The official 2007-2009 Wofford College Catalogue is available at www.wofford.edu, in a searchable and printable format.

This booklet contains three chapters from the Catalogue outlining academic policy, requirements, and offerings. The page numbers in this booklet correspond to the page numbers of the Catalogue on the Wofford Web site.

While Wofford College reserves the right to make changes in its policies, regulations, fees, prices, and curriculum, the information in this Catalogue accurately reflects policy and states progress requirements for graduation effective September 1, 2007,

"It is the policy of Wofford College to provide equal opportunities and reasonable accommodation to all persons regardless of race, color, creed, religion, sex, age, national origin, disability, veteran status or other legally protected status in accordance with federal and state laws."
Calendar

Wofford's September-May academic year is divided into two semesters and a four-week Interim. The official college calendars for 2007-2008 and 2008-2009 are printed in this Catalogue.

Matriculation, Registration, and Enrollment

On specified dates late in each semester, currently enrolled students pre-register for courses for the following semester. Matriculation then takes place at the beginning of the new semesters on dates also indicated in the college calendar; at these times pre-registered students confirm (or may change) their course schedules, and students who are not pre-registered complete their registration for the semester. No student is permitted to register or add courses after the last day to add or drop courses, as indicated in the college calendar.

Students must present their schedules to their faculty advisors for review and approval prior to pre-registration. Schedules calling for more than the normal maximum permissible course load (see the following section) can be carried only with the approval of the Registrar.

Registration procedures for the Interim are undertaken mid-way in the fall semester.

To be permitted to register for classes, students must clear all financial obligations to the college. In the spring semester, students must pay their reservation deposits for the following year before pre-registering for the upcoming fall semester.

Course Load

The normal course load for a student in a semester is four or five full courses (those of three or four semester hours credit each). In addition, each freshman is to take a one-hour course in Physical Education each semester; freshmen and sophomores may take two-hour or three-hour courses in Military Science; and any student, if selected for participation, may take one-hour courses in Music. The normal (and maximum) load in Interim is one project.

First-semester freshmen may take no more than the four full courses, plus Physical Education and the one- or two-hour options. All but one of the courses are prescribed as indicated in the following outline.

Students other than those on academic probation may take up to eighteen hours in a semester. (A student on academic probation must obtain permission from the Registrar to take more than the normal four or five courses.) Students wishing to take more than eighteen hours must seek approval prior to the last day of the add period by completing a form that is available in the Office of the Registrar. Students with cumulative grade-point averages lower than 3.00 will not be allowed to carry more than eighteen hours.

Students otherwise eligible to live in residence halls must have special permission from the Dean of Students to do so in any semester in which they are enrolled for less than nine hours, or in any Interim in which they are not taking a project.

Course Restrictions

Enrollment space in 100- and 200-level Foreign Language courses, in science courses numbered 104, in English 102, and in Physical Education courses is reserved for freshmen. Students who do not complete General Education requirements in those areas by the end of their freshman year cannot be guaranteed space in the courses in future semesters. While space is not reserved in beginning-level courses in science (except for those numbered 104), freshmen will be accommodated in one of the following: Biology 111, Chemistry 123, or Physics 121.

Sophomores and freshmen with advanced standing have registration priority in 200-level English courses. Students who do not fulfill the requirement for a 200-level English course by the end of their sophomore year cannot be guaranteed space in future semesters.

Juniors and seniors are not permitted to enroll in the 100- and 200-level Military Science courses unless they are under ROTC contract and are required to take the courses.

For Chinese, French, German, and Spanish 101, 102, 200, 201, 202, 301 and 303, a general restriction applies. Students who receive credit for a more advanced course normally may not take or repeat a less advanced course in the same language and receive credit or grade-points for it (except that courses 201, 202 are not sequential and may be taken in any order). Students should not plan to enroll in restricted Foreign Language courses without first seeking the approval of the Registrar and the Chair of the Department of Foreign Languages.
Graduation Honors
Candidates for degrees who have achieved certain levels of academic excellence at Wofford College are graduated with one of the following honors: cum laude, magna cum laude, or summa cum laude. These honors are determined on the basis of grade-point average. For students entering the college August 2003 or later, the averages required are 3.5 for cum laude, 3.75 for magna cum laude, and 3.9 for summa cum laude

Honors Courses and In-Course Honors
Wofford College provides opportunities for qualified students to broaden their educational experience through creative independent study in the area of their current coursework or major field. Two such programs are Honors Courses and In-Course Honors.

Honors Courses
At the discretion of the faculty, a student may undertake a six-hour independent course of study in the senior year to graduate with honors in his or her major. Honors Courses are subject to the following regulations:

1. Eligibility to undertake Honors Courses is restricted to students having a cumulative grade-point average of at least 3.0 or grades of B or higher in all courses taken at Wofford during the preceding two semesters.

2. Upon approval of the instructor and the student’s major advisor, the advisor shall submit to the Curriculum Committee of the faculty a request that the student be permitted to undertake an Honors Course. The request shall be accompanied by a detailed proposal from the student setting forth clearly the work to be done. In addition, the instructor must submit a statement of the standards and procedures for evaluating the results of the student’s work. The project should exhibit initiative, creativity, intellectual curiosity, critical thinking, and sound methodology. A proposal for the Honors Course must be submitted to the Curriculum Committee of the faculty by April 14 of the student’s junior year.

3. An Honors Course may be undertaken only in the senior year and will carry six hours of credit over two semesters. Final grade options are H, P, U, WS, and WU. No partial credit may be given. The Honors Course may count toward major requirements with the approval of the major advisor. When successfully completed, the course will be identified on the student’s transcript as an Honors Course.

4. A student may be removed from an Honors Course at any time if in the judgment of the instructor and the major advisor the student’s work is not of sufficient merit to justify continuation.

5. Each student completing an Honors Course shall prepare and submit to the instructor three copies of a written report describing the work done in the course. The student will then undergo a final oral examination by a committee of three faculty members, appointed by the major advisor, and including the course instructor (as chairman) and preferably one person from another discipline. The length of the examination generally shall not exceed one hour. The major advisor will retain one copy of the final report and submit one copy to the Curriculum Committee for review. The Curriculum Committee copy will then be deposited in the college archives.

6. Students will graduate with “high honors” in their major when they earn a grade of “honors” in the Honors Course and achieve a grade-point average of at least 3.75 in the major. The distinction will be announced at commencement exercises, and shall be noted in a special section of the Catalogue and recorded on the students’ transcripts.

7. Students will graduate with “honors” in their major when they earn a grade of “honors” in the Honors Course and achieve a grade-point average of at least 3.50 but less than 3.75 in the major. The distinction will be announced at commencement exercises, and shall be noted in a special section of the Catalogue and recorded on the students’ transcripts.

8. A grade of “pass” in the Honors Course does not qualify students for graduation with honors in the major regardless of their grade-point average in the major.

In-Course Honors
In-Course Honors is a program intended to enrich and expand regular courses offered at Wofford through independent, supplemental study. Qualified students are permitted to attempt In-Course Honors in accordance with the following regulations:

1. The student must have had at least one previous semester at Wofford and must have attained a 3.0 average, either cumulative or in the last full semester completed at Wofford.

2. A written request for In-Course Honors and a planned program of study must be presented to the course instructor before the end of the third week of the semester. Approval of the application and program of study must be obtained from the course instructor, the Chair of the department in which the course is offered, and the Dean of the College. A special form for this purpose is available at the Office of the Registrar.

3. In-Course Honors work shall consist of independent study under tutorial guidance and relating to the subject of the course in which it is undertaken. It should exhibit initiative, creativity, intellectual curiosity, critical thinking, and sound methodology. In-Course Honors work will include a paper which analyzes or exhibits the results of the study, and culminate in an oral examination by a committee of three faculty members, appointed by the department Chair, and including the course instructor (as committee Chair) and preferably one person from another discipline. The length of the examination generally shall not exceed one hour.

4. The student must also meet all of the requirements of the regular course, including the final examination. Credit may not be given for In-Course Honors unless the student earns a grade of at least B for both the regular course requirements and In-Course Honors work. Upon the student’s satisfactory completion of In-Course Honors the instructor will report the final course grade with the suffix H added to the course number. The Registrar will identify the course on the student’s record as including In-Course Honors and award one semester hour of credit in addition to the regular course credit. The grade points for the additional hour, if earned, will be based on the grade awarded for the In-Course Honors work.
5. No student may elect more than one In-Course Honors program per semester.

6. No student shall be penalized for failure to undertake honors work. Failure to successfully complete In-Course Honors shall in no way affect the final grade assigned for regular course work.

7. An individual faculty member may be unable to meet a student's request for In-Course Honors, and the college is not obliged to provide this opportunity in every course. No first-semester faculty member may give In-Course Honors; the interested student should consult the department chair for other possible arrangements.

Adding or Dropping Courses

At the start of each semester there is an official period during which students have the opportunity to change their class schedules and course loads, within limits, by adding or dropping courses. During this add/drop period, which extends from the first day of classes to the ending date noted in the college calendar, students who wish to make changes should obtain the advice of their advisor, inform the instructors of the courses they wish to add or drop, and make the changes through the online registration system.

Courses dropped during this official add/drop period do not appear on the students' transcripts.

Students may still drop courses (but may not add) after the end of the official add/drop period, but the consequences of doing so are quite different. Students wishing to drop courses should always seek advice on the matter from their advisors and instructors, but this is particularly so when the add/drop period has passed, because all courses dropped after that period will appear on the students' permanent records. A course dropped after the official add/drop period but on or before the day four weeks prior to the last day of semester classes may be recorded with the grade WP if the student carries out the official drop process and is passing the course at the time he or she officially drops; otherwise the grade WF will be recorded. The drop slip, obtained by the student from the Office of the Registrar, properly initialed by the course instructor and by the faculty advisor, and indicating the grade to be recorded, is returned to the Office of the Registrar by the instructor and not by the student. Students who drop courses during the last four weeks of semester classes will automatically and routinely be assigned grades of WF for those courses.

For information regarding the effect of the WF grade on the grade-point average, refer to the Grading System section which appears earlier in this chapter of the Catalogue.

Some financial aid awards require that recipients be enrolled full-time. Financial aid recipients, including student athletes, veterans, and international students, should consult the Director of Financial Aid before they drop any course at any point in the semester.

Repeating Courses

Students may repeat four courses for which final grades of C-, D, F, or WF were recorded in the prior attempt, without the course hours being counted again as hours attempted. Thus the student who undertakes four repeats or fewer and makes higher grades will receive the full grade-point value of the higher grades; but for repeats beyond four, all attempts in those courses will be included in the calculation of the grade-point average.

Interim projects and certain courses may not be repeated by any student. Humanities 101 may not be repeated, and under certain conditions, Chinese, French, German, and Spanish 101, 102, 200, 201 and 202 may not be repeated (see Course Restrictions section, found earlier in this chapter of the Catalogue).

In any instance in which a student repeats a course, he or she must complete and submit a notification form available at the Office of the Registrar. Otherwise, none of the benefits potentially to be derived from repeating will be gained. Note also that even though courses may be repeated, the prior attempts and grades are not removed from permanent records, and, of course, credit hours are awarded only once.

The opportunity for the credit or grade-point benefits of repeating courses as discussed here is available only when the courses are both first taken and repeated at Wofford.

A student who has twice failed a course (or courses in the same department) needed for a General Education requirement for graduation may appeal to be exempted from that requirement. Before the end of the add/drop period in the semester following the second failure, the student wishing to appeal must request that the Dean of the College convene a committee to review his or her case and to decide whether to grant the exemption sought. The committee's decision is final. Although a similar appeal opportunity exists in relation to courses listed as prerequisites to majors in Economics or Business Administration, there is no such opportunity regarding courses taken to earn elective hours or to meet requirements for majors.

Class Standing

For a student to rank as a sophomore, he or she must have earned a minimum of thirty semester hours; as a junior, sixty semester hours; as a senior, ninety semester hours.

Course Work at Other Institutions

A student who wishes to take course work at another college or university and to apply that work toward the requirements for a Wofford degree must secure the advance approval of the Registrar and the Chairs of the Wofford departments in which the desired courses would normally be offered. The Chairs will determine the suitability and equivalency of the courses, while the Registrar will consider whether the student's request meets certain required conditions.
Among the conditions for eligibility for work taken elsewhere are that the student may not repeat at another college or university a course he or she has failed at Wofford; may take work only at a senior college or university if he or she has accumulated as many as sixty semester hours; may not take course-hour loads considered by the Wofford Registrar to be excessive; may not take courses offered by correspondence, television, extension, online, shipboard or wilderness leadership expeditions; and may not take at another college or university in the Spartanburg area any course or courses being offered at Wofford in that same semester or term.

For other circumstances affecting eligibility for work taken elsewhere, refer to the section on Academic Probation and Exclusion toward the end of this chapter of the Catalogue, and the paragraph on the Residency Requirement early in the chapter on Degree and Program Requirements.

Upon receipt by the Wofford Registrar of official transcripts of work taken elsewhere, credits will be accepted for those approved courses in which the student received grades higher than C-. Semester hours for courses accepted on transfer will be adjusted to conform to Wofford's curriculum. The grades on courses taken elsewhere are not included in the computation of a student's grade-point average. The exception is for course work done in Wofford-related foreign study programs, or at Converse College when the cooperative cross-registration program is in effect, or at the University of South Carolina Upstate when approved in advance by the Wofford Registrar as part of the cross-registration agreement with that institution. In these three programs credits are accepted for all approved courses officially documented as having been passed, and the grades for all courses thus taken are included in the computation of grade-point averages in the same fashion as grades for courses taken at Wofford.

Certain scholarship programs require that course work applied toward continued eligibility for awards be done at the institution from which the student will earn the degree. Students should seek information from the Director of Financial Aid.

Wofford will not recognize credit for any work undertaken at other institutions by students who have been academically excluded or who have been suspended or excluded for violations of college policy, of the Code of Students Rights and Responsibilities, or of the Honor Code.

Auditing Courses

A student who wishes to audit a course in which space is available must do so through the Registrar's Office. Students not regularly enrolled at Wofford must obtain the permission of the instructor and the Registrar to audit. Under no circumstances may an audit be changed to a registration for credit, or a registration for credit be changed to an audit, after the end of the add/drop period early in the semester. The notation "Audit" will be affixed to the student's permanent record only if the instructor submits at the end of the course a grade of Audit, indicating the student indeed audited the course satisfactorily.

An audit fee is charged each course-auditor who is not a full-time Wofford student.

Class Attendance

Students are expected to attend all classes and activities scheduled for courses in which they are registered for credit.

Absences from class, including those excused in accord with the provisions outlined below, do not excuse students from the responsibilities they bear for fulfilling the academic requirements of their courses. Generally, course instructors will determine whether make-up work will be required or permitted for students who miss tests or other course work because of their absence from class for reasons other than documented illness and participation in official college events. When absences are excused, the instructor will make every reasonable effort to help the students make up missed work in some non-punitive way. But in every case of missed class, students are ultimately responsible for the material and experiences covered during their absence.

A student who is absent from a final examination must request permission from the Dean of the College to take such an examination at a later date; permission will be granted only in extenuating circumstances.

A student who is absent from classes of a given course excessively, particularly if he or she is also performing poorly academically, should be warned by the instructor and may be required to withdraw from the course under the following procedures:

Through the Dean of the College, the instructor sends the student a Class Attendance Warning, requesting an interview. Since the Class Attendance Warning is official and provides documentation, and because copies are sent to the student's advisor, the Registrar, and parents, as well as to the student, it is important that faculty use it to communicate the warning and the interview request to the student.

If the student fails to respond to that warning, or if an interview is held but is unsatisfactory, or if the student fails to show satisfactory improvement in attendance and/or in academic performance, the instructor sends to the Dean of the College for approval a Required Class Withdrawal notice for the student. Upon approval, the Dean informs the instructor, the student, and other interested parties (including the student's parents) of the required withdrawal. The student is assigned a grade of WP or WF as determined by the instructor.

Absence from classes is sometimes a sign of more serious underlying problems. In order that the college can determine if a student is in trouble or needs assistance, faculty are asked to call the Dean of Students whenever a student has two consecutive absences in a class.

Student absences resulting from participation in official college events are generally to be considered excused. The policy, approved by the faculty, is as follows:

An official college event is (a) an athletic event approved by the faculty through its Committee on Athletics or (b) a non-athletic event approved by the Dean of the College. The Faculty Athletics Committee will provide the faculty with copies of all athletics schedules as soon as such schedules are approved. The Athletics Department will provide the faculty with a roster listing students who will participate in those events and indicating the class times students may miss as a result. As far in advance as possible, the Dean of the College will notify the faculty of any non-athletic event approved and will name the students who will participate in the event.

Although the college will identify, through the procedures outlined above, the events treated as "official," it is the students' responsibility to inform their course instructors as soon as possible and not later than one week in advance of any tests or other required work they will have to miss in order to participate in the event. The notices from the Athletics Department and/or the Dean serve as confirmation of the information provided by students. Because students bear the responsibility for completing all academic requirements of their courses, it is important that they arrange their academic and extracurricular schedules in such a way as to minimize conflicts, and that they make arrangements when conflicts do occur. Indeed, students should examine their academic and athletic and other extracurricular schedules at preregistration and again prior to the start of each semester in order to identify conflicts and discuss them with the instructors to seek a suitable agreement. This responsibility is especially crucial in the case of laboratory exercises, the scheduling of which is absolutely fixed.

If students unavoidably miss tests or other required work to participate in official events, in most such cases they may expect their instructors to arrange some non-punitive way for them to make up the work. Some laboratory exercises, however, cannot be replicated and thus cannot be "made up," and when students must choose between attending such a laboratory or an official event, they must also accept the consequences of the decisions they make; they will not be punished for their decisions by either their lab instructors or the persons to whom they are responsible in the official events, but nevertheless they must recognize that their absence from either the lab or the event will affect the evaluation of their performances or contributions. Clearly, therefore, it is very important that students minimize conflicts between their curricular and extracurricular schedules, and work out arrangements in advance for dealing with any unavoidable conflicts.

If students are remiss in their academic duties, then they may be penalized for work not performed. If students feel that they have been unfairly penalized for missing tests or other required work, and that they have acted according to their responsibilities, then they may present a plea to the Dean of the College who, after conferring with the persons involved, will resolve the impasse. The Dean's resolution will be binding on all parties.

Student absences resulting from personal emergencies (such as a death in the family) are generally to be considered excused. Absences because of special events (such as the marriage of a sibling) or opportunities (such as an interview for a job or a scholarship) are likewise to be considered excused. Students should discuss the need for absences with their instructors and work out arrangements for making up any work they miss because of such absences.

es. In the case of an emergency, students should notify the Dean of Students, who will then inform the students' instructors. The Dean of Students will help provide confirmation of personal emergencies and/or opportunities if necessary.

Students requesting an excuse because of illness must present to the faculty a member a statement signed by the Director of Health Services or by one of the nurses in the Health Services Office recommending that they be excused. The following guidelines are used in issuing statements recommending that students be excused from class due to illness or injury:

A statement may be issued for students who have been ill at home or hospitalized off-campus and who then present to the Health Services Office a written statement from a physician certifying the illness or hospitalization.

A statement may be issued when it has been verified that students are seen by one of the college physicians through an appointment made by the Wofford Health Services Office.

Students should not miss class for medical examinations and treatment which can be scheduled during times they do not have a class or lab, but a statement will be issued if Health Services personnel can verify that the procedure took place and that the schedule conflict was unavoidable.

When it is recommended that an absence be excused, the student must present the statement from the Health Services staff member to the instructor to gain permission to make up the work missed. The instructor should, in every case possible, assist the student in making up the work in some non-punitive way.

Both students and instructors bear important responsibility in the maintenance and implementation of the policies and procedures outlined in this section.

Class Meetings and Inclement Weather

Wofford College ordinarily does not close because of weather which brings snow and ice to the area. Every effort will be made to hold classes and to have offices open. Commuting students should understand that classes are held, but that they are to run no unreasonable risk to get to the campus. They will be permitted to make up work they miss. If an exception is made to this policy, area radio and television stations will be notified. Otherwise, it is safe to assume that the college is open and conducting classes as usual.

Academic Probation and Exclusion

Wofford College expects students to be performing academically at levels which indicate that they are profiting from their opportunity. This means at least that the students are expected to be making reasonable progress toward attaining the grade-point average (GPA) required for degrees. In situations in which such progress is not evident, as measured by the graduated qualitative standards shown in the table below, Wofford places students on academic probation and academic exclusion, not only as notice that their sub-par academic work has endangered their opportunity to continue, but also as incentive to seek whatever motivation, discipline, and assistance may be necessary to improve their performance. Students' records are evaluated against these standards at the end of each semester and summer session.

The standards shown in the table below became effective fall semester 2002. They are used for evaluating the performance of all Wofford students.

The GPAs to which the table refers are cumulative figures and are based only on work undertaken at Wofford, or in Wofford-related foreign study and cross registration programs, when approved in advance by the Wofford Registrar. The GPAs include all such work except hours graded on a Pass/Fail basis and work in which the student receives the grade of WP. In the chart below, "attempted hours" include those transferred to Wofford in addition to those attempted in the institutions and programs stated above.

Students who fail to achieve the minimum levels of performance required are placed on probation for the subsequent semester or are placed on probation and excluded from Wofford for the subsequent semester. (The status of exclusion includes probation.) A student on probation remains in that status until his or her grades improve to at least the minimum 2.00 GPA.

Students who are excluded and who wish to attempt to qualify (i.e., to reach the cumulative GPA required) for reinstatement must attend the Wofford summer session to make that attempt.

Any student, whether or not his or her cumulative GPA is at the level required for good standing, will be considered to be academically eligible to re-enroll following any semester or summer session in which he or she earns a current GPA of at least 2.50 on a full load of at least twelve new hours.

All of the provisions listed above notwithstanding, for cases in which a student's current academic performance is judged to be extremely poor, the Dean of the College may require, after consultation with the Registrar, the student, and the student's faculty advisor, that the student withdraw from the college forthwith, whether or not his or her cumulative GPA meets the technical standard for good standing.

