0-27, 0-20) will face Western Carolina at approximately 7:30 p.m. UNCG will play at either 2:30 p.m. or at approximately 5 p.m. depending on its seeding which won't be determined until after tonight's action.
Young inks first recruit for 2004-05 campaign
May 14, 2004

Wofford head women's basketball coach Samantha Young has announced the signing of Kelsi Koenig to a National Letter of Intent for the upcoming 2004-05 season.

"She has the potential to come in and make an immediate impact on our program," said Young. "Her scoring ability will be something that will generate a lot of opportunities for us, but she also can excel on the defensive end. Overall, she's just a tough kid.

"Off the court, she will be a true ambassador to not only our team, but the entire Wofford community."

Koenig, a native of Mandeville, La., has been a four-year letterwinner for Mandeville High School in basketball in addition to garnering another three playing volleyball.

In basketball, she is a two-time selection of the Times Picayune District Player of the Year and Times Picayune Parish Player of the Year awards as well as earning a spot on the Times Picayune All-District, All-Parish and All-Metro squads. She also has recognized on the all-state honorable mention team and the first team all-district squad twice and has been the News Banner Player of the Year.

Her senior season, she was a first alternate to the Louisiana High School All-Star game and a Wendy's Heisman Nominee. Also, she was WWL-TV's A+ Athlete of the Year.

During her junior season, she scored her 1000th career point.

She has also excelled in the classroom, maintaining a 4.02 g.p.a. and being named to the Academic All-State teams for volleyball and basketball.

Koenig has also been involved with the Fellowship of Christian Athletes each of the last four years, serving as her chapter's president this past year, and also a two-year member of the Mu Alpha Theta, National Honor Society, M-Club and Big Brothers/Big Sisters.

In the community, she has been involved in the First Baptist Youth Group, Heritage Manor Nursing Home, Teen Forum for the News Banner, Toys for Tots and Upward Ministries. She's also been selected as the Elk's Mandeville High Teen of the Month and the Elk's Parish Teen of the Month.
The Wofford athletic department has announced the resignation of women's head basketball coach Samantha Young.

Young will become an assistant coach at East Carolina.

"This was not an easy decision," Young said. "It was strictly a professional decision in which I'll have the opportunity to work on the Conference USA level. I enjoyed Wofford and my players and I'm most appreciative of the opportunity I was given to be a head coach.

"Wofford is a great place. This program will be successful and I look forward to reading about the team's success in the years to come."

Young served one year at Wofford. She was previously an assistant coach for six seasons at Coastal Carolina.

"We appreciate the contribution that Samantha made to our program," Wofford athletic director Richard Johnson said. "She was very well received and respected by her players. We wish her the best."
The Wofford College athletic department has announced the hiring of Edgar Farmer Jr. as its head women's basketball coach.

Farmer has served the last two seasons as an assistant coach for the Terrier women's basketball program. He was involved in all aspects of the game, including recruiting, individual and team development and on-court coaching.

"After an exhaustive search involving many applicants, we determined that our best candidate was in-house," Wofford athletic director Richard Johnson said. "Edgar has done an excellent job as an assistant with our women's basketball program and we believe he's ready to take the next step in his coaching career.

"Edgar is a very impressive individual. With his two years on our campus, he has a tremendous understanding of the Wofford community. He's a great fit for our department and college. We believe our women's basketball program will benefit from his strong leadership."

Farmer came to Wofford after working two years as an assistant coach at East Carolina. While with the Lady Pirates, Farmer served as the summer camp director and community service coordinator. He was also given the tasks of opponent scouting, film exchange, on-campus recruiting and unofficial visits and pre and postseason workout development with the trainers and strength staff.

He was the head coach of a women’s basketball select team for Planet Basketball that competed in Finland and Poland in August 2001.

Farmer was also an assistant men’s basketball coach at Northeastern Oklahoma A&M Junior College, where he also served as an adjunct professor of African-American history and as a faculty advisor.

He also coached the AAU Garner Flames, including stints with the 14, 15 and 16-under age groups as an assistant coach and then as the head coach for the 17-under squad.

During the summer months of 1997, Farmer interned with Pro Management Plus which enabled him to maintain the director’s role for the NBA camps of Allan Houston and John Starks.

Farmer is a 1994 graduate of the University of North Carolina, where he earned a bachelor of arts degree in African-American studies. While in Chapel Hill, he was a member of the junior varsity men’s basketball team. After graduating, he was an assistant coach under Randy Wiel for the Tar Heel junior varsity squad.

In 1993-94, he was the audio-visual technical coordinator for the national champion North Carolina women’s basketball team. Farmer filmed practices and games and assisted in film