Normally, a student who is excluded may attempt to achieve good standing in the first summer session following his or her exclusion. But students who have been excluded more than once may be required to wait for periods as long as two years before they are allowed to enroll in a summer term or receive consideration for readmission. Application for the readmission of excluded students should be directed, when timely, to the Registrar.

Although excluded students may regain good academic standing through successful work in summer session, they lose their priority for residence hall rooms and for financial aid when they are excluded. (See Catalogue section on Financial Aid.)

Permanent exclusion from the college is a very serious matter which is to be considered only after thorough deliberation among the Dean of the College, the Registrar, the student concerned, and the student's faculty advisor. No specific regulations, therefore, are prescribed for those situations in which permanent exclusion might be a possibility.

Wofford will not accept for credit any work undertaken at other institutions by any student during his or her exclusion from Wofford. Normally this policy applies to all students on probation, but in very extenuating circumstances such students may be granted waivers on the basis of acceptable written petitions to the Registrar. Even in the event of such waivers, however, in no case is it likely that the work done or grades earned at the other institutions would be considered to have improved the students' probationary status at Wofford.

Response to Communications from Faculty and Staff

Students are expected to respond to all communications from members of the faculty or staff of the college. Both e-mail and campus post office are channels for official communications. The preferred method of communication is on-campus e-mail, and each student is required to have a valid Wofford College e-mail account. In addition, all students are required to have campus post office boxes and active residence hall telephone voice mail accounts where they may receive notices and requests from college personnel. Students are expected to check their mail daily and to respond to faculty and staff during the next school day after they receive a request. Failure to comply may be grounds for academic or disciplinary sanction.

Withdrawal from the College

In the interest of the welfare of both the student and the institution, Wofford expects each student who withdraws from the college to have an exit interview with the Registrar. In extenuating circumstances, such interviews may be conducted by telephone.
Degree and Program Requirements

Franklin W. Olin Building, 1992
Degrees Offered

Wofford College offers the degrees of Bachelor of Arts (B.A.) and Bachelor of Science (B.S.).

Candidates who meet all requirements and successfully complete the major in Art History, Chinese, English, French, German, Government, History, Humanities, Intercultural Studies, Intercultural Studies for Business, Philosophy, Religion, Sociology, Spanish, or Theatre qualify for the B.A. degree.

Candidates who meet all requirements and successfully complete the major in Biology, Chemistry, Physics, or Psychology qualify for the B.S. degree.

Candidates who meet all requirements and successfully complete the major in Economics, Business Economics, Accounting, Computer Science, Finance, or Mathematics qualify for the B.A. or the B.S. degree, depending on how they meet the college's natural science requirement (see below).

Candidates who successfully complete 154 hours and meet all requirements for each degree, including the successful completion of two majors, one in a B.A. field and one in a B.S. field, will qualify for both degrees. (Note, however, that double majors involving one B.A. field and one B.S. field do not ordinarily or necessarily require the completion or result in the award of two degrees.)

Requirements for Degrees

It is the responsibility of each student to know and meet the requirements for the completion of his or her degree.

Achievement of the bachelor degree is based on a broad distribution of studies among representative fields of liberal arts learning and a concentration of studies in one field. The object of this distribution, accomplished by requirements that each student successfully complete courses in designated departments and programs, is to give the student a general view of our intellectual heritage and to broaden his or her outlook. The concentration, provided for by the requirement that each student complete a major in one academic discipline or program, gives opportunity for the student to achieve a competence in a particular field of scholarship.

In all work done toward a degree a candidate's grades must meet certain standards. Refer to the section on Grade Requirements for Graduation in this chapter of the Catalogue.

Degree requirements are outlined in this chapter. In addition to completing these requirements, each student must be approved for the B.A. or B.S. degree by the faculty at its May meeting, held prior to commencement. Those students are eligible for degrees who have met all requirements and have been approved, and who have no outstanding disciplinary charges or sanctions and no unmet financial obligations to the college.

Specifics of Distribution Requirements

General Education Requirements

The purpose of Wofford’s general education program is to ensure a broad exposure to our intellectual heritage. These requirements are intended to promote breadth of knowledge, integration of disciplinary perspectives, and understanding of diverse cultures. Wofford’s program seeks to develop skills in reading, written and oral communication, use of technology, critical thinking, creative expression, numerical reasoning, problem solving, and collaborative and independent learning. The college identifies these competencies as vital to intellectual and personal growth. While these competencies are developed in all courses in the curriculum, they are the explicit focus of general education courses.
Courses which meet General Education requirements are listed below. The same course may not be used to satisfy more than one General Education requirement.

ENGLISH

SIX SEMESTER HOURS

This requirement is met by successfully completing English 102 and a 200-level English course.

FINE ARTS

THREE OR FOUR SEMESTER HOURS

This requirement is met by successfully completing one three-semester-hour 200-level course in Art, Music, or Theatre (except that Music 220 may not be used to meet this requirement), or by successfully completing four semester hours in Music 100, 101, 102, 150, and/or 151.

FOREIGN LANGUAGES

FOUR TO TEN SEMESTER HOURS

This requirement is met by successfully completing one of the following course sequences or courses, with placement made by the faculty. Normally, placement is determined by previous foreign language study.

- Chinese 101, 102 (10 hours).
- French 101, 102 (6 hours); or 200 or 201 or 202 (4 hours).
- German 101, 102 (6 hours); or 201 or 202 (4 hours).
- Spanish 101, 102 (6 hours); or 200 or 201 or 202 (4 hours).

HUMANITIES 101

THREE SEMESTER HOURS

This course is required of every freshman.

NATURAL SCIENCE, B.A. DEGREE

FOUR TO EIGHT SEMESTER HOURS

This requirement is met either by successfully completing two courses, preferably in the same department or program chosen from the following list; or by successfully completing Physics 173. (Physics 173 is a fast-paced course in general physics requiring advanced preparation in science and mathematics.)

- Biology 111, 113, 212, 214.
- Chemistry 123-124.
- Geology 111, 112, 113.
- Physics 121, 122; or 141, 142; or 173.
- Psychology 200, 210, 230, 300.

The introduction to science series: Biology, Chemistry, Geology, Physics, and Psychology 104. To meet the requirement in this program, students must complete one in life science (Biology or Psychology) and one in physical science (Chemistry, Geology or Physics).

Only certain sections of these courses count toward Teacher Education science requirements. Teacher Education Program students pursuing B.A. degrees should consult the Teacher Education Handbook and the Chair of the Education Department for information regarding which of the courses and sections are acceptable for their science requirements.

HISTORY

THREE SEMESTER HOURS

This requirement is met by History 101 or 102.

PHILOSOPHY

THREE SEMESTER HOURS

This requirement is met by Philosophy 120 or any 200-level Philosophy course.

RELIGION

THREE SEMESTER HOURS

This requirement is met by Religion 200, 201, 202, 203, or 204.

CULTURES AND PEOPLES

THREE SEMESTER HOURS

This requirement is met by any course from a list of those designated by the faculty as Cultures and Peoples courses. The list is available on the Wofford Web. Courses meeting this option focus on the study of cultures other than European and European-settler cultures, or the interaction between and comparison of European and non-western cultures.

MATHEMATICS

THREE SEMESTER HOURS

This requirement is met by successfully completing three semester hours in Mathematics in any course in the department.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

TWO SEMESTER HOURS

This requirement is met by successfully completing two semesters of Physical Education, each in a different activity.

Major Work Requirements

At the close of the sophomore year, students normally select the academic area in which they will take their major work. At that point, the student completes the major work form, which is then reviewed for approval by the Chair of the student's major program and filed with the Registrar.
When other extenuating circumstances in individual cases require such, the Coordinator of the Interim and the Registrar will determine whether the student’s Interim requirements for graduation have been met.

Elective Requirements

In addition to the General Education, major, and Interim requirements, the student must pass a sufficient number of elective courses to complete the 124 semester hours necessary for graduation.

Grade Requirements for Graduation

To satisfy requirements for degrees, candidates must complete 124 semester hours, including all general and major requirements, electives, and the prescribed number of Interim projects. A candidate must also have at least a C average (2.0 grade-point average) on all work attempted. Courses and Interim projects graded on the Pass/Fail system and any course or project for which students receive grades of WP are not included in calculations of grade-point averages. All courses and projects for which students receive the grade of WF are included in the calculations.

A candidate may also qualify for graduation by presenting a number of hours with grades higher than C- equal to the overall graduation requirement (124 semester hours) minus the number of hours accumulated in courses and projects graded on the Pass/Fail system, and presenting grades higher than C- in each course used to meet General Education and major requirements.

The quality of a student’s major work must be such that he or she finishes with a grade-point average of 2.0 or higher in all work that could be applied toward the major. Grades earned in all required and elective courses (not Interim projects) attempted in the discipline(s) comprising the major are included in the calculation. Grades earned in prerequisites are not included.

A candidate may also meet the standard for quality of work in the major by presenting grades higher than C- in the minimum number of hours required for the major and in each of the courses specifically required for the major.

Grades earned at Wofford College, and in Wofford related foreign study and cross-registration programs approved in advance by the Wofford Registrar, are used in computing students’ grade-point averages and in determining whether other grade requirements for graduation have been met. Grades transferred from other institutions are not used in these determinations.

Residency Requirement

The last thirty-four hours of work toward the degree and more than half of the hours toward the major must be completed at Wofford College. (Courses taken in a Wofford-approved study abroad program are considered to have been completed at Wofford College.) In extenuating circumstances (such as the unavailability in the senior year of required courses), students may be permitted to take up to eight of those hours at an accredited senior college or university other than Wofford. Before undertaking such work, the student must obtain the approval of the Registrar and the Chair of any department concerned.
Elective Programs of Study

In addition to meeting the requirements for degrees, many students seek to focus their study/toward areas of personal interest. Many students, in addition to completing a major, choose to complete programs of preparation for various professional schools - medicine, dentistry, law, teaching, and Christian ministry, for example. Some students seek to achieve depth in two fields by completing all the requirements for a major in each of two separate programs. Students may also add both breadth and depth of study by completing, in addition to the required major, a minor or an interdisciplinary program concentrating or integrating their study on a particular topic.

Academic Minors

Minors involve substantial work in a subject, but offer less depth and integration of study than provided by majors. Minors are offered in the following programs:

- Art History (in the Department of Fine Arts)
- Business (in the Department of Accounting and Finance)
- Chinese Studies
- Computer Science
- Creative Writing
- Economics
- English
- German Studies
- Government
- History
- Mathematics
- Philosophy
- Religion
- Sociology

More than half of the courses in a student's minor must be taken and successfully completed at Wofford. In addition, the student must have a grade-point average of at least 2.00 in all courses that could be applied to the minor, excluding prerequisites. The successful completion of a minor is noted on the student transcript. Specific requirements for these programs are found under the department or program headings in the Courses of Instruction chapter of this Catalogue.

Interdisciplinary Depth and Integration

In addition to interdisciplinary majors, Wofford College offers several interdisciplinary programs which are not majors, but which provide depth and integration of study:

- African/African American Studies Program
- Computational Science
- Gender Studies
- Information Management
- Latin American and Caribbean Studies
- Nineteenth Century Studies

Several concentrations are offered as tracks within a major:

- American Politics, Political Thought, World Politics (Government Major)
- Creative Writing (English Major)
- Neuroscience (Biology or Psychology Major)

The successful completion of these programs is noted on the student transcript. Specific requirements for each program are found under its department or program heading in the Courses of Instruction chapter of this Catalogue.

Pre-Professional Programs

Pre-Engineering

Wofford College has agreements with two institutions which afford students the opportunity to become liberally-educated engineers. The programs usually involve three years of study at Wofford, followed by two years at the other institution. After a student has completed General Education requirements and certain prescribed courses in mathematics and the physical sciences at Wofford, and has been recommended by the advisor, he or she will normally be automatically accepted at the school of engineering at Columbia University or Clemson University. With successful continuation into the second year at the professional school, the student may be awarded the B.S. degree by Wofford, and after meeting requirements at the professional school (usually by the end of the second year there), the student is awarded the B.S. degree in Engineering by that school.

These pre-engineering programs are tightly structured, and the requirements of the engineering schools differ slightly. Therefore, it is necessary to consult early and frequently with the program advisor at Wofford. The advisor is listed in the Student Handbook.

Pre-Health Care, Pre-Ministry, and Pre-Law

Wofford College has an excellent reputation for preparing persons for the graduate study required for entry into medicine, dentistry, nursing, veterinary medicine, the Christian ministry, and law. Generally, any of the college's majors provides useful and appropriate background for students who wish to enter professional schools. There are, however, certain specific course requirements which must be met for admission to most professional and graduate schools. Therefore, it is necessary for interested students to consult early and frequently with the appropriate program advisors at Wofford.

Students interested in studies in the health-care fields should be aware of course requirements for admission to schools of medicine, nursing, dentistry, or veterinary medicine. They should obtain the necessary information before choosing a major or deciding upon elective course work. The advisor is listed in the Student Handbook.

There are no specific course requirements or major which must be met for admission to law school. Wofford College has a suggested curriculum for students who wish to prepare for the practice of law. Electives should include English, American history, government, accounting, economics, ethics, writing, and public speaking. Statistics, logic, philosophy, psychology and religion are also recommended. Pre-law students usually major in one of the humanities or social sciences, but many science majors are also admitted to law school. The pre-law advisor is listed in the Student Handbook.

Students interested in Christian leadership and ministry are encouraged to affiliate with the Pre-ministerial Society and establish a relationship with the college Chaplain, who offers opportunities for theological exploration of vocation, for mentoring, and for seminary preparation.

Army Reserve Officer Training Corps

Completion of the ROTC program at Wofford College earns graduating men and women commissions as second lieutenants in the United States Regular Army or the United States Army Reserve. The program prepares students for all branches of the Army, except for those requiring additional study on the graduate- or professional-school level. Delays in beginning active service may be granted to commissioned students who wish to attend law, medical, or dental school.

The United States Army gives financial support to ROTC. This support includes provision of uniforms, textbooks, and equipment for students in the program. In addition, the Army offers scholarships to qualified students selected through a national competition. (See Catalogue section on Financial Assistance.)

The normal four-year sequence of ROTC instruction is divided into the Basic Program and the Advanced Program. Participation in the Basic Program, normally undertaken in the freshman and sophomore years, is voluntary and involves no obligation for military service. The four courses in the Basic Program are intended to develop leadership skills, to familiarize the student with military customs and organization, and to introduce selected weapons and general military subjects. All credits earned in these courses may be applied toward graduation.

The Advanced Program is offered for students who have successfully completed the Basic Program, who meet the academic and physical standards, and who are selected on the further basis of leadership potential. (Satisfactory completion of a five-week basic camp in the summer after the sophomore year, or suitable prior military experience, or three years of JROTC, may substitute for a portion of the Basic Program for this purpose.) The Advanced Program, normally taken during the junior and senior years, offers a total of twelve credit hours. The four courses include instruction in leadership, ethics, tactics, military law, administration, and exercise of command. Advanced Program cadets receive a tax-free allowance of up to $400 each month for up to ten months of the academic year, and are also paid during the four-week summer camp they are required to attend between the junior and senior years. The Advanced Program cadet may be selected to enter active duty or participate in the Reserve Force Duty Program (RFD) as means for fulfilling the incurred obligation for military service. Under the RFD program, the student is commissioned in either the National Guard or the U.S. Army Reserve.

In addition to the Basic and Advanced Programs of classroom instruction, the Military Science Department at Wofford sponsors numerous extracurricular activities which are designed to complement skills learned in the classroom.

Presently offered are adventure activities such as rappelling, orienteering, whitewater rafting, and paint-ball war games.

Teacher Education Program

Wofford College offers a program to prepare graduates to teach at certain levels in public or private schools in South Carolina and the nation. The program leads to licensure by the State of South Carolina in grades 9-12 in biology, chemistry, English, mathematics, social studies (economics, government, history, psychology, and sociology) and grades k-12 in French. The Teacher Education Program at Wofford is accredited by the South Carolina Department of Education. Licensure in South Carolina earns licensure in most other states through a program of reciprocity.

The goal of the Teacher Education Program is to produce knowledgeable teachers who demonstrate excellence in character, provide leadership to their schools and communities, and make a commitment to life-long learning and professional development.

The Teacher Education Program provides the disciplinary and professional courses and the field experiences to prepare the Wofford teacher candidate for excellent service as a teacher.

Careful planning and selection of courses are required in order to satisfy both Wofford's requirements and those required for South Carolina licensure. The earlier a teacher candidate registers interest in teaching with the Chair of the Department of Education, the more readily the planning can be effected.

Components of the Teacher Education Program

The Teacher Education Program at Wofford College has three interrelated components. First, there are those studies required to ensure a broad exposure to our intellectual heritage. For this purpose, teacher candidates are required to take courses in English, diverse cultures, fine arts, foreign language, humanities, science, history, philosophy, public speaking, religion, mathematics, and physical education. These are commonly referred to as the "general education" component of the Teacher Education Program. The requirements in general education for graduation established by Wofford and the requirements in the Teacher Education Program for licensure are similar, but because they are not identical and because the Teacher Education requirements change over time, teacher candidates should consult the Chair of the Department of Education and become familiar with the specific general education requirements listed in this Catalogue for graduation and in the Teacher Education Handbook for licensure.

The second component of the Teacher Education Program is concentrated study in one or more academic fields. The college requires each student to complete a major in one of several fields. In order to obtain solid grounding in their subject of teaching specialization, teacher candidates complete a major in the field they will teach. To graduate, teacher candidates must complete the Wofford College requirements for a major; to teach, they must complete the South Carolina Department of Education approved program requirements provided at Wofford in the teaching specialization. The latter are referred to as "teaching major" requirements. Teacher candidates should become familiar with both the college’s requirements and the state’s approved program requirements offered. in the teaching major at Wofford College. A statement of the Wofford requirements for a major can be found in this Catalogue. The state-approved program requirements are listed in the Teacher Education Handbook.

The third component of the Teacher Education Program is made up of courses in professional education and applied or field experiences in the public schools. These offerings include in-depth study for those who wish to become professional teachers, but several courses may be taken by any student seeking a broader understanding of education.

The required professional education courses and the year in which they are recommended are:

Sophomore Year
- Education 200. Foundations of Education
- Education 220. Teaching Diverse Student Populations

Junior Year
- Education 320. Human Growth and Development
- Education 330. Educational Psychology
- Education 340. The Teaching of Reading

Senior Year
- Education 420. Instructional Methods
- Education 430. Senior Seminar and Field Experience
- Education 440. Clinical Practice

Periodically, selected special topics courses may be offered as electives to enhance the prospective teacher's skills.

Explanations of the professional education requirements are included in the Teacher Education Handbook, the Field Experiences Handbook, and the Clinical Practice Handbook, available in the Department of Education and through consultation with the Chair.

Admission to the Teacher Education Program

The following basic criteria must be met by the Wofford teacher candidate for admission to the Teacher Education Program. The teacher candidate must have:

- successfully completed a minimum of forty-five semester hours of course work applicable toward degree requirements;
- achieved a cumulative 2.5 grade-point average on a 4.0 scale, or a cumulative 2.25 on a 4.0 scale with a recommendation of an institutional review committee which documents reasons for the exception;
- submitted an acceptable essay with the application;
- demonstrated academic proficiency by passing PRAXIS I (passing scores on the PRAXIS I exams are set by the State Department of Education) or by making the required score set by the General Assembly on the SAT or the ACT;
- received two professional recommendations addressing character and academic promise and performance (one from general education faculty and one from Teacher Education faculty);
- presented a positive assessment of his or her eligibility for full licensure based on FBI background check.

To initiate admission procedures, the teacher candidate must complete the Wofford College Teacher Education Program Interest Form, confer with a faculty member in the Department of Education, and submit the Application for Admission to the Teacher Education Program to the Chair of the Department of Education. The Chair will review the application for completeness and submit it and the recommendations to the Teacher Education Committee for review, discussion, and action. The Chair will notify the teacher candidate of the recommendation.

Students not in the Teacher Education Program may enroll for elective hours in certain courses offered by the Department (Education 200, 220, 320 or 330). After six hours the student must be formally admitted to the program in order to take additional professional education courses. Admission to the Teacher Education program should be sought during the sophomore year. Teacher candidates must be admitted to clinical practice one semester prior to student teaching.

Transfer students interested in teacher education should discuss their status with the Chair of the Department of Education.

Students who have already earned bachelor degrees and who desire to earn licensure through Wofford's program must follow the established procedure for admission to the program. They must present transcripts of all college work and a letter of character recommendation. They must fulfill all the requirements of the program in which they enroll. The Chair of the Department can advise what requirements are met by the work previously completed at Wofford or other institutions.

Retention in the Teacher Education Program

Evaluation of teacher candidates enrolled in the Teacher Education Program is a continuous process. A teacher candidate's knowledge, skills and dispositions are important indicators of interest and success in completing the program. Students who do not meet minimum course requirements and who do not exhibit the required teaching dispositions may be advised to withdraw from the program.

Specifically, to be retained in the program the teacher candidate must:
- maintain a grade-point average of at least 2.0 overall and in the teaching major;
- complete satisfactorily each prerequisite professional education course and the prescribed field experiences in Education 340, 420, and 430, prior to enrolling in Education 440.

Recommendation for Teacher Licensure

The college advises teacher candidates about requirements of the Teacher Education Program and helps with scheduling the appropriate sequences of courses. Responsibility for starting the program and pursuing it to completion, however, rests upon the individual candidate. Deficiencies in preparation at the time the candidate seeks recommendation for licensure are not the responsibility of the college. Wofford College recommends for licensure only those candidates who have completed satisfactorily all requirements in the three Teacher Education Program components and passed the state-required national examinations.
Courses of Instruction

Roger Milliken Science Center, 2001
On the following pages are brief statements concerning course offerings, prerequisites, and major requirements. For more complete information, contact department Chairs or the Registrar.

Not all courses are offered each year. Department Chairs should be consulted for scheduling information.

Wofford students should be aware that, under the terms of a cross-registration agreement, they may also have access to a number of courses offered at Converse College. The privileges of this arrangement are available to students who have a C average or better and who are otherwise in good standing, provided that there is space for their enrollment in the given courses. Wofford students may not take courses at Converse that are offered at Wofford nor may they take courses at Converse to meet Wofford's General Education requirements. Priority for classroom space for Wofford students at Converse is given to upperclass students. Freshmen may not take courses at Converse unless they have the permission of the Wofford Registrar.

Information as to specific courses which are offered at Converse may be obtained from the Registrar at Wofford.

The college also has an arrangement with the University of South Carolina Upstate which makes it possible for a limited number of Wofford students to enroll in courses there. The Registrar at Wofford handles the registration. The Registrar's approval and permission are necessary before a Wofford student may take a course through this program.

Course Numbering System

Courses numbered in the 100's and 200's are primarily for freshmen and sophomores; courses numbered in the 300's and 400's are primarily for juniors and seniors.

In general, courses numbered in the 250's, 450's, or 460's are research courses or directed study courses; those numbered in the 470's are independent study courses; and those numbered in the 280's, 290's, 480's, or 490's are either selected or advanced topics courses. Selected topics courses numbered 297-299 and 497-499 fulfill the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation. Honors courses, which may be developed for individual senior students, are numbered in the 500's.

Course numbers separated by a colon (e.g.: 201:202) indicate a full year course for which credit is not given unless the work of both semesters is completed. Such a course may not be entered in the second semester.

Course numbers separated by a hyphen (e.g.: 201-202) indicate a year course for which credit for one semester may be given, but which may not be entered in the second semester.

Course numbers separated by a comma (e.g.: 201,202) indicate two one-semester courses, the second of which continues from the first; these courses may be entered in either semester.

On the last line of individual course descriptions are three numbers (in parentheses) which indicate, in turn, the number of class hours or equivalent normally met each week, the number of laboratory hours or equivalent normally met each week, and the number of semester hours credit for the course.

Single course numbers (e.g.: 201) indicate one-semester courses.

Although as a general rule odd-numbered courses are offered in the fall semester and those with even numbers are offered in the spring semester, some courses may be offered in either semester.
Course and Program Descriptions

Accounting, Business, and Finance

JAMES EDWIN PROCTOR, Chair
SHAWN M. FORBES, LILLIAN E. GONZÁLEZ, ANDREW F. GREEN,
PHILIP S. KEENAN, STEPHEN C. FERRY, WM, EDDIE RICHARDSON,
PHILIP G. SWICEGOOD

The Department of Accounting, Business, and Finance offers a major in Accounting, a minor in Business, and a major in Finance. Students majoring in either Accounting or Finance have a choice of earning the B.A. degree or the B.S. degree (depending upon how they meet the college's natural science requirement).

The Department of Accounting, Business, and Finance participates with the Department of Economics in offering the major in Business Economics, with the Department of Foreign Languages in offering the major in Intercultural Studies for Business, and with the Department of Computer Science in offering the Emphasis in Information Management. These three programs are described elsewhere in this chapter of the Catalogue.

Students may not major in both Accounting and Finance. Additionally, students majoring in Accounting or Finance may not major also in Business Economics or Intercultural Studies for Business. The minor in Business is not available to students majoring in Accounting, Business Economics, Finance, or Intercultural Studies for Business.

Computer Proficiency Requirement:

Students majoring in Accounting, Finance, or Intercultural Studies for Business, or minoring in Business, will be expected to use computers for the following applications: word processing, spreadsheet analysis, internet access, e-mail, and database searches. Students who are not proficient in these applications may elect to take Computer Science 101. Accounting 345, Accounting Information Systems, is required in the majors and in the minor offered in this Department. Students in these programs will become proficient in using a financial calculator.

Prerequisites for Majors in Accounting or Finance:

Economics 201, 202; Mathematics 140, and either 160 or 181. A minimum grade of C is required in all prerequisites for majors in Accounting or Finance.

Requirements for the Major in Accounting:

Completion of forty hours as follows:

(1) thirty-seven hours from the following courses: Accounting 211, 341, 342, 345, 351, 352, 411, 412, 425 and 480; Business 372, 448, and 449; and Finance 321.

(2) three hours from Business 331, 338, 348, and 376.

Requirements for the Major in Finance:

Completion of forty hours as follows:

(1) twenty-two hours from the following courses, all of which are required: Accounting 211, 341, 345 and 425; Business 372, 448 and 449; and Finance 321;

(2) three hours from Business 331, 338, 348, and 376.

(3) fifteen hours from the following courses: Accounting 342; Finance 411, 430, 435, 440, 442, 445, and 480.

Requirements for the Minor in Business:

Completion of eighteen hours as follows:

(1) twelve hours from the following courses, all of which are required: Accounting 211, 345; Finance 321; and Business 372.

(2) six hours from Business 331, 338, 348, 376, and certain approved Accounting 480 and Finance 480 courses. Students may not take both Business 331 and 348 for credit.

Accounting

211. Accounting Principles
Introduction to the basic concepts and methodology of financial accounting, with emphasis on the analysis and recording of business data, and the preparation and use of corporate financial statements. Offered every semester.
(3/0/3) GONZÁLEZ, KEENAN, RICHARDSON

280. Selected Topics in Accounting
Selected topics in Accounting at the introductory or intermediate level.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

341. Cost Accounting I
Introduction to managerial accounting, with emphasis on management use of accounting data for planning, budgeting, and decision making. Prerequisite: Accounting 211. Offered every semester.
(3/0/3) GONZÁLEZ

342. Cost Accounting II
A continued study of current cost accounting issues. Topics include manufacturing costs, cost accounting trends, and analysis and interpretation of managerial accounting data. Prerequisite: Accounting 341. Offered fall semester.
(3/0/3) GONZÁLEZ

345. Accounting Information Systems
A study of the information systems which assist an organization in meeting its objectives efficiently and effectively. The course includes an overview of the purpose, design, and use of specific systems. Prerequisite: Account 211. Offered spring semester.
(3/0/3) RICHARDSON

351. Intermediate Accounting I
In-depth study of financial accounting theory and practice primarily related to assets. Prerequisite: Grade of C or higher in Accounting 211. Offered fall semester.
(3/0/3) GONZÁLEZ, KEENAN

352. Intermediate Accounting II
In-depth study of financial accounting theory and practice primarily related to liabilities and stockholders' equity. Prerequisites: Accounting 351, Finance 321. Offered spring semester.
(3/0/3) GONZÁLEZ, KEENAN

411. Advanced Accounting
Study of accounting entities such as multi-national enterprises, partnerships, not-for-profit and governmental organizations, and consolidated corporations. Prerequisite: Accounting 351. Offered fall semester.
(3/0/3) GONZÁLEZ

412. Auditing
Theory of auditing, using generally accepted auditing standards. Additional emphasis on practical applications of auditing techniques. Prerequisite: Accounting 351. Offered spring semester.
(3/0/3) GONZÁLEZ

425. Income Tax Concepts and Decision Making
Theory and practice of federal income taxation of individuals and businesses, with an emphasis on decision making. Prerequisite: Accounting 311. Offered each semester.
(3/0/3) KEENAN

480. Advanced Topics in Accounting
Topics and credit may vary from year to year. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Offered on occasional basis.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

Business

280. Selected Topics in Business
A study of selected topics in business at an intermediate level. Offered on an occasional basis.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

331. Management
A study of management, including such major topics as performance, worker productivity, social responsibilities, managerial skills, organizational theory, and strategy. Both historical and contemporary examples are used to illustrate important concepts. The course contains a significant writing component that is used to analyze current issues in management. Students may not receive credit for both Business 331 and Business 348. Offered spring semester.
(3/0/3) PERRY, RICHARDSON

338. Marketing
A study of basic marketing concepts. Topics include product, price, promotion and distribution strategies, and analysis of market information and buying behavior. Offered fall semester.
(3/0/3) GREEN, PERRY

348. Small Business Management
A practical course designed to familiarize the student with the application of economic and managerial techniques of small business. These techniques include entrepreneurship and start-up, location analysis, forms of ownership, franchising, valuation of existing businesses, financing alternatives, accounting practices, marketing and advertising methods, and inventory control. An important feature of the course is the creation of a business plan for an existing or potential business by students. Prerequisite: Finance 210. Students may not receive credit for both Business 348 and Business 311. Offered alternately fall and spring semester.
(3/0/3) PERRY

372. Business Law
A study of the contracts, uniform commercial code, and the legal environment of business. This course is cross-listed as Economics 372.
(3/0/3) FORT

376. Collaborative Problem-Solving
Students are assigned to teams to solve actual organizational problems. The instructor assists in team-building and oversees students' projects. Students are responsible for much of their scheduling, assignments, and follow-up. Each team presents its results at the end of the project. Open first to students majoring in Accounting and Finance, then to other interested students if space is available. Offered on occasional basis.

448. Business and the Liberal Arts
This is a capstone course required of students majoring in Accounting or Finance, but open to other interested students on a space-available basis. It treats business in a liberal arts context, relating key concepts to ideas from the humanities, social sciences, and sciences. Its focus is on strategic management and on the mature analysis and expression of issues. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor for students not majoring in Finance. Offered every semester.
(3/0/3) PROCTOR

449. Business Strategy Game
The Business Strategy Game is an online exercise in which student teams run an athletic footwear company in competition against companies run by other class members. Company operations parallel those of actual athletic footwear companies. Just as in actual practice, companies compete in a global market arena, selling branded and private-label athletic footwear in four geographic regions — Europe, Africa, North America, Asia-Pacific, and Latin America. The course meets weekly to review industry and company results.
(1/0/1) PERRY

480. Advanced Topics in Business
Topics and credit may vary from year to year. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. Offered on occasional basis.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

Finance

210. Personal Finance
A study of personal financial matters in preparation for a lifetime of personal financial management. Topics to be studied include goal setting; spending; saving, borrowing and investing; risk management and insurance; taxes; planning for retirement. (This course is for elective credits only. It does not satisfy any requirements for the Accounting or Finance majors.) Offered every semester.
(3/0/3) STAFF
280. Selected Topics in Finance
This listing covers a variety of topics. Ordinarily, these offerings require few, if any, prerequisites and do not count toward fulfillment of the Finance major. Offered on occasional basis.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

321. Business Finance
A study of the fundamental concepts in financial management, including present value, stock and bond valuation, financial analysis and forecasting, capital budgeting, and long-term financing alternatives. Prerequisite: Accounting 211, Mathematics 140. Offered every semester.
(3/0/3) FORBES, GREEN, RICHARDSON, SWICEGOOD

411. Investments
A study of investment alternatives such as stocks, bonds, options, and futures, and of the markets which provide for trading in these instruments. Modern portfolio theory is studied and applied using groups of investment possibilities. Using a computer software package, students construct several portfolios and track their performance throughout the semester. Prerequisite: Finance 321. Offered fall semester.
(3/0/3) FORBES, SWICEGOOD

420. Cases in Finance
A study of advanced topics in finance, particularly corporate finance, using the business case methodology. Prerequisite: Finance 321. Offered fall semester.
(3/0/3) GREEN, SWICEGOOD

430. Capital Budgeting
A study of methods used to discriminate among investments in long-term assets, assuming that limited resources are available. Applications relying on present value, statistics, and probability theory are used for long-lived assets, leases, and securities portfolios. Analyses are augmented by using an electronic spreadsheet. Prerequisite: Finance 321. Offered every semester.
(3/0/3) FORBES, PROCTOR

435. Real Estate Analysis
An introduction to real estate analyses emphasizing discounted cash flow methods, financing alternatives, tax implications, and uncertainty. Prerequisite: Finance 321. Offered fall semester.
(3/0/3) SWICEGOOD

440. International Finance
A course covering the essentials of international finance, including international portfolio analysis, capital markets, investment instruments, and contemporary geopolitical events affecting foreign investments. Prerequisite: Finance 321. Offered fall semester.
(3/0/2) FORBES, SWICEGOOD

445. Financial Statement Analysis
A study of the basic techniques, research methods, and strengths and limitations of financial statement analysis. Students will review financial data to predict earnings and financial ratios, as well as techniques to value equity securities and to predict takeover targets, debt ratings, and bankruptcies. Prerequisites: Accounting 211 and Finance 321. Offered fall semester.
(3/0/3) FORBES, SWICEGOOD

480. Advanced Topics in Finance
These vary from offering to offering and may be used as partial fulfillment of the requirements of the Finance major. Prerequisite: Finance 321 or permission of instructor. Offered on occasional basis.

African/African American Studies

GERALD A. GINOCCHIO, JIM NEIGHBORS, Coordinators

The program in African/African American Studies is an interdisciplinary course of study in the rich history and culture of Africa and the descendants of Africa in America. Working across disciplines and departments, the program will integrate courses from Art History, English, History, Philosophy, Religion, Sociology, and Theatre, and will culminate in an independent capstone project.

The program in African/African American Studies is not a major. Courses applied toward requirements for African/African American Studies also may be counted for other programs, majors, or minors. Subject to approval by the coordinators, courses taken during the Interim period may be counted toward satisfying program requirements. Successful completion of the program will be noted on the transcript and on the program for commencement exercises.

Program Requirements:

18 hours (six three-hour courses) as follows:

1. One theory course: Either English 411, African American Literature, or Sociology 240, Race and Ethnic Relations.

2. Four more courses from the following list, with not more than two, including the theory course, from the same department.

   Art 241. African Art: Gender, Power, and Life-Cycle Ritual
   English 411. African American Literature
   History 307. History of the American South to the Civil War
   History 308. History of the American South since the Civil War
   History 316. Topics in African-American History
      (American Slavery and The American Civil Rights Movement have been the most recent offerings.)
   Philosophy 331. African Philosophy
   Religion 480. Black Theology and Ethics
   Religion 481. Religion in the American South
   Sociology 240. Race and Ethnic Relations
   Sociology 305. The Sociological Wisdom of Martin Luther King, Jr.
   Sociology 306. The Sociological Lessons of the Life and Times of Malcolm X
   Theatre 480. African American Drama

3. The senior Capstone Project.

448. Capstone Project: African/African American Studies
   Designed by the student, the Capstone Project combines an understanding of African/African American theory with interdisciplinary study in two disciplines of the student's choice. Often the project will take the form of a traditional research paper (20-30 pages), but works of fiction or drama, field studies, multi-media presentations, or other formats are acceptable, subject to the coordinators' approval. Projects other than research papers must be accompanied by a bibliography of sources and a 5-10 page statement explaining goals, results, and research methods. Students will defend their final project before a committee of three faculty members, consisting normally of two teaching courses in the African/African American Studies program and one outside reader; these defenses will be open to the Wofford community. Prerequisite: Permission of the coordinators.

Biology

GEORGE W. SHIFLET, JR., Chair
CLARENCE L. ABERCROMBIE, GEORGE R. DAVIS, JR., LEE ANN FREDERICK, ELLEN S. GOLDEY, STACEY HETTES, DAVID I. KUSHER, JOHN F. MOELLER, ROBERT E. MOSS, DOUGLAS A. RAYNER

Requirements for the Major:

Thirty-eight semester hours as follows: Biology 111, 113, 212, and 214, plus six advanced courses chosen in consultation with the Department Chair. Two of these may be three-hour, non-laboratory courses. No more than two three-hour courses in Biology may be counted toward the major. No student planning to major in Biology should take advanced courses before completing 111, 113, 212, and 214.

In the junior year, performance to the satisfaction of the Biology faculty on a comprehensive examination is required.

As related work, eight hours of laboratory courses in another science are required for the B.S. degree. Chemistry 104, Geology 104, Physics 104, and Psychology 104 do not contribute to this requirement.

Students majoring in Biology may concentrate in Neuroscience. Administered by the departments of Biology and Psychology, the Neuroscience Concentration is an interdisciplinary examination of the nervous system and its regulation of behavior. Completion of the concentration will be noted on the transcript. By carefully selecting courses, students may complete both the major in Biology and the concentration in Neuroscience. Many of the required courses count toward both the major in Biology and the concentration in Neuroscience. For requirements see the section of the Catalogue on Neuroscience.

Students majoring in Biology may obtain an Emphasis in Computational Science. The interdisciplinary field of computational science applies computer science and mathematics to biology and the other sciences. For requirements, see the Catalogue section on Computational Science.

Students in the Teacher Education Program who are seeking to complete licensure requirements to teach Biology in secondary schools should refer to the Teacher Education Handbook and consult with the Chairs of the Biology and Education Departments to review the extent to which departmental and teacher preparation requirements differ and to develop plans for meeting both.

104. Biology: Concepts and Method

Study of topics selected to introduce students to basic concepts in biology and to the scientific method. Does not count toward a major in Biology or toward science requirements for the B.S. degree.

(3/3/4) STAFF

111. Introductory Animal Biology

Usually the first course taken in the major, student learning goals for this course include fostering an understanding of evolutionary relationships among species, laying a strong foundation in animal anatomy and physiology, honing observation and dissection skills, and developing effective study habits and collaborative working techniques. The content includes introductory level coverage of cell function, embryology, and the physiological, physiological and morphology of protists and animals.

(3/3/4) GOLDEY, KUSHER

113. Introduction to Plants and the Ecosystem

Study of the structure and function of vascular plants, with an emphasis on flowering plants. Also an introduction to major ecological principles, especially at the levels of the community and the ecosystem.

(3/3/4) RAYNER

212. Introduction to Genetics and Development

Study of the basic concepts of heredity and the roles of DNA and other macromolecules in the function of cells and organisms. This course will focus on inheritance at biochemical, organismal, and population levels.

(3/3/4) FREDERICK, MOSS

214. Introduction to Molecular and Cell Biology

Study of the structure and function of biological systems at the cellular level as well as the development of multicellular organisms.

(3/3/4) STAFF

250. Introduction to Research

Projects designed to introduce students to research and to critical reading of original research.

(Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) STAFF

280. Selected topics in Biology

Selected topics in Biology at the introductory or intermediate level.

(Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) STAFF

324. Microbiology

Study of the biology of microorganisms, with emphasis on bacteria and viruses.

(3/3/4) G. SHIFLET

331. Developmental Biology

Study of the biological mechanisms driving organismal development, the process by which complex organisms are formed from single cells. Includes a description of early embryonic development from fertilization through formation of the nervous system.

(3/0/3) DAVIS

332. Developmental Biology

Identical in content to Biology 331 but has a laboratory component.

(3/3/3) DAVIS

340. Human Anatomy and Development

Designed for students interested in human healthcare professions, a system-by-system approach to understanding the anatomy of the human body. Lecture material is supplemented with computer imaging and comparative laboratory dissection.

(3/3/4) GOLDEY

342. Human Physiology

Study of the leading ideas and concepts of the physiology of animals, with emphasis on human systems.

(3/3/4) DAVIS, MOELLER
344. Mammalian Histology
Microscopic study of the cellular structure of tissues and organs.
(3/3/4) DAVIS

370. Field Biology
Introduction to the natural history of selected groups of native animals and plants. Emphasis on techniques for field capture and identification of animals and collection and identification of non-vascular plants.
(3/3/4) RAYNER

372. Field Botany
Introduction to the vascular plants and plant communities of South Carolina, including ecology and natural history, use of dichotomous keys in identification, and field recognition of plants and plant communities.
(3/3/4) RAYNER

374. Living Mammals of the World
Study of the anatomical, physiological, and demographic characteristics that make mammals important ecological actors in a variety of natural systems. Topics may include evolutionary origins of living mammals, and Order by Order review of the Class, and contemporary problems of mammal conservation.
(3/0/3) ABERCROMBIE

382. Ecology
Study of the environmental interactions that determine the distribution and abundance of organisms. Ecological principles discussed at the level of the organism, the population, the community, and the ecosystem. To prepare students for graduate study, a research project and paper are required.
(3/3/4) GOLDEY, RAYNER

383. Ecotoxicology
Ecotoxicology examines the effect of environmental contaminants on individuals, populations, communities, and ecosystems. The course examines how governments influence toxicological issues facing the nation and world today and in the future.
(3/0/3) KUSHER

385. Marine Biology
Study of the physical and biological components marine ecosystems, with an emphasis on the diversity of organisms and their ecological adaptations to the sea.
(3/0/3) KUSHER

386. Freshwater Biology
Study of the physical and biological attributes of freshwater ecosystems. The course examines the biological communities of a variety of aquatic systems and the lab provides students with experience in field work.
(3/3/4) KUSHER

399. Evolution
Introduction to the facts and theories of biological evolution. Topics include historical overview, evidence for evolution, evolutionary genetics, adaptation and natural selection, evolution of diversity, the fossil record, and extinction.
(3/0/3) RAYNER

421. Human Genetics
Study of the principles of genetics, using the human as the primary organism.
(3/0/3) FREDERICK, MOSS

423. Immunology
A concise but comprehensive and up-to-date introduction to immunology.
(3/0/3) MOSS

433. Advanced Topics in Cell Biology
Study of the mechanisms of life on the cellular level. Topics may include cell metabolism, enzyme mechanisms and regulation, cell-cell communication, and inborn errors of metabolism.
(3/0/3) G. SHIFLET

436. Advanced Topics in Molecular Biology
Study of the mechanisms of life on the molecular level. Topics include gene cloning and analysis of biotechnology, control of gene expression, control of cell division, and the molecular basis of cancer. In the laboratory, students use modern technologies including DNA fingerprinting, Southern blot, gene cloning, and PCR.
(3/3/4) MOSS

440. Comparative Anatomy
A phylogenetic approach to the study of animal anatomy with emphasis on extensive comparative dissection of representative vertebrate species.
(3/3/4) GOLDEY

445. Neurobiology
Study of the structure and function of the nervous system from subcellular to systems levels with emphasis on the experimental foundation of modern principles.
(3/0/3) DAVIS, HETTES

446. Research
Original research in an area of student's interest. Prerequisite: Biology 250 (Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) STAFF

450. Advanced Topics in Biology
Topics of special interest, special need, or special content.
(Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) STAFF

493. Case Studies in Public Health
Using a case study format and self-directed learning, students in this course will consider important local, national, and international public health issues.
(3/0/3) G. SHIFLET

495. Case Studies in Biomedicine
(3/0/3) G. SHIFLET

497. Environmental Case Studies
This course in biology challenges students to consider the many environmental issues that confront us locally, nationally, and internationally. A case study format will be used to provide students with a practical approach to environmental problems.
(3/0/3) KUSHER, G. SHIFLET

Honors Courses and In-Course Honors
The Department of Biology encourages its students to undertake honors work. For further information, the student is referred to the sections on Honors Courses and In-Course Honors in this Catalogue.
Chemistry

JAMEICA B. HILL, Chair
CALEB A. AREINGTON, CHARLES G. BASS, RAMIN RADifar, BRYAN G. SPLAWN, T. CHRISTOPHER WAIDNER, DAVID M. WHISNANT

In order to allow flexibility in the major and to provide for differing professional goals, the Chemistry Department offers two major tracks. The Pre-Professional Chemistry Track of 37 semester hours is for students who plan to do graduate work leading to the M.S. or Ph.D. degree in chemistry or who plan to become industrial chemists. It is designed to conform to the criteria recommended by the American Chemical Society for undergraduate professional education in chemistry. The Liberal Arts Chemistry Track of 33 semester hours in Chemistry and four in Biology (other than Biology 104) provides more flexibility in selecting courses within the major and in taking elective courses in other departments. It is designed to give a sound foundation in chemistry for students pursuing medically related careers.

Students majoring in Chemistry may obtain an Emphasis in Computational Science. The interdisciplinary field of computational science applies computer science and mathematics to chemistry and the other sciences. For requirements, see the Catalogue section on Computational Science.

Corequisites for the Major:
Physics 121 and 122, or 141 and 142, or 173; Mathematics 181, 182.

Requirements for the Major:
Chemistry 123-124, 203-204, 203L-204L, 214-214L, 313, 313L.
Participation in departmental seminars in junior and senior years.

Additional Requirements for the Pre-Professional Track:
Chemistry 314 and 314L; 323 and 323L; 411 and 411L; 421 and 421L, and one additional chemistry course with the laboratory component or four hours of chemistry research. Students majoring in Chemistry who plan to do graduate work in chemistry are strongly advised to take Mathematics 210 and to acquire a reading knowledge of German.

Additional Requirements for the Liberal Arts Track:
Chemistry 309 and 309L; 308 and 308L, or 314 and 314L, or 323 and 323L; 421 and 421L, or 411 and 411L, and one four-hour Biology course (other than Biology 104). Pre-medical and pre-dental students must take at least three Biology courses to meet admission requirements of most professional schools.

104. Chemistry: Concepts and Method
A study of topics selected to introduce students to basic concepts in chemistry and to the scientific method. Does not count toward a major in Chemistry or toward science requirements for the B.S. degree.
(3/3/4) STAFF

203-204. Organic Chemistry
A study of the major classes of organic compounds, with emphasis on structure and mechanisms. Prerequisite: Chemistry 123-124. Corequisites: Chemistry 203L-204L.
(3/0/3) each course BASS, WAIDNER

203L-204L. Organic Chemistry Lab
A study of the techniques of organic chemistry built around examples provided in the lecture courses (203-204). Emphasis will be on laboratory set-ups, distillation, extraction, recrystallization, chromatographic separations, and spectroscopic analysis (particular attention will be paid to simple IR and NMR analysis). Prerequisite: Chemistry 124. Corequisite: Chemistry 203-204.
(0/3/1) each semester BASS, WAIDNER

214. Introductory Analytical Chemistry
Fundamental theories and techniques of quantitative chemical analysis. Prerequisite: Chemistry 124. Corequisite: Chemistry 214L.
(3/0/3) SPLAWN

214L. Introductory Analytical Chemistry Lab
Application of classical procedures for specific determinations. Includes volumetric, gravimetric, and common electroanalytical chemical techniques. Prerequisite: Chemistry 124. Corequisite: Chemistry 214.
(0/3/1) SPLAWN

250. Introduction to Research
Elementary investigations in chemistry for students who wish to begin research early in their undergraduate studies. A student may earn a maximum of 4 semester hours in Chemistry 250. Prerequisite: Chemistry 123-124 or permission of the department faculty.
(0/3/1) STAFF

280. Selected Topics in Chemistry
Group or individual study of selected topics in chemistry at an intermediate level. Intended for non-chemists as well as students majoring in Chemistry. Specific topics vary with student interest and are announced one semester in advance. (Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) STAFF

308. Biotechnology
This course is designed to provide knowledge and skills of biochemical processes and their application to industrial chemistry and microbiology. Prerequisite: Chemistry 204.
(3/0/3) RADifar

308L. Biotechnology Lab
The lab exercises in this course have been selected to provide practical experience in biochemical processes and their application to industrial chemistry, microbiology, and use of microorganisms for biological synthesis.
(0/3/1) RADifar

309. Biochemistry
A rigorous introduction to modern biochemistry with an emphasis on the molecular basis of cellular structure and biological function. A thorough treatment of physicochemical properties of informational macromolecules is employed to provide a sound basis for the study of bioenergetics and metabolic organization. Prerequisite: Chemistry 204. Corequisite: Chemistry 309L.
(3/0/3) RADifar

309L. Biochemistry Laboratory

The lab exercises in this course have been selected to provide practical experience in protein chemistry and in chromatographic and electrophoretic separation, and to emphasize the basic principles of biochemistry. Corequisite: Chemistry 309.

(0/3/1) RADFAHR

313. Physical Chemistry I

A study of the laws and theories of thermodynamics applied to chemical systems presented from a modern perspective. Theories describe the behavior of energy, heat, work, entropy, reaction spontaneity and equilibrium; equations of state, and phase diagrams. Prerequisites: Chemistry 214; Physics 121 and 122, or 141 and 142, or 173; Mathematics 181, 182. Corequisite: Chemistry 313L.

(3/0/3) C. ARRINGTON

313L. Physical Chemistry I Laboratory

This course provides a laboratory study of chemical kinetics using both modern experimental techniques and computer-aided calculations and simulations. Along with understanding the measurements of chemical reaction rates from both theoretical and experimental perspectives, the course focuses on methods for the statistical treatment of experimental data. Prerequisites: Chemistry 214, Physics 121 and 122, or 141 and 142, or 173; Mathematics 181, 182. Corequisite: Chemistry 313.

(0/3/1) C. ARRINGTON

314. Physical Chemistry II

An introduction to quantum chemistry focusing on the postulates and models of quantum mechanics as they apply to atoms and molecules. Prerequisites: Chemistry 214, Physics 121 and 122, or 141 and 142, or 173; Mathematics 181, 182.

(3/0/3) C. ARRINGTON

314L. Physical Chemistry II Laboratory

This laboratory engages in an experimental study of selected aspects of physical chemistry, with emphasis on experimentation relevant to the field of quantum chemistry. Topics in the course include laser operation, optical spectroscopy, and quantum computational methods. Prerequisites: Chemistry 214, Physics 121 and 122, or 141 and 142, or 173; Mathematics 181 and 182. Corequisite: Chemistry 314.

(0/3/1) C. ARRINGTON

323. Inorganic Chemistry

A survey of inorganic chemistry with emphasis on the periodicity of the elements and development of the modern theories of the relationships of chemical behavior and structure. Prerequisite: Chemistry 313.

(3/0/3) HILL

323L. Inorganic Chemistry Lab

Synthesis and characterization of organometallic, coordination, bioorganic, and solid state compounds. This laboratory component includes inert atmosphere techniques, vibrational spectroscopy, NMR spectroscopy, and electrochemistry. Corequisite: Chemistry 323.

(0/3/1) HILL

360. Chemical Information Retrieval

An introduction to the retrieval of information from commercial online databases in chemistry, including STN, Dialog, and the World Wide Web. Emphasis is placed on the content and scope of these databases and on the development of effective search strategies. The goal of the course is to provide students with the tools, including the computer skills, necessary to conduct independent literature searches for courses and research. Students also learn how to make effective computer-assisted presentations. This course is graded pass/fail. Prerequisite: Chemistry 204.

(1/0/1) D. WHISNANT

411. Instrumental Analysis

A study of the theories employed in analytical instrumentation. The application of instruments for methods in absorption and emission spectroscopy, gas chromatography, mass spectroscopy, radioisotopes, electrophoretic measurements, and separations will be emphasized. Prerequisite: Chemistry 314.

(3/0/3) SPLAWN

411L. Instrumental Analysis Laboratory

Application of instrumental procedures for specific determinations. Includes gas chromatography, mass spectroscopy, UV-Vis spectroscopy, IR spectroscopy, electrochemical measurements, and thermal analysis. Prerequisite: Chemistry 314. Corequisite: Chemistry 411.

(0/3/1) SPLAWN

421. Advanced Organic Chemistry

A study of the structure, synthesis, and behavior of organic compounds based on electronic structure. Concepts learned in basic organic will be extrapolated to more modern approaches to organic chemistry. Prerequisite: Chemistry 204.

(3/0/3) BASS, WAIDNER

421L. Advanced Organic Chemistry Laboratory

This course is designed to provide the student with a thorough introduction to the experimental techniques utilized by practicing chemists in the synthesis, isolation, and characterization of organic compounds. Prerequisite: Chemistry 204.

(0/3/1) BASS

450. Senior Research

Guided original research in the field of a student's interest. Introduction to basic principles of library and laboratory research leading to a solution of the problem and a written report. A student may earn a maximum of four semester hours in Chemistry 450. Prerequisites: Permission of instructor and Department Chair.

(0/6/2) STAFF

480. Advanced Topics in Chemistry

Group or individual study of special topics in chemistry at an advanced level. Topics vary with student interest, but are selected from an advanced area of analytical, organic, inorganic, physical, or biochemistry, and are announced one semester in advance. Prerequisites: Introductory course in area of study and permission of instructor. (Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) STAFF

Honors Courses, In-Course Honors, and Research

Students majoring in Chemistry are encouraged to participate in the honors programs and research opportunities available in the department. For further information see Chemistry 250 and Chemistry 450 in the course descriptions above and the section on Honors Courses and In-Course Honors in this Catalogue, or consult the department Chair.
Communication Studies

LINDA POWERS, Coordinator
VIVIAN B. FISHER, DENO P. TRAKAS, CAROL B. WILSON

A major in Communication Studies is not available at Wofford, but the courses offered provide background, training, and experience in communication skills and disciplines which are among those most essential in professional life, community service, and personal development.

The courses in Communication, listed below, are part of the curriculum offered by the Department of English. They are listed also in the English section of this chapter.

Computational Science

ANGELA B. SHIFLET, Coordinator

Computational Science, an interdisciplinary field at the intersection of science, computer science, and mathematics, combines simulation, visualization, mathematical modeling, programming, data structures, networking database design, symbolic computation, and high performance computing with various scientific disciplines. Students who complete a major in Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics, Physics, or Psychology and meet requirements for the B.S. degree may obtain an Emphasis in Computational Science. The program is administered by the Computer Science Department. Completion of the Emphasis is noted on the student transcript.

Prerequisite for the Emphasis:
Mathematics 181.

Requirements for the Emphasis:
Computer Science 175, 235 with a grade of C or higher, 350 with a grade of C or higher, and 370 (see descriptions of these courses in the Catalogue section on Computer Science, which follows); completion of a major in Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics, Physics, or Psychology; and completion of the requirements for the B.S. degree. The student must also complete an internship involving computing in the sciences (no course credit). Before the internship, the student must complete at least two of the required Computer Science courses and submit a résumé. Interning full time for 10 weeks, the student is expected to work well, have good attendance, and keep a daily journal. After the internship, the student must submit a final report and a Web page describing the work, and must have a positive evaluation from the internship supervisor. The coordinator of the Emphasis on Computational Science must approve the internship and all required materials.

Computer Science

ANGELA B. SHIFLET, Chair
JOSEPH D. SLOAN, DAVID A. SYKES, DANIEL W. WELCH

The Department, which offers a major and a minor in Computer Science, has a variety of courses to help students acquire the knowledge, experience, and skills to use a computer as an effective tool for problem solving in many areas. Students completing the major in Computer Science may qualify for either the B.A. degree or the B.S. degree, depending upon how they meet the college’s natural science requirement. The department also offers an Emphasis in Computational Science for students majoring in Biology, Chemistry, Mathematics, Physics, or Psychology (see Catalogue section on Computational Science) and an Emphasis in Information Management for students majoring in Accounting, Business Economics, Economics, Finance, or Intercultural Studies for Business (see Catalogue section on Information Management).
Requirements for the Major:

Computer Science: 235 with a grade of C or higher, 350 with a grade of C or higher, 351, 410, two other Computer Science courses at the 300- and/or 400- level, and Physics 203.

Mathematics: Mathematics 181, 182, 220, 235; Mathematics 481 or Computer Science 340; and at least one of Mathematics 140, 320, 330, 421, or Computer Science 175.

Philosophy: Philosophy 218.

Requirements for the Minor:
The minor requires completion of six 3- or 4-hour courses as follows: Computer Science 235 and 350 each with grades of C or higher, Mathematics 235, and three additional Computer Science courses at least one of which must be numbered 300 or higher. (Computer Science 101 may not be used to meet these requirements. Physics 203 is considered to be a Computer Science course and may be used to meet this requirement.)

101. Introduction to Computers
   An introduction to the general field of data processing and to the capabilities of computers. Emphasis is placed on working with e-mail, the Internet, Web pages, development, word processing, electronic spreadsheets, and databases.
   (3/0/3) STAFF

115. Introduction to Web Authoring
   An introduction to effective communications using Web technology. No programming background is required. This course focuses on the technologies and tools, including XHTML, CSS, and JavaScript, that facilitate the construction of interesting and effective Web sites.
   (3/0/3) SYKES

175. Modeling and Simulation for the Sciences
   An introduction to modeling and simulation as part of the interdisciplinary field of computational science. Large, open-ended scientific problems often require the algorithms and techniques of discrete and continuous computational modeling and Monte Carlo simulation. Students learn fundamental concepts and implementation of algorithms in various scientific programming environments. Throughout, applications in the sciences are emphasized. Cross-listed as Mathematics 175.
   (3/0/3) A. SHIFLET, SYKES

235. Programming and Problem Solving
   Students learn to develop programs using an object-oriented language. Students are introduced to problem solving and algorithm development with emphasis on good programming style. Completion of this course with a C or higher is a prerequisite for all 300- and 400-level courses in Computer Science.
   (3/0/3) A. SHIFLET, SLOAN, SYKES

270. Independent Study in Computer Science
   Independent study of selected topics in Computer Science at an intermediate level. It is intended for students who do not plan to major in Computer Science as well as for those who do. Specific topics vary from semester to semester. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
   (1-3/0/1-3) A. SHIFLET, SLOAN, SYKES

280. Selected Topics in Computer Science
   A course in the study of selected topics in Computer Science at an intermediate level. It is intended for students who do not plan to major in Computer Science as well as for those who do. Specific topics vary from semester to semester. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor. (Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) STAFF

310. Computer Graphics
   An introduction to computer graphics. Particular emphasis is placed on the algorithms used to produce 2D and 3D graphics with a computer. Topics include graphics devices, polygons, drawing tools, vectors, transformations, 3D viewing, polygonal meshes, lighting, and shading models. Prerequisites: Mathematics 181 and C or higher in Computer Science 235.
   (3/0/3) A. SHIFLET, SLOAN

315. Computer Networks
   An introduction to computer networks including network architecture, communication protocols, algorithms, and the current state of technology used to implement computer networks. Prerequisites: Physics 203 and C or higher in Computer Science 235.
   (3/0/3) SLOAN, WELCH

320. Programming Languages
   A comparative study of high-level programming languages, including study of the design, evaluation, and implementation of such languages. Emphasis is placed on the ways in which such languages deal with the fundamentals of programming. Prerequisites: C or higher in Computer Science 235 and in Physics 208, or C or higher in Computer Science 235.
   (3/0/3) STAFF

330. Introduction to Databases
   A study of data models, including relational, object-oriented, hierarchical, and network models. Topics include the theory of normal forms, database design, query languages, and implementation of databases. Prerequisite: C or higher in Computer Science 235.
   (3/0/3) SYKES

335. Advanced Web Programming
   An advanced study of the design and programming of web pages. Topics include commercial web sites, programming in languages, such as HTML, JavaScript, ASP, and SQL; programming web interfaces to databases; e-commerce; web design concepts; and computer security. Prerequisite: C or higher in Computer Science 235 or 350.
   (3/0/3) LAWTON, SYKES

340. Theory of Computation
   A study of formal models of computation such as finite state automata, push-down automata, and Turing machines, along with the corresponding elements of formal languages. These models are used to provide a mathematical basis for the study of computability and to provide an introduction to the formal theory behind compiler construction. Prerequisites: Mathematics 181 and C or higher in Computer Science 350.
   (3/0/3) A. SHIFLET, SLOAN, SYKES

350. Data Structures
   An introduction to the formal study of data structures, such as arrays, stacks, queues, lists, and trees, along with algorithm design and analysis of efficiency. Prerequisite: C or higher in Computer Science 235.
   (3/0/3) A. SHIFLET, SLOAN, SYKES
351. Advanced Data Structures
Advanced data structures, advanced object-oriented programming concepts, and advanced program design principles. Prerequisites: Mathematics 235 and C or higher in Computer Science 350.
(3/0/3) A. SHIFLET, SLOAN, SYKES

360. Operating Systems
A study of fundamental concepts that are applicable to a variety of operating systems.
Such concepts include processes and threads, process coordination and synchronization, scheduling, physical and virtual memory organization, device management, file systems, security and protection, communications and networking. Prerequisite: C or higher in Computer Science 350.
(3/0/3) A. SHIFLET, SLOAN, SYKES

370. Computational Science: Data and Visualization
An introduction to data and visualization, part of the interdisciplinary field of computational science. The course contains a brief introduction to the network environment and the UNIX operating system. Because large Web-accessible databases are becoming prevalent for storing scientific information, the course covers the concepts and development of distributed relational databases. Effective visualization of data helps scientists extract information and communicate results. Students will learn fundamental concepts, tools, and algorithms of computer graphics and scientific visualization in three dimensions. Throughout, applications in the sciences are emphasized. Prereq-site: C or higher in Computer Science 235.
(3/0/3) A. SHIFLET, SLOAN

410. Software Engineering
A study of software engineering through a project-oriented approach. The emphasis is on the specification, organization, implementation, testing, and documentation of software. Students work in groups on various software projects. Prerequisite: C or higher in Computer Science 350.
(3/0/3) A. SHIFLET, SLOAN, SYKES

470. Advanced Independent Study in Computer Science Independent study of selected topics in Computer Science at an advanced level. Specific topics vary from semester to semester. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
(Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) A. SHIFLET, SLOAN, SYKES

480. Advanced Topics in Computer Science
A study of selected topics in Computer Science at an advanced level. Specific topics vary from semester to semester. Prerequisite: Permission of the instructor.
(Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) A. SHIFLET, SLOAN, SYKES

Creative Writing
JOHN E. LANE, DENO P. TRAKAS, Coordinators
ELIZABETH COX, C. MICHAEL CURTIS, MARK A. FERGUSON

The Creative Writing courses listed below are open, with permission of instructor, to any student. They may also be used to fulfill certain requirements for the major in English, the Creative Writing concentration in the English major, and the minor in Creative Writing. For requirements of these programs and for descriptions of the courses listed below, see the section on English in this chapter of the Catalogue.

The Creative Writing courses are as follows:
English 371. Short Story Workshop
English 372. Advanced Short Story Workshop
English 373. Poetry Workshop
English 374. Advanced Poetry Workshop
English 375. The Art of the Personal Essay
English 376. Playwriting Workshop
English 377. Advanced Playwriting Workshop
English 378. Novella Workshop

Economics
JOHN R. MCARTHUR, Chair
KATERINA ANDREWS, JOHN K. FORT, FRANK M. MACHOVEC, TIMOTHY
D. TERRELL, RICHARD M. WALLACE

Two separate major programs are offered: Economics and Business Economics. For either major, students have a choice of receiving the B.A. degree or the B.S. degree (depending upon how they meet the college's natural science requirement). Students may major in both Economics and Accounting, or in both Economics and Finance. Students may not major in both Business Economics and Economics, or Finance, or Accounting, or Intercultural Studies for Business.

Any student who has twice failed a course listed as an Economics/Business Economics major prerequisite may appeal to be exempted from that prereq-site. The student must request before the end of the drop-add period of the subsequent semester that the faculty of the Department of Economics review the appeal. The Department faculty's decision is final.

Students majoring in Economics and Business Economics may obtain an Emphasis in Information Management. The interdisciplinary field of information management applies computer science to business. For requirements, see the Catalogue section on Information Management.
Prerequisites for the Major in Economics or Business Economics:
Mathematics 140, either Mathematics 160 or 181, and a course in Computer Science.

Requirements for the Major in Economics:
Thirty-one semester hours as follows: Economics 201 and 202 each with grades of C- or higher; Economics 301, 302 and 450; and 15 additional hours in Economics, six hours of which must be in writing intensive courses.

Students majoring in Economics who seek to complete licensure requirements to teach social studies in secondary schools should refer to the Teacher Education Handbook and consult with the Chairs of the Economics and Education Departments to plan for the related work they must do in History, Geography, Government, and Sociology.

Requirements for the Minor in Economics:
Fifteen semester hours as follows: Economics 201 and 202 each with grades of C- or higher; Economics 322; and two additional courses at the 300- or 400- level in Economics. The minor in Economics is not available to students majoring in Business Economics.

Requirements for the Major in Business Economics:
Thirty-one semester hours as follows: Economics 201 and 202 each with grades of C- or higher; Economics 301, 302, 372, and 450; Accounting 211 and 341; Finance 321; Business 449; one course chosen from Business 311, 332, 372; and 348; two additional courses in Economics, one of which must be writing intensive.

201. Principles of Microeconomics
An introduction to the economic way of thinking and a study of market processes. (3/0/3) STAFF

202. Principles of Macroeconomics
An introductory course in the economic analysis of the determination of income, employment, and inflation. It is recommended that Economics 201 be completed with a grade of C-minus or higher before attempting 202. (3/0/3) STAFF

280. Selected topics in Economics
Selected topics in Economics at the introductory or intermediate level. (1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

301. Microeconomic Theory
An intermediate-level course in the economic analysis of market processes. Prerequisites: Mathematics 160 or 181, and C-minus or higher in Economics 201. (3/0/3) McARTHUR

302. Macroeconomic Theory
An intermediate-level course in the economic analysis of the determination of income, employment, and inflation. Prerequisites: C-minus or higher in both Economics 201 and 202. (3/0/3) ANDREWS

311. Economic History of the United States
A historical treatment of the economic development of America from colonial times to the present. Prerequisites: C-minus or higher in both Economics 201 and 202. Writing intensive. (3/0/3) TERRELL

322. Money and Banking
A study of the relationship between money and the level of economic activity, commercial and central banking, credit control under the Federal Reserve System, and the theory and objectives of monetary policy. Prerequisites: C-minus or higher in both Economics 201 and 202. (3/0/3) MACHOVEC

332. Law and Economics
An economic analysis of Anglo-American legal institutions with emphasis on the economic function of the law of property, contract, and torts. Prerequisite: C-minus or higher in Economics 201. (3/0/3) WALLACE

333. Environmental Economics
The application of economic principles to explain the existence of environmental problems and to evaluate proposals for improving environmental amenities. Prerequisite: C-minus or higher in Economics 201. (3/0/3) McARTHUR

334. Economics of Property Rights
A study of private property rights, communal property, and open access resources from both an economic and legal perspective. Writing intensive. Prerequisite: C-minus or higher in Economics 201, or permission of instructors. (3/0/3) FORT AND WALLACE

336. Economics of Native Americans
A study of how American Indian institutions were shaped by their culture, traditions, environment, and changes in technology. Writing intensive. Prerequisite: C-minus or higher in Economics 201. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation. (3/0/3) McARTHUR

340. Economics of Medical Care
The application of economic theory to study the delivery of medical services in a managed care environment. Transactions between patients, medical care providers, and third party payers will be examined to show how profits are made, costs are covered, and contracts are written. Writing intensive. Prerequisite: C-minus or higher in Economics 201. (3/0/3) ANDREWS

372. Business Law
A study of the contracts, uniform commercial code, and the legal environment of business. Cross-listed as Business 372. (3/0/3) FORT

401. International Economics
Studies the impact of specialization and exchange on human well-being; evaluates the winners and losers when the U.S. raises or reduces its tariffs; examines the broader sociopolitical debate over globalization, especially the conflicting perspectives on the effects of international trade on child labor and the fabric of so-called “Third World” cultures. Offered in the spring of odd-numbered years. Prerequisites: B or higher in Economics 301 and C or higher in Mathematics 160 or 181. (3/0/3) MACHOVEC
402. International Macroeconomics
Survey of the forces that shape the U.S. international balance of payments. Impact of U.S. growth and U.S. inflation on domestic and foreign interest rates, imports, exports, the dollar's value in relation to foreign currencies, and the net flow of capital between the U.S. and other countries. Offered in the spring of even-numbered years. Prerequisite: Economics 302.
(3/0/3) MACHOVEC

412. Public Finance
A theoretical and institutional analysis of government expenditure, taxation, and debt, including economic analysis of government decision making and the distributional effects of alternative tax and subsidy techniques. Writing intensive. Prerequisite: Economics 301.
(3/0/3) TERRRELL

432. Managerial Economics
The application of economic analysis to the management problems of coordination, motivation, and incentives within organizations. Writing intensive. Prerequisite: Economics 301 and Mathematics 160 or 181.
(3/0/3) WALLACE

439. Mathematical Economics
A thoroughly interdisciplinary approach to mathematics and economics. Measures such as logarithms, derivatives, and integrals will be employed to interpret trends of phenomena such as consumer welfare, social costs, inflation, etc. The formulation of qualitative explanations (concise and simplified) of quantitative outcomes is the overarching objective of this course. Prerequisites: C or higher in Mathematics 160 or 181.
(3/0/3) WALLACE

440. History of Economic Thought
A study of the evolution of economic analysis, including a brief survey of the economic ideas of Aristotle, the scholastics, mercantilists, and physiocrats, and a more detailed study of the economic analysis of the classicists, Marxists, marginalists, and Keynesians. Prerequisites: C minus or higher in both Economics 201 and 202.
(3/0/3) TERRRELL

441. Comparative Economic Systems
Contrasts the nature and characteristics of a free-market economy against the centrally-orchestrated mechanisms of managed economies such as socialism/communism, fascism, and the so-called "crony mercantilism" that prevails in most of modern-day Africa, Latin America, and the Middle East. Writing intensive. Prerequisite: C or higher in Economics 201. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation.
(3/0/3) MACHOVEC

450. Senior Seminar
A capstone course required of all students in their last year of study completing the major in Business Economics or Economics. Microeconomic and macroeconomic case studies are used to reinforce and evaluate the student's understanding of the economic way of thinking.
(4/0/4) STAFF

470. Independent Study in Advanced Economics
Study of a specific topic in economics under the direction of a departmental faculty member. The readings, program of research, and written work to be undertaken by the student will be determined in consultation with the instructor. Prerequisites: Junior or senior standing and permission of the instructor.
(1-3 HOURS) STAFF

480. Advanced Topics in Economics
Topics may vary from year to year. Prerequisites: C minus or higher in Economics 201 or 202.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

Education

CYNTHIA A. SUÁREZ, Chair
D. EDWARD WELCHEL

The Education Department offers courses required for students who wish to prepare for licensure as teachers in secondary schools. Candidates preparing to teach at this level should complete a major in the discipline they will teach. In addition, the Teacher Education Program requires Education 200, 220, 320, 330, 340, 420, 430, and 440. For further information, consult the Catalogue section on the Teacher Education Program and the Teacher Education Handbook, or contact the Chair of the Education Department.

200. Foundations of Education
A study of the purposes, background, and organization of education in the United States. The development of the American education system is traced from its beginnings to the present day with emphasis placed on major developments influencing the school in modern society. Students engage in school observations and tutorial work while acquiring fundamental knowledge essential to preparing for a career in education. To be taken in the sophomore year. Prerequisite to all other courses in Education. Offered every semester.
(3/0/3) WELCHEL

220. Teaching Diverse Student Populations
This course focuses on the increasing diversity found in today's schools. It is designed to help prepare teacher candidates to teach and work with students with special needs within the regular classroom. It provides information about four groups of students from diverse cultural backgrounds, and students who are linguistically diverse. In addition, the course content will include practical strategies for adapting instruction to meet the learning needs of all students. Prerequisites: Education 200 or permission of the instructor. May be taken simultaneously with Education 200. Offered every semester.
(3/0/3) SUÁREZ

280. Selected Topics in Education
Selected topics in Education at the introductory or intermediate levels. (Variable credit in class or practicum up to 4 hours) SUÁREZ, WELCHEL

320. Human Growth and Development
A survey designed to acquaint teacher candidates with basic knowledge and understanding of the principles of lifelong human growth and development. Content addresses the various patterns of physical, cognitive, social, and emotional growth with a focus on developmental applications in educational settings during adolescence. Prerequisites: Education 200 or permission of instructor. Offered spring semester.
(3/0/3) WELCHEL
330. Educational Psychology

Psychology of learning, learning theories, and stages of development as applied to the learner in the classroom. Attention is given to research into learning problems, management and assessment of learning, and the least restrictive environment for exceptional learners. Integration of career guidance and career planning in grades 9-12 is included. Prerequisite: Education 200 or permission of instructor. Offered fall semester.

(3/0/3) SUAREZ

340. The Teaching of Reading

Theories, methods, and materials for teaching and enhancing reading and study skills at the middle and secondary levels (grades 7-12). Course content includes: (1) a survey of techniques, strategies, materials, and technological resources which facilitate students' reading and study skills in content areas; (2) an introduction to the fundamental knowledge and skills needed to help students through remediation to build self-esteem and confidence in various reading/study activities; and (3) a study of applied communication skills for the Tech Prep Program. Special attention is devoted to the diagnosis of reading difficulties, prescriptive remediation techniques, and computer-assisted instruction. A twelve-hour field experience is included. Prerequisites: Education 200, 220, 320, 330, 340, 420, 440.

(4/0/3) SUAREZ

420. Instructional Methods

A course designed to provide teacher candidates with information and experiences to develop a broad view and understanding of the roles, responsibilities, and instructional methods of secondary teachers. Teacher candidates will be introduced to general and specific instructional strategies, methods, planning techniques, teaching resources, and technology for use in secondary classrooms. They will also be provided opportunities to further refine their philosophy of education, their understanding of the learning process, their knowledge of how to assist students in building self-esteem and confidence, and their skills in communications with students, teaching colleagues, school administrators, and parents. The ADEPT process will be introduced and discussed. Study of learning theories, current research on effective teaching, and the development of curriculum products to support effective teaching will be included. Conferencing with secondary students, teachers, administrators, and parents will be addressed as will classroom management techniques. Attention will also be given to teaching students with special needs in the regular classroom. This course has a required field experience of 15 semester hours. Prerequisites: Education 200, 220, 320, 380, 340. Offered fall semester.

(4/0/3) WELCHEL

430. Senior Seminar and Field Experience

A required 100-hour practicum with seminars for teacher candidates to reinforce theoretical content and allow for some supervised practice of teaching skills. Candidates enroll in the component related to their academic teaching majors. Public school seminars led by certified subject area teachers are a required component. Prerequisites: Education 200, 220, 320, 330, 340, 420. Offered as the candidate's senior interim project.

(4/0/4) SUAREZ, WELCHEL

440. Clinical Practice

Full-time observation, participation, and directed teaching in public schools for one semester (60 full school days) under the supervision of public school personnel, the education faculty, and faculty from the student's teaching area. Weekly seminars. Usually taken in the spring semester of the senior year. Prerequisites: Education 200, 220, 320, 330, 340, 420, and 430. (12 semester hours; 6 if not taken for credits toward graduation) SUAREZ

480. Advanced Topics in Education

Study of selected pertinent topics in education at the advanced level. (Variable credit in class or practicum up to 4 hours) SUAREZ, WELCHEL

English Language and Literature

VIVIAN B. FISHER, Chair
ALAN D. CHALMERS, ELIZABETH COX, C. MICHAEL CURTIS, DENNIS M. DOOLEY, MARKA. FERGUSON, NATALIE S. GRINNELL, SALLY A. HITCHMOUGH, JOHN E. LANE, NANCY B. MANDLOVE, JIM NEIGHBORS, AMY D. SWEITZER, DENO P. TRAKAS, JOHN M. WARE, CAROL B. WILSON

The English Department offers a major in English. The major can be completed with or without a concentration in Creative Writing. In addition, the Department offers a minor in English and a minor in Creative Writing. The minor in Creative Writing is available only to students who are not completing the major in English.

Prerequisites and Corequisites for the Major in English:

English 201, 202, and 203, at least one of which must be completed before any 300- or 400-level courses may be attempted.

Requirements for the Major in English:

For the English Major, students must successfully complete ten advanced courses (30 semester hours), three of which (9 semester hours) may come from the Creative Writing sequence (English 371-378) and/or Communication courses (English 381-387). Major work must include at least one course from each of the following groups:

B. 309, 311, 312, 313, 314, 331, 332.
C. 321, 322, 323, 324, 326, 327.

Students majoring in English may choose to concentrate in Creative Writing. For the concentration in Creative Writing, students must successfully complete ten advanced courses (30 semester hours), four of which (12 semester hours) must come from the Creative Writing sequence (English 371-378). Two of the Creative Writing courses must be in the same genre. Of the six advanced literature courses, at least one must come from each of the four groups listed above.

English 470, Independent Study, may be counted toward the major only once.

With the permission of the Chair of the English Department, Theatre 360, 362, 376, and 480 may be counted toward a major in English.

Students in the Teacher Education Program who are seeking to complete licensure requirements to teach English in secondary schools should refer to the Teacher Education Handbook and consult with the English and Education Department Chairs to review the extent to which Departmental and teacher preparation requirements differ and to develop plans for meeting both.

Students who intend to do graduate work in English are advised to acquire a reading knowledge of French, German, or Spanish.
Prerequisites and Corequisites for Minor in English:
English 201, 202, and 203, at least one of which must be completed before any 300- or 400- level courses may be attempted.

Requirements for Minor in English:
Five advanced courses (15 semester hours), one of which (3 semester hours) may come from Communication courses or the Creative Writing sequence. The other four courses must consist of at least one course in each of the four categories (A, B, C, and D) as designated in the requirements for the English major.

Prerequisite and Corequisites for Minor in Creative Writing:
One English course at the 200- level.

Requirements for Minor in Creative Writing:
For the minor in Creative Writing, students must successfully complete at least four courses in Creative Writing, two of which must be in the same genre; and at least two literature courses, one of which should be in contemporary poetry, fiction, or drama.

102. Seminar in Literature and Composition
An in-depth study of some topic in fiction. Reading and discussion lead to written work and independent investigation. Objectives are to read critically, think analytically, and communicate effectively. Students are required to write several papers, one of which includes documentation. The course should be taken in the freshman year. Prerequisite: Humanities 101.
(3/0/3) STAFF

200. Introduction to Literary Study
A study of the genres of poetry and drama designed to develop the student's ability to read literature with sensitivity and understanding and with a sense of literary tradition. Emphasis is on close reading of works from a variety of critical perspectives. The drama includes at least one Greek play and one Shakespearean play. Prerequisite: English 102.
(3/0/3) STAFF

201. English Literature to 1800
A study of works representative of the major writers and periods from the Middle Ages through the 18th century, with emphasis on critical understanding of these works and on the influences that produced them. Prerequisite: English 102.
(3/0/3) STAFF

202. English Literature Since 1800
A study of works representative of the major writers and periods from the Romantic movement to the present, with emphasis on critical understanding of these works and on the influences that produced them. Prerequisite: English 102.
(3/0/3) STAFF

203. Survey of American Literature
A study of works representative of major American writers from the Colonial Period to the present, with emphasis on critical understanding of these works and on the influences that produced them.
(3/0/3) STAFF

280. Selected Topics in Literature
Selected topics in literature at the introductory or intermediate level.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

Prerequisite for Advanced Courses: The successful completion of at least one 200-level English course is a prerequisite for all 300-level or 400-level courses.

301. British Medieval Literature
A study of British literature from 800 to 1480, excluding Chaucer. Works studied include Beowulf, Sir Gawain and the Green Knight, and Malory's Morte d'Arthur.
(3/0/3) GRINNELL

302. Chaucer
A study of Chaucer's major poetry, with some attention to medieval language and culture.
(3/0/3) GRINNELL

303. Early English Drama and Lyric
Early English drama (excluding Shakespeare) and lyric poetry including authors such as Donne, Jonson, Marlowe, and Webster.
(3/0/3) GRINNELL, SWEITZER

304. Spenser, Milton and the Renaissance Epic
A study of the three great epics of the English Renaissance: Spenser's Faerie Queen, Milton's Paradise Lost, and Milton's Paradise Regained.
(3/0/3) SWEITZER

305. Shakespeare (Early Plays)
A study of the principal plays of the first half of Shakespeare's career, especially the comedies and histories.
(3/0/3) SWEITZER

306. Shakespeare (Later Plays)
A study of the principal plays of the latter half of Shakespeare's career, especially the major tragedies and romances.
(3/0/3) SWEITZER

307. Seventeenth-Century English Literature
A study of important works of poetry, prose, and criticism from the period. Chief among the authors studied will be Milton, Ben Jonson, Bacon, Donne, Herbert, Vaughan, and Marvell.
(3/0/3) SWEITZER

309. English Literature of the Restoration and Eighteenth Century, 1660-1800
A study of important works from the literature of the period, selected from satire (poetry and prose), essays, lyrics, biographies, and drama. The chief authors studied will be Dryden, Swift, Pope, Gray, Johnson, Behn, Congreve, Fielding, and Gay.
(3/0/3) CHALMERS

311. The English Romantic Period
A study of English Romanticism with an emphasis on the poetry of Blake, Wordsworth, Coleridge, Byron, Shelley, and Keats.
(3/0/3) FISHER

312. The Victorian Period
A study of important works from the Victorian age, with emphasis on the poetry of Tennyson, Browning, Arnold, and the pre-Raphaelites.
(3/0/3) HITCHMOUGH
313. Nineteenth Century Issues and Topics
A study of Victorian prose and poetry selected according to a specific theme that will help students understand the culture and prevalent ideas of the period.
(3/0/3) HITCHMOUGH
314. The Irish Revival
A study of the major writers of the period, including Synge, Yeats, Joyce, and O'Casey, with emphasis on the cultural and historical context of the Irish Renaissance.
(3/0/3) DOOLEY, WILSON
315. Contemporary British Literature
A study of British literature after World War II, including poetry, fiction, and drama, with emphasis on the cultural and historical context.
(3/0/3) HITCHMOUGH
316. American Romanticism
American literature up to the Civil War.
(3/0/3) DOOLEY, NEIGHBORS
317. American Realism and Modernism
American literature from the Civil War to World War II.
(3/0/3) DOOLEY, TRAKAS
318. Southern Literature
A study of major Southern authors of the 20th century, with emphasis on the literature as an expression of Southern culture. Authors include the Agrarians, Faulkner, Warren, O'Connor, Welty, and Dickey.
(3/0/3) DOOLEY
319. Ethnic American Literature
Selected readings across four centuries of ethnic American writing, with emphasis on the historical and cultural context of each text. Writings include Native American creation stories, slave narratives, urban immigrant fiction, Black revolutionary poetry, and plays, and Hispanic and Asian American narratives. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation.
(3/0/3) NEIGHBORS
320. Modern Drama
The rise of realism, including plays of Chekhov, Ibsen, and Strindberg. Also listed as Theatre 325.

Fine Arts

The Department offers study in Music, a major and minor in Art History, and a major in Theatre.

Art and Art History

PETER L. SCHMUNK, Coordinator
KAREN H. GOODCHILD

The curriculum in Art History immerses students in the study of visual culture, especially works of painting, sculpture, and architecture, but also other media such as prints, textiles, and body adornment. Courses in Art History develop a mastery of the concepts and language particular to the analysis of image and architectural space and the recognition of their social impact. Art History is inherently cross-disciplinary. The task of understanding a work of art in its historical context requires an awareness of the politics and economics, literature and religion of that period. The student majoring in Art History will acquire skills in visual analysis, an awareness of different approaches to the interpretation of works of art, training in the techniques of research in the humanities, and the ability to write clearly and persuasively about art.

Art History Major:

Under normal circumstances, students intending to complete the major in Art History should first take the survey courses — 201, 202, and 203 — which provide a foundation for the program. They should take the course in Art Historiography (411) during the fall semester of the junior year. In addition to the requirements listed below, a semester of Internship spent in study abroad is strongly recommended for all students majoring in Art History. An internship with a museum, gallery, or other arts organization may be arranged during an internship or a regular semester as a way of gaining practical experience and exploring career options.

Requirements for the Major:

Thirty semester hours, as follows: Art 201, 202, 203, 245, and 411; Philosophy 310; and four other Art History courses.

In the senior year, satisfactory performance on a comprehensive exam is required for completion of the major program.

Students pursuing the major in Art History must take and pass an appropriate introductory-level course in Music or Theatre to fulfill the General Education requirement in Fine Arts. Philosophy 310, a requirement for the major in Art History, may also be applied toward the General Education requirement in Philosophy.

Requirements for the Minor:

Eighteen semester hours, including Art 201, 202, 203, and three additional courses in Art History, two of which must be at the 300-level or above.

Students pursuing the minor in Art History must take and pass an appropriate introductory-level course in Music or Theatre to fulfill the General Education requirement in Fine Arts.

201, 202, 203. Survey of the History of Western Art
An introductory survey of Western art and its major monuments, artists, techniques, styles, and themes. Art 201 encompasses the art of prehistory, the Ancient World, and the early Middle Ages; 202 surveys the art of the later Middle Ages, Renaissance, and Baroque periods; 203 covers the art of the 19th and 20th centuries.
(3/0/3) each course GOODCHILD, SCHMUNK

210. Principles and Types of Architecture
An introduction to the study of architecture through an examination of the principles that underlie architectural design and their use in outstanding historic examples of residential, religious, and civic architecture.
(3/0/3) SCHMUNK

241. African Art: Gender, Power, and Life-Cycle Ritual
This course explores examples of sculpture, architecture, painting, pottery, textile art, and body adornment in their religious, political, and social contexts. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation.
(3/0/3) GOODCHILD

245. Studio Art
A multimedia course for beginning artists or more experienced artists who wish to improve their technical expertise and broaden their knowledge and appreciation of style in historical and cultural context. Design, drawing, painting, printmaking, and sculpture may be explored through lecture, critique, visual aids, and hands-on projects.
(3/0/3) GOODCHILD

300. Selected Topics in Art History
Selected topics in Art History at the introductory or intermediate level.
(1-4/0/1-4) GOODCHILD, SCHMUNK

301. Ancient and Classical Art
A study of the major developments in ancient Greek and Roman art and architecture, including a consideration of the Aegean and Etruscan cultures that preceded them. This course places objects in their cultural contexts, with emphasis on their role in political propaganda.
(3/0/3) GOODCHILD

302. Medieval Art
A study of the major developments in the visual arts during the Middle Ages, including the art of Constantinian Rome and Byzantium, the pre-Christian art of the North and its assimilation into the Christian tradition, the artistic expression of monasticism and pilgrimage, and the Gothic flowering of art in cathedral construction, sculpture, and manuscript illumination.
(3/0/3) GOODCHILD, SCHMUNK
303. Italian Renaissance Art
An examination of the arts of painting, sculpture, and architecture as practiced in Italy between 1300 and 1600, with emphasis on artistic techniques that were invented and/or perfected during this period. Topics discussed include humanism and the revival of antiquity, the changing social status of the artist, and the relation between the visual arts and literature. (3/0/3) GOODCHILD

304. Baroque and Rococo Art
A study of the various individual, national, and period styles practiced during the 17th and 18th centuries, a period encompassing the artistic expression of absolute monarchy, Catholic encouragement vs. Protestant rejection of liturgical art, the foundation of academies of art, and the revelatory works of Bernini, Rubens, Velazquez, and Rembrandt. (3/0/3) SCHMUNK

305. Nineteenth-Century Art
A study of the principal styles and artists that distinguish the art produced just prior to and throughout the 19th century, seen against the background of significant cultural developments: political and industrial revolutions, the establishment of mass cultural venues such as the museum and the world's fair, the influence of music on the visual arts, and the waning influence of the academies vs. the emergent concept of the avant-garde. (3/0/3) SCHMUNK

411. Art Historiography
An exploration of the theory and methodology of art history, intended to develop critical thinking skills, to further the student's ability to write persuasively about art, to develop research and bibliographic skills, and to cultivate an awareness of some of the approaches employed by historians of art, including biography, connoisseurship, style criticism, iconology, and feminist criticism. Prerequisite: At least one course in Art History or permission of the instructor. (3/0/3) GOODCHILD

412. Women in Italian Renaissance and Baroque Art
This seminar examines women as subjects, artists, viewers and patrons of art in the Renaissance and Baroque eras. Students will read, discuss, and write about a body of interconnected primary and secondary sources and develop the skill of evaluating scholarly arguments. Texts to be examined include works by Boccaccio, Petrarch, Leon Battista Alberti, Lorenzo de Medici, Baldassare Castiglione, and Giorgio Vasari. Prerequisite: At least one course in Art History or permission of the instructor. (3/0/3) SCHMUNK

470. Independent Study in Art History
Study of a specific art historical topic under the direction of a faculty member in Art History. The readings, program of research, and written work to be undertaken by the student will be determined in consultation with the instructor. (0/0/3) GOODCHILD, SCHMUNK

480. Advanced Topics in Art History
Offered periodically as announced. Recent topics have included "Vincent van Gogh" and "Rome: A City in History." Normally for advanced students. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. (1-4/0/1-4) GOODCHILD, SCHMUNK

Students majoring in Art History are urged to take at least one of these Converse College courses toward completion of their major program:

306. Twentieth-Century Art before 1945
309. Twentieth-Century Art after 1945

Theatre

MARK A. FERGUSON, Director
COLLEEN BALLANCE, SULLIVAN WHITE

Successful completion of Theatre 201 satisfies the General Education requirement in Fine Arts. Courses taken to fulfill requirements of the Theatre major cannot be used to fulfill General Education requirements or requirements of another major.

Corequisite for the Major:
Courses in Music or in Art/Art History to meet the General Education Requirement in Fine Arts.

Requirements for the Major:
Twenty-eight semester hours as follows:

(1) Twelve hours from Theatre 201, 202, 301, 303, all of which are required.

(2) Six hours from two dramatic literature courses in Theatre (300- level or above).

(3) Six hours from two courses from one of the two groups, A or B.

Group A. Theatre 380, 381

Group B. Theatre 325, 328, 360, 361, 376, and any 3-hour advanced (300- level or above) dramatic literature course from English or Foreign Language.

(4) One hour from satisfactory performance in Theatre 400 as production or co-production stage manager in a major production directed by a faculty member or guest director.

(5) Three hours from a senior capstone project. The project is proposed by the student and approved and supervised by the instructor. It can be satisfied by work in either Theatre 400 or 470.

A capstone done in Theatre 400 would require satisfactory completion of three one-hour faculty supervised theatre practica. (Examples are costume design of a Shakespearean production in Renaissance style and in modern dress, or the lighting and special effects design and implementation for a show currently being done by the Department.)

A capstone done in Theatre 470 would require satisfactory completion of an independent project integrating learning in the program. (Examples are writing a senior thesis, or writing, acting in, and directing a one-act play for public performance.)

201. Introduction to the Theatre
Script analysis, dramatic structure, production styles, introductory overview of acting, directing, and the technical elements of production: lighting, set design and construction, costuming, make-up, and theatre management. Participation in some phase of major play production (onstage or offstage) required.

(3/1/3) STAFF

202. Stagecraft
An introduction to the techniques of theatrical production: scenic construction, stage properties, stage lighting, and stage sound. Course-work will include the understanding of appropriate paper work, organization, use of equipment, construction techniques and safety. Students participate in a variety of assignments and demonstrations in addition to the lectures and reading assignments. Prerequisite: Theatre 201.

(3/0/3) STAFF

230. Introduction to Film
An introduction to the theory, technique, history, and criticism of film, with screenings of major works and emphasis on the relationship of film to society and to other arts. Weekly screenings of feature films are held outside of class.

(2/2-3/3) STAFF

280. Selected Topics in Theatre
Selected topics in theatre at the introductory or intermediate level.

(Variable credit in class or practica up to 4 hours) STAFF

301. Acting
This course deals with the basics of acting technique (vocal, body movement, improvisation). All students enrolled will participate actively in laboratory productions. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

(2/4/3) STAFF

302. Advanced Acting
Advanced study of the principles of performance focusing on lengthening scene studies and various techniques. Prerequisite: Permission of Instructor.

(2/4/3) STAFF
303. Directing

Students will develop a fundamental knowledge and skills base about the field of directing for the stage. This will include extensive creative projects; presentations on past and present stage directors; script analysis from a director's perspective; enhancing communication, audition, and rehearsal skills; the development of a critical eye for directorial choices; and the performance of two scenes that the student will direct for public performance. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

(4/5/4) K. FERGUSON, M. FERGUSON, WHITE

325. Modern Drama

A course of study which focuses on the work of late 19th to mid 20th century European and American dramatists. Authors include Ibsen, Chekhov, Strindberg, Pirandello, Brecht, Beckett, O'Neill, Miller and Williams. Also listed as English 325. Prerequisite: 200-level English course.

(3/0/3) M. FERGUSON

328. Contemporary Drama

A study of major contemporary drama (1970 to present). Authors considered include Foreman, Churchill, Rebe, Kushner, Zimmerman and others. Also listed as English 328. Prerequisite: 200-level English course.

(3/0/3) M. FERGUSON

360. Greek and Roman Drama

Selected Greek and Roman comedies and tragedies will be read in translation. The course will concentrate on the thematic, philosophical, and religious aspects of ancient drama. Also listed as English 360. Prerequisite: A 200-level English course and Theatre 201.

(3/0/3) M. FERGUSON

362. American Theatre and Drama

The theatrical history of the United States is older than the nation itself. From Robert Hunter's satire Androboros (1714), the earliest printed American play, and Thomas Goddrey's tragedy The Prince of Parthia (1765), the first American play professionally performed on an American stage, to George Aiken's stage adaptation of Uncle Tom's Cabin, one of the most popular works of its period in both America and Europe, pre-twentieth century American drama is a complex and compelling topic. This class will address ideas and issues of nationhood, the frontier, American identity, race and race relations, and popular and high culture. Also listed as English 362. Prerequisite: A 200-level English course.

(3/0/3) M. FERGUSON

376. Playwriting Workshop

A course in creative writing focusing on plays. Also listed as English 376. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

(3/0/3) M. FERGUSON

380. Scene Design and Lighting

Designed for the student considering a career in scenic design for the performing arts or film, or for the potential director who wishes to further understanding of process-oriented play production. Prerequisites: Theatre 201, 202, and permission of instructor.

(3/0/3) B. BALLANCE

400. Theatre Practicum

A special course of individual study and instruction wherein an advanced student of theatre may pursue a special interest such as set design, lighting, theatrical management, acting, or playwriting, under the direction of the instructor. Active participation in laboratory and major productions required. A maximum of 6 semester hours may be earned in Theatre 400. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

(0/3/1) STAFF

470. Independent Project

A student initiated project, approved and supervised by a faculty member, integrating learning in the major.

(0/0/3) STAFF

480. Advanced Topics in Theatre and Related Areas

A seminar for advanced students. Subject matter varies from year to year. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

(Variable credit in class or practica up to 4 hours) B. BALLANCE, M. FERGUSON

490. Advanced Studies in Film

A topics course involving close study of specific directors, genres, or national cinemas. Topics will change from semester to semester. Screenings of feature films may be held outside of class. Students may take Theatre 490 for credit only once. Prerequisite: Theatre 230 or permission of instructor.

(Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) R. LANE

Foreign Languages

DENNIS M. WISEMAN, Chair

JOHN C. AKERS, LAURA H. BARRAS RHODEN, CAMILLE L. BETHEA, YAN GAO, Begoña CABALLERO-GARCÍA, CAROLINE A. CUNNINGHAM, SUSAN C. GRISWOLD, LI QING KINNISON, KIRSTEN A. KRICK-AIGNER, NANCY B. MANDLOVE, ELISA E. POLLACK, CATHERINE L. SCHMITZ, ANA MARIA J. WISEMAN

The Department of Foreign Languages offers majors in Chinese, French, German, and Spanish. The Department also offers a minor in Chinese Studies and in German Studies. The Department participates with the Department of Accounting and Finance in offering the major in Intercultural Studies for Business, described later in this chapter of the Catalogue.

Students in the Teacher Education Program who are seeking to complete licensure requirements to teach French should refer to the Teacher Education Handbook and consult with the Chairs of the Foreign Languages and Education Departments to review the extent to which Departmental and teacher preparation requirements differ and to develop plans for meeting both.

Restrictions:

Students who have received credit for a 200-level or 300-level foreign language course may not take or repeat a course at a lower level in the same language and receive credit or grade-points for it (except that courses 201, 202 may be taken in any order). Students who have received credit for a foreign language course at the 100-level may not take or repeat a lower numbered 100-level course in the same language and receive credit or grade points for it.
Prerequisites for Major in Chinese, French, German or Spanish:
Completion of course 102 (or the equivalent) of the language selected for the major. (Language courses taken at the 100-level may not be counted toward the major.)

Requirements for Major in Chinese, French, German or Spanish:

Chinese: Li Qing Kinnison, Coordinator
The Chinese Major consists of 33-34 credit hours, 24 of which must be at the 300-level or higher, including Chinese 301 and 302; one culture course (selected from Chinese 306, Chinese 307, Religion 356, Religion 357, Philosophy 335, or other appropriate courses approved by the advisor); and two 400-level courses in Chinese. Students selecting the Chinese major are expected to complete a semester of study abroad in a country where Chinese language is spoken.

French: Catherine L. Schmitz, Coordinator
The French Major consists of 24 semester-hours in French, including at least 18 semester hours in courses numbered 200 or higher, including French 303 (in which the student must earn a C or higher in order to continue in the major); French 304 or French 306; French 308; and two 400-level courses in French at least one of which must be in literature. Students majoring French are expected to complete a semester of study abroad in a country where French language is spoken.

German: Kirsten A. Krick-Aigner, Coordinator
The German Major consists of 24 semester-hours in German, including at least 18 semester hours in courses numbered 300 or higher, including German 303 (in which the student must earn a C or higher in order to continue in the major); German 304 or German 306; German 308; and two 400-level courses in German at least one of which must be in literature. Students majoring German are expected to complete a semester of study abroad in a country where German language is spoken.

Spanish: Susan C. Griswold, Coordinator
The Spanish Major consists of 24 semester-hours in Spanish, including at least 18 semester hours in courses numbered 300 or higher, including Spanish 303 (in which the student must earn a C or higher in order to continue in the major); Spanish 305 or Spanish 307; Spanish 308; and two 400-level courses in Spanish at least one of which must be in literature. Students majoring Spanish are expected to complete a semester of study abroad in a country where Spanish language is spoken.

Requirements for Minor in Chinese Studies

LI QING KINNISON, Coordinator
The Minor in Chinese Studies consists of Chinese 201 and Chinese 202 (or the equivalent) and at least three courses from 306, 307, Religion, Religion 357, Philosophy 335. Students choosing the Minor in Chinese Studies are expected to complete a semester of study abroad.

Requirements for Minor in German Studies

KIRSTEN A. KRICK-AIGNER, Coordinator
The Minor in German Studies consists of German 201 and German 202 (or the equivalent), at least two courses in German numbered 300-level or higher, and two courses related to German-speaking culture from Philosophy 353, Philosophy 356, Religion 323, History 388, History 370, or History 380. Students may also include an appropriate independent study course, or a senior seminar emphasizing German-speaking culture. Any courses taken to meet the requirements of the Minor in German Studies may also count toward requirements in programs other than German Studies. In consultation and with the approval of the Minor coordinator, the Minor in German Studies candidate is required to participate in an extended study, travel, or work-abroad experience.

Chinese

101, 102. Beginning Active Chinese
These beginning level Chinese courses are intended to enable students to develop good pronunciation in speaking Mandarin Chinese (putonghua or guoyu), to exchange information in simple but accurate Chinese on some basic topics (greetings, personal introductions, personal daily activities), to have a good command of some basic radicals as well as some commonly used Chinese characters. Also, Beginning Active Chinese hopes to cultivate students' interest in Chinese language and culture and lay a solid foundation for further study in Chinese.
(5/1/5) GAO, KINNISON

201, 202. Intermediate Active Chinese
These intermediate level Chinese courses are to enhance command of the basic structures and vocabulary, to increase ability to communicate in Chinese both in speaking and writing, and to further develop interest in the Chinese language and culture. Intermediate Active Chinese hopes to cultivate students' interest in Chinese language and culture and lay a solid foundation for further study in Chinese.
(5/1/5) GAO, KINNISON

223. Freshman Seminar in Global Perspectives: Different Identities, Common Destinies
A freshman seminar in global perspectives that will explore the diversity and commonality of human experience in preparation for living in a global society. Conducted in English by foreign language faculty and guest lecturers. Prerequisite: Chinese, French, German, or Spanish 201. Corequisite: simultaneous enrollment in Chinese, French, German, or Spanish 202. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Culture and Peoples requirement for graduation.
(3/0/3) STAFF
280. Selected Topics in Chinese Study
The study of selected topics at the introductory or intermediate level in Chinese culture. Conducted in English; open to all students. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation.
(Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) GAO, KINNISON

301. High Intermediate Chinese
High Intermediate Chinese encourages students to increase their sophistication in reading and writing in Chinese in more formal styles. The course is conducted primarily in Chinese. Study materials include texts, web sources, and Chinese language television.
(3/1/3) GAO, KINNISON

Government

WILLIAM E. DEMARS, Chair
LINTON R. DUNSON, JR., ROBERT C. JEFFREY,

The Department of Government offers a major in Government, with optional concentrations in American Politics, World Politics, and Political Thought. It also offers a minor in Government.

Requirements for the Major:

There are normally no prerequisites for Government courses. However, Government 202 and 203 must be completed, with a grade of C or higher in each course, before a student may be accepted to major in Government.

Twenty-four semester hours are required beyond Government 202 and 203 (for a total of 30). Within the 24 semester hours, the following distribution requirement must be met:

Six semester hours in Division A (American Government) beyond Government 202;
Six semester hours in Division B (International Relations and Comparative Government) beyond Government 203;
Six semester hours in Division C (Political Theory); and Six additional hours from any Division.
Students majoring in Government who are seeking to complete licensure requirements to teach social studies in secondary schools should refer to the Teacher Education Handbook and consult with the Chairs of the Government and Education Departments to plan for the related work they must do in History, Geography, Economics, and Sociology.

Optional Concentrations in the Major:

Students majoring in Government may choose to deepen their study of politics by choosing one of three optional concentrations. In each concentration, students delve into one arena of politics by combining direct experience with formal study. Students undertaking concentrations will be asked to meet occasionally before and after their off-campus experience to share plans, experiences, and ideas.

Graduating students who complete the requirements for a concentration will receive a letter and certificate from the Chair of the Government Department, and the concentration will be recognized on their official college transcripts.

American Politics Concentration: Two courses in American Government taken on the Wofford campus (in fulfillment of the regular Government major requirements in Division A), and, in addition, a semester or summer in Washington, DC, at a Wofford approved program including a practical internship of the student’s choice and formal courses. At least one three-hour academic course taken in Washington must address a topic in American politics (specific arrangements to be approved by major advisor).

World Politics Concentration: Two courses in International Relations and Comparative Government taken on the Wofford campus (in fulfillment of the regular Government major requirements in Division B), and, in addition, a semester or summer abroad, including an internship if available. At least one three-hour academic course taken abroad must address a topic in world politics. During the semester on the Wofford campus following the period abroad, each student will complete a paper or project on a topic of interest (chosen in consultation with major advisor) that arose from the experience abroad (see Government 447). (Specific arrangements to be approved by major advisor.)

Political Thought Concentration: Any upper level course in political theory beyond the major requirement in Division C (for a total of at least three courses selected from Government 391, 392, 435, 436, 437, 440, and 495), and also a senior directed study course in political theory (Government 450).

Requirements for the Minor:

Government 202 and 203, and an additional 12 hours of 300- or 400-level Government courses (for a total of 18 hours).

Non-Divisional Courses

202. Foundations of American Politics
An introduction to American national government emphasizing constitutional principles and the historical development of institutions and processes.
(3/0/3) STAFF

400. Senior Directed Study
Intensive guided study and research on selected topics in any field of political science. The instructor, in consultation with the student, will establish the subject for study and the requirements. Enrollment normally is limited to seniors majoring in Government who are of high academic standing. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

distribution requirement: (a) at least nine semester hours in American history (only one course in the 201-202: History of the United States series may be counted toward the major; (b) at least three semester hours in early European history (330, 340, 341, 350, 360, 383); (c) at least three semester hours in modern European history (361, 370, 380, 381, 382, 384, 385, 387, 388, 389); (d) at least three semester hours in Modern Middle East, Modern East Asia, Colonial Latin America, or Modern Latin America; and (f) History 447 and 448. History 386, History of Science, may be counted either toward the early or modern European requirement.

Students majoring in History who are seeking to complete licensure requirements to teach social studies in secondary schools should refer to the Teacher Education Handbook and consult with the Chairs of the History and Education Departments to plan for the related work they must do in Geography, Government, Economics, and Sociology.

Prerequisites for the Minor:
History 101, 102.

Requirements for the Minor:
At least three hours at the 300-level or above in European history, at least three hours at the 300-level or above in American history, and at least six more hours at the 300-level or above in the Department.

101. History of Modern Western Civilization to 1815
A basic survey of Western Civilization from the Renaissance to 1815.
(3/0/3) STAFF

102. History of Modern Western Civilization Since 1815
A basic survey of Western Civilization since 1815.
(3/0/3) STAFF

201. History of the United States, 1607-1865
A basic survey of American history from the settlement at Jamestown to the surrender at Appomattox.
(3/0/3) BYRNES, REVELS

202. History of the United States Since 1865
A basic survey of American history from Reconstruction to the present.
(3/0/3) BYRNES, REVELS

260. Historiography and Research Methods
An introduction to the concept of historiography — "the history of history" — and guidance through selected schools of historical thought. The course also provides instruction in basic research methods, including technology-based research.
(3/0/3) BYRNES, RODRICK, C. WHISNANT

280. Selected Topics in United States History
Selected topics in United States history at the introductory or intermediate level.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

290. Selected Topics in European and non-Western History
Selected topics in European and non-Western history at the introductory or intermediate level.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

304. Seminar on the Salem Witchcraft Episode
A seminar on the historiographical interpretations of the Salem Witchcraft event.
(3/0/3) RACINE

305. History of South Carolina
Selected topics in the history of South Carolina from the colonial period to modern times.
(3/0/3) LESESNE, RACINE

307. History of the American South to the Civil War
A cultural, economic, and social history of the South from 1820 to the Civil War.
(3/0/3) RACINE

308. History of the American South since the Civil War
A cultural, economic, and social history of the South since the Civil War.
(3/0/3) RACINE

309. American Colonial Society to 1763
A study of American colonials as members of the British Empire, as settlers of the new frontier, and as innovators in institutions and ideas.
(3/0/3) REVELS

311. Selected Topics in American Social History
Explorations in American society, thought, and culture.
(2/0/3) REVELS

314. American Civil War
A study of the Civil War years, 1861-1865.
(3/0/3) RACINE

316. Topics in African-American History
A study of various themes in the history of African Americans with special emphasis on slavery or the 20th century.
(3/0/3) BYRNES, REVELS

317. History of the American Frontier
A survey of the settlement of the American frontier from the colonial period to the present, with particular emphasis on the settlement of the trans-Mississippi west from 1803-1890.
(3/0/3) REVELS

319. History of American Women
An exploration of the experience of women in their public and private roles throughout American history.
(3/0/3) REVELS

320. American Diplomatic History
A history of American foreign policy from national independence to the status of international power, with particular focus on the 20th century.
(3/0/3) BYRNES, LESESNE

325. America Since 1945
An examination of the major trends of recent American history, from the end of World War II to the present. Among the major areas of attention are the origins and perpetuation of the Cold War competition with the Soviet Union and the subsequent rise of the national security state, the consolidation and expansion of the limited welfare state, the Civil Rights movement and the Women's movement, the Vietnam War and the social upheaval of the 1960s, the crisis of confidence of the 1970s, and the Reagan revolution of the 1980s.
(3/0/3) BYRNES
330. The Ancient World
Ancient history from the rise of civilization in the Fertile Crescent until the dissolution of Roman imperial rule in Western Europe in the 5th century C.E. The course focuses in particular on ancient Greek and Roman culture and politics. Considerable attention is also devoted to the rise and spread of Christianity in the Roman world.
(3/0/3) REVELS

340. The Early and High Middle Ages (400-1200)
Beginning with the decline and fall of the Roman empire, an examination of the “Dark Ages” of the early medieval period and the Christianization of Western Europe after the fall of Rome. The course also looks at the Carolingian empire, Islamic Spain, Viking expansion, the Norman conquest of England, the culture of the High Middle Ages, and the so-called “twelfth-century renaissance.”
(3/0/3) T. SCHMITZ

341. The Late Middle Ages and Renaissance (1100-1500)
An examination of life just before and during what is generally held to have been one of the greatest social, cultural, and intellectual events in Western history—the Italian Renaissance. Special attention is given to late medieval society and the Black Plague, as well as to the social and economic conditions that gave rise to the Italian Renaissance. The latter part of the course focuses on the culture of the Renaissance and its export to Northern Europe and on the impact of the Renaissance on European history.
(3/0/3) T. SCHMITZ

350. The Reformation and Counter Reformation (1400-1688)
An examination of the social, political, and religious causes of the Reformation in the 16th century. The course focuses as well on the changes made to European Christendom during the Reformation era and on the similarities and differences among different sects. Emphasis is placed on the reform of the existing church as both a self-motivated Catholic Reformation and as a response to Protestantism.
(3/0/3) T. SCHMITZ

360. Europe from Louis XIV to the French Revolution (1600-1800)
Focusing chiefly on France, a study of European society between 1600 and 1799, with emphasis on social and political developments, in particular the rise of absolute monarchy and the modern state. In addition, study includes the so-called Scientific Revolution and the intellectual culture of the Enlightenment, as well as the economic, social, and political crises that preceded the French Revolution. The end of the course focuses on the French Revolution itself.
(3/0/3) T. SCHMITZ

370. Europe in the Age of Revolutions, 1789-1850
A survey of the revolutions in Europe, beginning with the French Revolution and continuing through the revolutionary movements of 1848-50. This course addresses the political, social, economic, and cultural pressures both leading to and resulting from revolutions.
(3/0/3) RODRICK

378. Imperial Russia
A survey of the growth of modern Russia, both geographically and politically. Beginning with the westernization of Russia under Peter the Great, this course reviews the social and political transformation of the country in the 18th and 19th centuries. The ultimate goal is to examine explanations for the Communist Revolution of 1917.
(3/0/3) C. WHISNANT

379. The Soviet Union
A survey of the history of the Soviet Union, from the Russian Revolution of 1917 to the collapse of communism in 1991. Major themes include the economic and political impact of the Russian Revolution, the rise to power of Stalin, and the various failed efforts to reform the communist system under Khrushchev and, later, under Gorbachev.
(3/0/3) C. WHISNANT

380. Europe in the Age of Anxieties, 1850-1914
A survey of the pressing cultural and social issues of Europe after the end of the revolutionary period covered in History 370. Major themes include the effects of Darwinian science, the growth of empire, changes in gender roles, and the rise of mass culture.
(3/0/3) RODRICK

381. World War, Fascism, and Modernism: Western Europe, 1914-1945
A survey of the crucial events that defined the 20th century for Europe and the rest of the world. This course examines the origins and effects of World War I, the nature of fascism as it developed in Italy and Germany, and the different meanings of modernism and modernity as it developed in this period. It then turns to the “crisis of democracy” that emerged with the Great Depression that eventually yielded another world war along with the holocaust.
(3/0/3) C. WHISNANT

382. Western Europe in the Age of the Superpowers, 1945-1991
A survey of Western Europe in the half century after World War II, with attention to the Cold War, the welfare state, decolonization, youth rebellion, and the development of the European Union.
(3/0/3) C. WHISNANT

383. Tudor-Stuart Britain
A survey of the major political, social, and religious upheavals in England and Scotland during this period, focusing on the establishment of parliamentary monarchy and the break from the Catholic Church.
(3/0/3) RODRICK

384. Modern Britain
A survey of the emergence of Britain as an island empire, covering the period of 1715 to the present. Major themes include the transfer of political power from monarchy to parliament, the growth of class society, the development of imperial identity, and the loss of international power after the two world wars.
(3/0/3) RODRICK

385. Women in European History
A survey of the changing models of female and male identity in Europe since approximately 1500, including the development of both “separate sphere” ideologies and various suffrage movements.
(3/0/3) RODRICK

386. History of Science
A survey of the major developments in Western scientific thought since the Renaissance. There are no prerequisites. Science, social science and humanities students are encouraged to enroll.
(3/0/3) STAFF

388. Topics in Modern Germany
An examination of crucial eras in modern German history, from the beginning of political modernization in the 17th century to division and then reunification of Germany at the end of the 20th.
(3/0/3) C. WHISNANT
389. Modern Intellectual History
A survey of the most important themes in intellectual history since the end of the 19th century. The focus of the course will be such important bodies of thought as positivism, Marxism, psychoanalysis, existentialism, and poststructuralism. This course serves as a core course of the gender studies program, and so special attention will be paid to feminist thought and gender analysis.
(3/0/3) C. WHISNANT

391. Modern Middle East
A study of the Middle East, with special attention given to the 19th and 20th centuries. Major themes include Islam and traditional Middle Eastern society and culture, the impact of Western imperialism in the Middle East, and the effort to build strong and independent nations out of the remnants of the Ottoman, French, and British empires. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation.
(3/0/3) C. WHISNANT

392. Modern East Asia
A survey of the history of East Asia since the beginning of the 19th century with particular attention given to Asia’s encounter with the West. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation.
(3/0/3) BYRNES

396. Colonial Latin American History
A study of the pre-Columbian and colonial eras of Latin American history examining the economic, political, and social aspects of colonial life, focusing in particular at the adaptation of Spanish and Native American institutions to the new colonial reality. Study also includes the formation of ethnic and national identities between the 16th century conquest and the independence movements of the early 19th century. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation.
(3/0/3) T. SCHMITZ

397. Modern Latin American History
An examination of Latin American history since Independence focusing upon the continuing issues of ethnicity and race relations, as well as the impact of global capitalism on Latin America. Emphasis is placed on rural and urban social movements, peasant rebellions, political developments, and the relations of Latin American nations with the United States. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation.
(3/0/3) T. SCHMITZ

447. History Major Reading
A reading course required of students majoring in History. Two books will be read in the second semester of the junior year. Prerequisite: History 260.
(0/0/0) STAFF

448. History Major Reading
A reading course required of students majoring in History. Two books will be read in the first semester of the senior year.

(3/0/3) STAFF

465. Courses in European and non-Western History taught by Visiting Jones Professors
(3/0/3) STAFF

470. Independent Study in United States History
Opportunity is offered to the student to develop projects of special interest. Such projects are to be approved by the instructor at least six weeks prior to registration day. After approval of the topic, the student is expected to engage in general bibliographical study, to participate in conferences with the instructor, to report on reading, and to produce papers as directed by the instructor. Prerequisites: Junior or senior standing, approval of the department faculty, and permission of instructor.
(1/0/3) STAFF

475. Independent Study in European or non-Western History
Same as History 470, except in a European or non-Western field.
(1/0/3) STAFF

480. Advanced Topics in United States History
Selected problems, periods, or trends for intensive study and extensive reading. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

490. Advanced Topics in European and non-Western History
Same as History 480, except in a European or non-Western field. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

Humanities

ANNE RODRICK, Coordinator

There are several opportunities for students to conduct interdisciplinary study in the humanities: (1) All freshmen are required to take a seminar introducing them to college-level study in humanities. While not strictly interdisciplinary, the seminars are taught by faculty members from the various humanities departments at the college. (2) Advanced courses are offered by faculty who have interdisciplinary interests and training. (3) An interdisciplinary major is provided by the selection and integration of work in several departments.

The Humanities major is intended for students with specific interests which cut across the existing majors offered in humanities disciplines: Art History, English, Foreign Languages, History, Philosophy, Religion, and Theatre. It offers students who have this interest the opportunity to design their major, but it also requires of these students extra initiative to do so. Students considering this major should understand that it is not intended for those who simply have a broad interest in the humanities; such students should major in one of the humanities departments and take electives in the others.

Any student interested in this major should see the Coordinator, who will discuss the suitability of the major for the student’s interests and will help in selecting faculty members who might appropriately serve as a committee to direct the student’s major.

Prerequisites for the Major:

A 3.0 cumulative grade-point average for at least three semesters or recommendation for the major by three faculty members from different humanities departments.
Requirements for the Major:

Eight 300- or 400-level courses (24 semester hours) from at least three different humanities departments specifically approved by the Humanities major coordinator. The major also requires Humanities 470, a three-hour independent study. Humanities 470 should be taken during the senior year (normally in the spring semester) and should integrate work from the various departments; the study would be supervised and evaluated by one faculty member from each of the departments, with one serving as Chair and primary supervisor. A six-hour senior honors project with the same interdepartmental structure may be substituted for Humanities 470.

101. Freshman Seminar in Humanities and Composition
A course designed to engage students, during their first semester, in small-group seminars in humanistic inquiry, with special attention given to value questions and issues. The course includes substantial reading and group discussion, considerable work on English composition skills (comparable to that typically encountered in first-semester college English courses), and the writing of numerous short essays and other papers. Sections of the course are taught by members of the departments of English language and literature, fine arts, foreign languages, history, philosophy, and religion. Normally required of all freshmen. Students may not repeat Humanities 101.

(3/0/3) STAFF

280. Selected Topics in Humanities
Selected topics in Humanities at the introductory or intermediate level.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

470. Independent Study
A study of some specific topic which integrates and focuses course work a student has done in the humanities major. Normally it is directed by the committee which guided the student’s major. Open only to seniors majoring in Humanities. Offered every year.

(3/0/3) STAFF

475. Independent Study in Interdisciplinary Learning Communities
This course provides an opportunity for students to revisit, in a larger interdisciplinary context, values and issues questions derived from their experience in previous humanities courses. Students must work out a curriculum with the Coordinator before the beginning of the junior year.

Information Management

ANGELA B. SHIFLET, Coordinator

Information Management, an interdisciplinary field at the intersection of business and computer science, involves the representation, organization, and transformation of information; efficient and effective algorithms to access and update stored information; data abstraction and modeling; and physical file storage techniques. Students who complete a major in Accounting, Business Economics, Economics, Finance, or Intercultural Studies for Business may obtain an Emphasis in Information Management. The program is administered by the Department of Computer Science. The Emphasis is not a major, but its completion will be recorded on the student transcript.

Requirements for the Emphasis:

A major in Accounting, Business Economics, Economics, Finance, or Intercultural Studies for Business.

Twelve semester hours of Computer Science as follows: Computer Science 235 with grade of C or higher, 350 with grade of C or higher, either 330 or 335, and 410.

An internship, approved in advance by the Coordinator, involving computing and business (no course credit). Before the internship, the student must complete at least two of the required Computer Science courses and prepare a résumé. Interning full time for 10 weeks, the student is expected to work well, have excellent attendance, and keep a daily journal. After the internship, the student must submit a final report and a web page describing the work. The student must receive a positive evaluation from the internship supervisor. The Coordinator of the Emphasis in Information Management must approve the internship and all required materials.

Intercultural Studies

ANA MARIA J. WISEMAN, Coordinator

The Intercultural Studies major offers students the opportunity to develop interdepartmental majors in the general area of international/intercultural studies. It is intended primarily for students whose interests lie in the study of countries and cultures outside Europe and North America and whose undergraduate academic goals cannot be achieved through majors in the traditional academic departments. A student desiring to major in Intercultural Studies must work out a curriculum with the Coordinator before the beginning of the junior year.

The major requires completion of thirty-three semester hours in advanced courses approved by the Coordinator. Normally, courses will be selected from the offerings in Economics, English, Fine Arts, Foreign Languages, Government, History, Humanities, Religion, and Sociology. In addition to courses listed in those programs, special topics offerings may be available for students in Intercultural Studies.

Intercultural Studies for Business

SHAWN M. FORBES, ANA MARÍA J. WISEMAN, DENNIS M. WISEMAN, Coordinators

The major in Intercultural Studies for Business combines traditional liberal arts education in languages, literature, history, and culture with preparation for the management of organizations. It is offered cooperatively by the Department of Accounting and Finance and the Department of Foreign Languages. Students who successfully complete the major and all other requirements will qualify for the B.A. degree.

Students majoring in Intercultural Studies for Business may not also major in Accounting, Finance, or Business Economics, and may not also minor in Business; nor may they also major in the foreign language chosen for this program’s language track.

Students majoring in Intercultural Studies for Business may obtain an Emphasis in Information Management. The interdisciplinary field of information management applies computer science to business. For requirements see the Catalogue section on Information Management.

Requirements for the Major in Intercultural Studies for Business (ISB):

Students must complete the requirements of the Business Curriculum, of either the Language Curriculum or the Culture Curriculum, Study Abroad, and the Capstone Seminar.

I. The Business Curriculum

All students in the Major must meet the following prerequisites and requirements:

Prerequisites:
Mathematics 140, Economics 201 and 202.

Requirements: (Eighteen hours)
Accounting 211, Accounting Principles
Accounting 345, Accounting Information Systems
Finance 321, Business Finance
Economics 372, Business Law

Two of the following:
Business 331, Management (Finance 348, Small Business Management may substitute for Business 331)
Business 338, Marketing
Business 376, Collaborative Problem Solving

II. The Language and Culture Curricula

Students in the Major must complete either the Language Curriculum or the Culture Curriculum.

A. The Language Curriculum

Prerequisites:
Chinese, French, German, or Spanish 201 and 202.

Requirements: (Eighteen hours)
Chinese 301 and 302, or French 303 and either 304 or 306, or German 303 and either 306 or 403, or Spanish 303 and either 305 or 307.

Two 400-level courses taken at Wofford in the target language.

Two additional courses at the 300- or 400-level in the language taught at Wofford or, in consultation with the advisors, in an approved study abroad program.

An ACTFL Oral Proficiency Interview.

B. The Culture Curriculum

This option is open only to those students who are not completing requirements in the Language Curriculum. It is available only through an approved Wofford affiliated foreign study program in a country where the business language is other than Chinese, French, German, or Spanish. The student is advised that this curriculum involves close collaboration between the student and the advisor on the Wofford campus.

Requirements: (Eighteen hours)
Three to six hours in a business internship or field placement abroad.

Two to nine hours approved by the major advisors in a language other than English. (i.e. Hindi in India, Swahili in Kenya, etc.)

Three to nine hours selected, in collaboration with the major advisor and with the advisor’s approval, from courses available in culture and civilization (or politics and society) of the study-country and/or a course focusing on the study-country in the context of its broader regional context; and three to six hours selected in collaboration with the major advisor and with the advisor’s approval, from the disciplines of anthropology, communications, and/or international relations.
III. Study Abroad

After consultation with a supervising committee and the Director of Programs Abroad, the student will select and complete an appropriate program of at least one semester. A substantial foreign study experience that requires a commitment to the study of the language and culture of a chosen country is indispensable to the ISB Major. (Students must have at least a 2.75 grade-point average to be eligible to study abroad.)

IV. Capstone Seminar

All students completing the Major must participate in and successfully complete the Capstone Seminar.

ISB 400. ISB Senior Capstone

All senior ISB students meet together in weekly seminars. The content of the meetings is divided between reading and discussing materials pertaining to business topics in an international and intercultural context and presentations by speakers from the international community. The seminar is conducted in English by faculty members from the Department of Foreign Languages and the Department of Accounting and Finance. Offered only in spring semesters. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.

Latin American and Caribbean Studies

NANCY B. MANDLOVE, Coordinator

The Latin American and Caribbean Studies program offers an integrated interdisciplinary approach to the historical, political, social, and cultural interrelationships of the nations and peoples of our hemisphere. The program is not a major. Students who fulfill the area studies requirements will receive a certificate recognizing completion of the program.

Program Requirements:

Completion of the program requires 20 semester hours of course work. The three courses described below (320, 321, and 420) are required. Students must also complete one course taught in French or Spanish at the 300- or 400-level that pertains to Latin America or the Caribbean. An additional two courses pertaining to the region and selected in consultation with the program Coordinator will complete the requirements. These two courses may be chosen from among specified courses in Biology, Economics, English, Finance, Government, History, Religion, or Sociology.

320. Seminar on the Americas I

An interdisciplinary seminar focusing on the historical, political, social, and cultural interrelationships of the nations in our hemisphere. It concentrates on the historical and cultural foundations of Latin America and the Caribbean and explores the topics of race and identity, rural and urban life, authoritarianism and democracy, and national development. The course is conducted in English. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation.

(3/3/4) MANDLOVE

321. Seminar on the Americas II

An interdisciplinary seminar focusing on the historical, political, social, and cultural interrelationships of the nations in our hemisphere. It concentrates on Latin American women, revolution, problems of sovereignty, and the Latin American and Caribbean presence in the United States. The course is conducted in English and may be taken independently of 320. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation.

(3/3/4) MANDLOVE

420. Senior Capstone

The Senior Capstone is designed to help students focus and integrate their knowledge of Latin America and the Caribbean. Each student will complete an independent research project focusing on a specific problem or region from an interdisciplinary perspective. Students will meet together periodically to share results of their research. Prerequisites: Latin American and Caribbean Studies 320 and 321.

Mathematics

TED R. MONROE, Chair

CLARENCE L. ABERCROMBIE, MATTHEW E. CATHEY, LEE O. HAGGLUND, LUKE C. INGRAM, CHARLOTTE A. KNOTTS-ZIDES, ANGELA R. SHIFLET

The Department offers a major and a minor in Mathematics. Students completing the major in Mathematics may qualify for the B.A. degree or the B.S. degree, depending upon how they meet the college's requirement in the natural sciences. The Department prepares students for mathematics related careers, including teacher education, and for graduate studies in mathematics.

Requirements for the Major:

Computer Science 235; Mathematics 181, 182, 210, 220, 260, 450; two of Mathematics 235, 240, 320, 421; two of Mathematics 431, 432, 441, 442; and one additional Mathematics course numbered above 200.

For students in the Teacher Education Program the Mathematics major may be earned by completing 30 semester hours as follows: Computer Science 235; Mathematics 140, 220, 235, 260, 380, 451, 450; one of Mathematics 210, 240, 320; one additional Mathematics course numbered above 200. Students in the Teacher Education Program who are seeking to complete licensure requirements to teach mathematics should refer to the Teacher Education Handbook and consult with the Chairs of the Mathematics and Education Departments to develop plans for meeting all requirements.

Students majoring in Mathematics may obtain an Emphasis in Computational Science. The interdisciplinary field of computational science applies computer science and mathematics to the sciences. For requirements see the Catalogue section on Computational Science.

Requirements for the Minor:

Mathematics 181, 182, 220, and three additional Mathematics courses numbered above 200.
120. Mathematics: The Study of Patterns
   An introduction to the essence of mathematics, namely, the discovery and verification of patterns, and to the historical role of mathematics in shaping culture.
   (3/0/3) STAFF

140. Statistics
   An introduction to statistical thinking and the analysis of data using such methods as graphical descriptions, correlation and regression, estimation, hypothesis testing, and statistical models.
   (3/0/3) STAFF

160. Calculus for the Social Sciences
   A graphical, numerical and symbolic introduction to the theory and applications of derivatives and integrals of algebraic, exponential, and logarithmic functions, with an emphasis on applications in the social sciences.
   (3/0/3) STAFF

175. Modeling and Simulation
   A course in scientific programming, part of the interdisciplinary field of computational science. Large, open-ended, scientific problems often require the algorithms and techniques of discrete and continuous computational modeling and Monte Carlo simulation. Students learn fundamental concepts and implementation of algorithms in various scientific programming environments. Throughout, applications in the sciences are emphasized. Cross-listed as Computer Science 175.
   (3/0/3) STAFF

181. Calculus 1
   A graphical, numerical, and symbolic study of the theory and applications of the derivative of algebraic, trigonometric, exponential, and logarithmic functions, and an introduction to the theory and applications of the integral. Suitable for students of both the natural and the social sciences.
   (3/0/3) STAFF

182. Calculus 2
   A graphical, numerical, and symbolic study of the theory, techniques, and applications of integration, and an introduction to infinite series and/or differential equations. Prerequisite: Mathematics 181 or permission of instructor.
   (3/0/3) STAFF

210. Multivariable Calculus
   A study of the geometry of three-dimensional space and the calculus of functions of several variables. Prerequisite: Mathematics 182.
   (3/0/3) STAFF

220. Linear Algebra
   The theoretical and numerical aspects of finite dimensional vector spaces, linear transformations, and matrices, with applications to such problems as systems of linear equations, difference and differential equations, and linear regression. Prerequisite: Mathematics 182.
   (3/0/3) HAGGLUND, MONROE

235. Discrete Mathematical Models
   An introduction to some of the important models, techniques, and modes of reasoning of non-calculus mathematics. Emphasis on graph theory and combinatorics. Applications to computing, statistics, operations research, and the physical and behavioral sciences.
   (3/0/3) STAFF

240. Differential Equations
   The theory and application of first- and second-order differential equations including both analytical and numerical techniques. Prerequisite: Mathematics 182.
   (3/0/3) CATHEY, KNOTTS-ZIDES

260. Introduction to Mathematical Proof
   An introduction to rigorous mathematical argument with an emphasis on the writing of clear, concise mathematical proofs. Topics will include logic, sets, relations, functions, and mathematical induction. Additional topics may be chosen by the instructor.
   (3/0/3) STAFF

280. Selected Topics in Mathematics
   Selected topics in mathematics at the introductory or intermediate level.
   (1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

320. Mathematical Modeling
   The study of problem-solving strategies to solve open-ended, real-world problems. Prerequisite: Mathematics 210, 220, or 240.
   (3/0/3) KNOTTS-ZIDES

350. Numerical Methods
   A study of the theory and computer implementation of numerical methods. Topics include error analysis, zeros of polynomials, numerical differentiation and integration, and systems of linear equations. Prerequisites: Mathematics 220 and computer programming ability.
   (3/0/3) HAGGLUND, KNOTTS-ZIDES

380. Geometry
   A study of the foundations of Euclidean geometry with emphasis on the role of the parallel postulate. An introduction to non-Euclidean (hyperbolic) geometry and its intellectual implications. Prerequisite: Mathematics 260.
   (3/0/3) CATHEY, HAGGLUND

421-422. Probability and Statistics
   A study of probability models, random variables, estimation, hypothesis testing, and linear models, with applications to problems in the physical and social sciences. Prerequisite: Mathematics 210 and 260.
   (3/0/3) each course MONROE

431-432. Abstract Algebra
   The axiomatic development of abstract algebraic systems, including groups, rings, integral domains, fields, and vector spaces. Prerequisite: Mathematics 220, and 235 or 260.
   (3/0/3) each course HAGGLUND, MONROE

441-442. Mathematical Analysis
   A rigorous study of the fundamental concepts of analysis, including limits, continuity, the derivative, the Riemann integral, and sequences and series. Prerequisites: Mathematics 210 and 260.
   (3/0/3) each course CATHEY, KNOTTS-ZIDES

450. Senior Mathematics
   A capstone course for seniors majoring in mathematics with emphasis on problem-solving, independent study, and written and oral presentations.
   (3/0/3) STAFF

480. Advanced Topics in Mathematics
   Advanced topics in undergraduate mathematics offered occasionally to meet special needs. Typical topics include number theory, foundations of mathematics, topology, and complex variables.

Military Science

LTC MANUEL deGUZMAN, Chair
MSG JOHN T. FAWCETT, SFC FEDERIC D. KEIGLEY, CPT SIMON STRICKLEN

Military Science offers a Basic Program and an Advanced Program. Satisfactory completion of four courses in the Basic Program may qualify the student for selection for the Advanced Program. (Satisfactory completion of a four-week leadership training course in the summer after the sophomore year, or suitable prior military experience, or three years of JROTC may substitute for a portion of the Basic Program as means of qualifying for the Advanced Program.) Students desiring a commission as a Second Lieutenant in the United States Army must meet all requirements of fitness for military service. They must complete all requirements for graduation as well as the requirements of the Advanced Program, including designated courses in history, computer science, and mathematics approved by the Chair. Also required is successful completion of the leadership and development and assessment course during the summer after the junior year.

Advanced Program students and students on ROTC scholarship will participate in a weekly leadership laboratory and physical fitness training. Students in the Basic Program are encouraged to participate in the department's adventure training activities, which are held periodically during the year. These activities may include rappelling, marksmanship, whitewater rafting, escape and evasion, paint-ball wars, and endurance competitions.

Basic Program

The Basic Program is open to students who have general interest in Military Science, and is required of students who hold ROTC Scholarships. For the general student, there is no military obligation associated with the Basic Program courses.

It is anticipated that beginning September 2007, the leadership laboratory may not be required in Basic courses for students who do not hold ROTC Scholarships. Students are advised to consult with the Chair of the Military Science Department to learn if the change has been implemented.

101. Military Leadership I
A basic orientation to ROTC and the U.S. Army. Course topics include leadership, the role and structure of the Army, military customs and courtesies, basic marksmanship, and map reading. Leadership laboratory is required. Open to freshmen with permission of instructor. (1/3/2) STAFF

102. Military Leadership I
A continuation of Military Science 101. Course topics include leadership, map reading, land navigation, and development of skills needed to work effectively as members of a team. Leadership laboratory is required. Open to freshmen with permission of instructor. (1/3/2) STAFF

201. Military Leadership II
The study of the importance of character in leadership, leadership behaviors and attributes, basic survival skills, basic individual soldier skills, and land navigation. Leadership laboratory is required. Open to sophomores with permission of instructor. (2/3/3) STAFF

202. Military Leadership II
A study of Army values and ethics, the principles of war, principle-centered leadership, troop-leading procedures, problem-solving techniques, individual tactical skills, and orienteering. Leadership laboratory is required. Open to sophomores with permission of instructor. (2/3/3) STAFF

Advanced Program

301. Military Leadership III
Comprehensive instruction in leadership and management skills, map reading and land navigation, squad and platoon tactics, first aid, and communications. One weekend leadership laboratory is required in addition to the weekly labs. Prerequisites: Junior class standing and admission to Advanced Program. (3/3/3) STAFF

302. Military Leadership III
Development of basic military skills for National Advanced Leader­ship camp at Fort Lewis, Washington. Instruction includes offensive and defensive squad tactics, operations orders, and military briefings. One weekend leadership laboratory is required in addition to the weekly labs. Prerequisites: Junior class standing and admission to Advanced Program. (3/3/3) STAFF

401. Military Leadership IV
A comprehensive study of leadership, principles of war, the law of war, military ethics, and professionalism. Includes an examination of challenges and U.S. global threats. Students plan and conduct required leadership laboratories. One weekend leadership laboratory is required in addition to the weekly labs. Prerequisites: Senior class standing and satisfactory progress in the Advanced Program. (3/3/3) STAFF

402. Military Leadership IV
A continuation of the comprehensive study of leadership, military justice, military logistics, Army personnel management, Army training management, Army battle doctrine, and the transition from student to officer. Students plan and conduct required leadership laboratories. One weekend leadership laboratory is required in addition to the weekly labs. Prerequisites: Senior class standing and satisfactory progress in the Advanced Program. (3/3/3) STAFF

Neuroscience

DAVID W. PITTMAN, Coordinator
KARA L. BOPP, GEORGE R. DAVIS, JR., STACEY HETTES, ALLISTON K. REID, GEORGE W. SHIFLET, JR.

The program in Neuroscience provides an interdisciplinary familiarity in the field of neuroscience. Students in the program examine the nervous system and its regulation of behavior through multiple experimental approaches ranging from molecular biology to behavioral systems. The program is not a major. A student who fulfills the program requirements will receive a certificate and the program will be noted on the student’s transcript.

Program Requirements:
The program in Neuroscience requires courses offered in the Biology and Psychology departments as well as three Neuroscience courses. Courses that meet requirements in Neuroscience and in the Biology major or the Psychology major may be counted in both.

Biology Requirements:
Biology 212, Biology 214, Biology 250 (or Psychology 200), Biology 342.

Psychology Requirements:
Psychology 200 (or Biology 250), Psychology 310, Psychology 330.

Approved Electives:
Two of the following: Biology 344, Biology 445, Psychology 210, Psychology 300.

Neuroscience Requirements:
Neuroscience 321; Neuroscience 322; Neuroscience 447 or 448.

321. Neuroscience Seminar I
An interdisciplinary seminar discussing current topics in neuroscience through the examination of literature at the molecular neurobiology, neuroanatomy, neurophysiology, and behavioral levels.
(1/0/1) STAFF

322. Neuroscience Seminar II
An interdisciplinary seminar discussing current topics in neuroscience through the examination of literature at the molecular neurobiology, neuroanatomy, neurophysiology, and behavioral levels.
(1/0/1) STAFF

447. Neuroscience Research Capstone I
This course is designed to permit students to learn a research technique and obtain training in the use of scientific methodology in the field of neuroscience. Specific course objectives include: hands-on experience in a neuroscience research technique, learning appropriate data collection and analysis techniques, and learning how conclusions based on empirical data are formed and disseminated as research articles.
(0/4/4) STAFF

448. Neuroscience Research Capstone II
This course is designed to permit students to learn a research technique and obtain training in the use of scientific methodology in the field of neuroscience under conditions where awarding course credit is inappropriate. Such conditions include research conducted as part of a paid stipend, research conducted in off-campus laboratories, or research conducted as part of another college course. Specific course objectives include: hands-on experience in a neuroscience research technique, learning appropriate data collection and analysis techniques, and learning how conclusions based on empirical data are formed and disseminated as research articles.

Nineteenth Century Studies

VIVIAN B. FISHER, SALLY A. HITCHMOUGH, ANNE B. RODRICK, Coordinators

This program allows the student to cross traditional disciplinary boundaries and consider the trends and events of the nineteenth century from a variety of cultural and historical perspectives. For the purpose of this program, the period under study dates from 1785 to 1918. Nineteenth Century Studies is not a major; it is available to students majoring in English or in History. Completion of the program is noted on the transcript.

Satisfactory completion of courses that satisfy a college General Education requirement and a requirement in Nineteenth Century Studies may be counted toward both. Satisfactory completion of courses that satisfy a requirement in the English major or the History major and a requirement in Nineteenth Century Studies may be counted toward both.

Requirements:

English 313. Nineteenth Century Issues and Topics
History 380. Europe in the Age of Anxieties, 1850-1914
English 470 or History 470. Independent Study. The independent study, undertaken in the senior year, of an interdisciplinary topic approved by the student’s advisor. (Also counts toward the major.)

One of the following:
  English 311. The English Romantic Period
  English 312. The Victorian Period

One of the following:
  English 331. The Early English Novel
  English 332. The Later English Novel
  English 337. European Masterpieces

One of the following:
  History 370. Europe in the Age of Revolutions, 1789-1850
  History 384. Modern Britain
  History 395. Modern Imperialism
One of the following:
   English 231. American Romanticism
   History 201. History of the United States, 1607-1865
   History 202. History of the United States Since 1865
   History 305. History of South Carolina
   History 307. The American South to the Civil War
   History 308. The American South Since the Civil War
   History 311. Selected Topics in American Social History

Two from any of the above or the following:
   Art 305. Nineteenth Century Art
   Special Topics Seminars
   Other courses approved by the Coordinators.

Philosophy

JAMES A. KELLER, Chair
CHRISTINE S. DINKINS, CHARLES D. KAY, STEPHEN A. MICHELMAN, NANCY M. WILLIAMS

Requirements for the Major:
The major requires nine courses in addition to courses taken to satisfy the General Education requirement. At least six of these courses must be at the 300-level or above. The courses taken to satisfy the major must include the following:
   A. Four core courses:
      Metaphysics and Epistemology (345).
      Three courses in History of Philosophy chosen from: (351, 352, 353, and 358).
   B. One course in logic and/or reasoning (206, 223, or 321).
   C. One course in ethical theory (311 or 425).
   D. Senior Directed Study (450) or Senior Honors Project in Philosophy.

Requirements for the Minor:
The minor requires five courses in addition to courses taken to satisfy the General Education requirement. At least three of these courses must be at the 300-level or above. The courses taken to satisfy the minor must include at least two of the following: 345, 351, 352, 353, and 358.

Philosophy Courses Meeting Requirements in Other Programs:
Several courses in the department are required for other majors or are optional ways to satisfy requirements in other majors. These courses include 218, 225, 310, 331, 335, and 342. Please refer to the description of each course for further information.

Any philosophy course used to meet another requirement (e.g., a General Education requirement or a requirement for another major) may be used to satisfy a philosophy major or minor distribution requirement. However, the hours for that course will not count toward the Philosophy major or minor.
Religion 327 may be counted toward completion of the Philosophy major provided that it is not also used to complete some other requirement.

Introductory Courses:
Any 100- or 200-level course is appropriate as a first course in philosophy;
one presupposes any previous departmental courses.

120. Introduction to Philosophy
   An introduction to the methods of philosophical thinking through discussion and analysis of selected classical and contemporary texts and problems. Open only to freshmen and sophomores during the regular semesters; open to all students in the summer sessions.
   (3/0/3) DINKINS, KAY, MICHELMAN

206. Reasoning and Critical Thinking
   A course aimed at developing the student’s ability to evaluate arguments and other informative prose and to construct arguments with greater cogency and effectiveness.
   The course employs only a minimal amount of formal logic.
   (3/0/3) KELLER, WILLIAMS

210. Bio-Medical Ethics
   An introduction to ethics through a study of its applications in the area of health care.
   The course includes a survey of the major ethical theories and focuses on a selection of important problem areas such as euthanasia, reproductive technologies, human experimentation, and the justice of health care distribution.
   (3/0/3) KAY

213. Ethics and Business
   An introduction to ethics through discussion and analysis of major ethical systems, theories of social and economic justice, and specific case studies in the area of business.
   (3/0/3) DINKINS, WILLIAMS

215. Environmental Ethics
   An exploration of the challenges presented by the ethical analysis of environmental issues.
   The course explores both the theoretical and practical aspects of these issues.
   (3/0/3) LOWRY

216. Social and Political Philosophy
   An introduction to some of the most influential theories of Western social and political thought. Topics include the nature and legitimacy of political authority and democracy, the role of morality in society, the duties and responsibilities of citizens, and the challenges of diversity and inclusion. Multicultural and feminist perspectives are components of the course.
   (3/0/3) WILLIAMS

218. Computers, Ethics, and Society
   An introduction to ethics through a study of its applications in the area of computers and information science. Through the detailed analysis of selected case studies, the course will explore the questions raised by computer technologies and their impact on business, scientific research, and society. This course is a requirement for the Computer Science major. Prerequisite: Computer Science 235 or permission of the instructor.
   (3/0/3) KAY

223. Philosophy of Science
   An examination of the methods, aims, and limits of scientific inquiry, with special attention to the evaluation and construction of arguments. The course will explore the logic of scientific explanation and the nature of scientific laws, theories, and change.
   (3/0/3) KAY
225. Science and Religion
An examination of the nature of science and religion and their historical and contemporary relationships. The course will explore a selection of traditional problem areas such as evolution, cosmology, ethics, and education. This course may count toward requirements for the Religion major.
(3/0/3) KAY

244. Theories of Human Nature
An examination of selected classical and modern conceptions of the human being. Aristotle, Darwin, sociology, and our relation to other animals are among topics explored.
(3/0/3) MICHELMAN

280. Selected Topics in Philosophy
Selected topics in Philosophy at the introductory or intermediate level.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

Advanced Courses:
The satisfactory completion of an introductory course, or permission of the instructor, is prerequisite to enrollment in any advanced course in the department.

301. Philosophy of Law
An introduction to basic issues in the philosophy of law, such as methods of legal reasoning, the relation between legal norms and moral values, and the scope and foundations of rights. Seminal concepts of concern to law are discussed, including liberty, justice and punishment. Readings include classical and contemporary essays in jurisprudence, studies of specific US and international cases, and selected Supreme Court decisions.
(3/0/3) DINKINS, LOWRY

304. Philosophy through Literature
A discussion and analysis of classical and contemporary philosophical issues as they are presented in selected works of literature, with attention to the question of how philosophical ideas are conveyed through this alternative medium. Topics include: political philosophy, responsibility, free will, and determinism; the nature and purpose of humanity; and the meaning of life.
(3/0/3) DINKINS

310. Aesthetics
An examination of issues in the philosophy of art placed in an art-historical context. Topics include Kantian aesthetics, landscape and the representation of nature, theories of abstract art, and the role of imagination in creating and appreciating art. This course is required for the Art History major.
(3/0/3) MICHELMAN

311. Principles of Ethics
A study of the major systems of ethical thought, both ancient and modern, and their development. Emphasis is on the critical examination and reevaluation of those systems in light of contemporary social developments and non-Western thought.
(3/0/3) WILLIAMS

321. Formal Logic
An introduction to the techniques of modern formal logic, including Venn diagrams, propositional calculus, and first-order predicate calculus. Offered every semester on an auto-tutorial basis. Interested students should consult with the instructor.
(3/0/3) KELLER

331. African Philosophy
An introduction to traditions of African philosophical thought focusing on problems of definition, sources, function, and methodology. The course compares the scope and application of African thought on basic philosophical questions of human existence with thought from recent developments in Western philosophy on the same questions. This course may count toward the requirements for program in African, African-American Studies. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation.
(3/0/3) MUSTAPHA

335. Buddhist Philosophy
An introduction to key concepts in Buddhism's view of persons, the world, and salvation. The course examines these concepts as they were expressed in early Buddhism and in recent Zen Buddhism. This course may count toward the requirements for the major in Chinese. Successful completion of this course satisfies the Cultures and Peoples requirement for graduation.
(3/0/3) KELLER

342. Philosophy of Religion
An examination of the meaning of religious beliefs and of arguments about their truth or falsity. The course focuses on religious beliefs about God and includes some discussion of different ideas of God within the Western tradition. This course may count toward requirements for the major in Religion.
(3/0/3) KELLER

345. Metaphysics and Epistemology
A systematic survey of issues in the two fields and of their interrelations. The course considers the fundamental concepts in terms of which we think about the world, and the nature of knowledge and of justified belief.
(3/0/3) KELLER

351. Western Philosophy in Antiquity and the Middle Ages
A survey of classical and medieval thought focusing on the core topics of interest to the philosophers of these eras: the nature, purpose, and best life of persons; the ideal State; and the nature of the physical world and God. Emphasis is on discussion of primary texts drawn from pre-Socratic fragments, the works of Plato and Aristotle, and representative works of diverse philosophical traditions through the 14th century.
(3/0/3) DINKINS

352. Early Modern European Philosophy
A historical survey of the rise of modern European philosophy in its cultural setting during the 17th and 18th centuries. Emphasis is on the study of selected primary texts, from Descartes to Hume, in relation to the philosophical, religious, and scientific thought of their day.
(3/0/3) KAY

353. Nineteenth-Century European Philosophy
A survey of the development of 19th century philosophy beginning with Kant's Critique of Pure Reason. The course examines Kant's legacy in Hegel, Marx, Kierkegaard, and Nietzsche, focusing on primary texts. Issues for discussion include the role of cognition in constituting the world, the rational basis of faith, and historical and economic determinants of consciousness.
(3/0/3) MICHELMAN

358. Topics in the History of Philosophy
An examination of the work of a particular philosopher, philosophical movement, or time period in the history of philosophy. Topics will be announced whenever the course is offered and will change according to student and faculty interest.
(3/0/3) STAFF
425. Rationality and Commitment
A critical examination of the issue of the extent to which reason can and should guide our moral commitments.
(3/0/3) KELLER

450. Senior Directed Study
A course of individualized directed study in which the student prepares a written paper (typically a revised and expanded version of earlier work) and makes an oral presentation on the paper topic. Required of all students majoring in philosophy. Normally to be completed in the fall of the senior year. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.
(1/0/3) STAFF

470. Independent Study in Philosophy
A course in which the student pursues independently, under the guidance of a member of the department, a specific philosophical topic of interest. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.
(0/0/3) STAFF

480. Advanced Topics in Philosophy
Selected topics in Philosophy at the advanced level.
(1-4/0/1-4) STAFF

Physical Education
MARK D. LINE, Chair

The successful completion of two courses, which are to be taken in the freshman year, is a General Education requirement for graduation. No student will be awarded more credits in physical education than the two semester hours for the general requirement.

Physical Education 102 may be repeated with different activities. None of the other courses may be repeated.

The Physical Education Department members are employed full-time by the college. They serve on the athletics or student affairs staff in addition to teaching Physical Education.

Physics

DANIEL W. WELCH, Chair
J. DANIEL LEJEUNE, MACKAY G. SALLEY, STEVEN B. ZIDES

Requirements for the Major:
The Physics Department offers two major tracks to help students prepare for a variety of careers. Both tracks require Physics 141-142 or 173. Auxiliary requirements (23 or 24 semester hours) for both tracks are Chemistry 123-124; Mathematics 181, 182, 210, and 240; and a Computer Science course (200-level or higher) or Physics 203. Requirements specific to each track are listed below.

Either major track may be augmented by the Emphasis in Computational Science. For requirements, see the Catalogue section on Computational Science.

Industry/Education Track:
This program is for those who plan to enter graduate school in a field other than physics and those who plan immediate employment in areas such as industry, government, or public schools. The course requirements (27 semester hours) are Physics 206, 211, 221, 311, and 331; two semesters of 370; plus nine more hours selected from other physics courses at the 200-level or above (excluding 203).

Students in the Teacher Education Program who are seeking to complete licensure requirements to teach physics in secondary schools should refer to the Teacher Education Handbook and consult with the Chairs of the Physics and Education Departments to review the extent to which Departmental and teacher preparation requirements differ and to develop plans for meeting both.

Pre-Professional Track:
This program is for those who plan to enter graduate school in physics in preparation for a career in the field. The course requirements (29 semester hours) are Physics 211, 221, 331, 441, and 442; two semesters of 370; plus 12 more hours selected from other physics courses at the 200-level or above (excluding 203).

Physics course prerequisites require a grade of C or higher in the prerequisite unless specifically noted otherwise in the course description.

104. Physics: Concepts and Method
A study of topics selected to introduce students to basic concepts in physics and/or astronomy, and to the scientific method. Does not count toward a major in Physics nor toward science requirements for the B.S. degree.
(3/3/4) STAFF

108. Astronomy
A survey course in astronomy which includes observational astronomy, the solar system, structure and evolution of stars and galaxies, and cosmology.
(3/0/3) STAFF
121-122. General Physics
A study of mechanics, heat, light, sound, electricity, magnetism, and modern physics using algebra, trigonometry, and limits.
(3/3/4) each course STAFF

141-142. Physics for Science and Engineering
A calculus-based study of mechanics, heat, light, sound, electricity, magnetism, and modern physics suitable for those majoring in areas such as physics or chemistry and for those in pre-engineering. Prerequisites: Mathematics 181 during or prior to 141, and Mathematics 182 during or prior to 142.
(3/3/4) each course STAFF

173. Advanced Beginning Physics
Fast-track general physics preparation for science, mathematics, and engineering majors. Physics content, mathematics level, and computer experiences are selected to help students with adequate calculus and physics backgrounds to achieve in one semester the ends normally achieved in a two-semester calculus based physics course.
Prerequisite: Permission of instructor.
(3/3/4) STAFF

203. Computer Organization and Interfacing
A course situated at the point where software meets hardware. From there it reaches downward to the microcode level and upward to the system level. To meet the needs of scientists and computer scientists, the logical and physical foundations on which computer systems are built are developed with enough rigor that functioning computer systems can be successfully altered for new applications during the laboratory component of the course. The algorithm design and control programming progresses during the course from the microcode and machine language level, through hand assembly, to full assembly methods. The course concludes with an analytical comparison of competing contemporary architectures.
(3/3/4) STAFF

206. Electronics
An elementary course in the principles of electronic devices, circuits, and instruments. It is intended for students of science who desire some understanding of the electronic instrumentation they use. Prerequisite: Physics 122 or 142 or 173.
(3/3/4) STAFF

211. Modern Physics
A study of the major developments in physics since 1895, with emphasis on special relativity, the atom, the nucleus, and "elementary particles." Prerequisites: Physics 122 or 142 or 173, and Mathematics 182.
(3/0/3) STAFF

221. Mechanics
Classical Newtonian analytical mechanics. Newton's laws are used together with vector analysis to analyze problems in statics and dynamics, with emphasis upon the latter. Problem-solving situations include rectilinear particle dynamics (especially oscillators), general particle dynamics, non-inertial reference frames, central forces, systems of particles, and mechanics of rigid bodies. Prerequisites: Physics 121, 122 or 141, 142 or 173; and Mathematics 182.
(3/0/3) STAFF

231. Thermodynamics
Development and application of basic concepts and methods useful in understanding thermal phenomena. The approach is divided into three basic branches: classical thermodynamics, kinetic theory, and statistical mechanics. Prerequisites: Physics 121-122, or 141-142, or 173; and Mathematics 210.
(3/0/3) STAFF

250. Introduction to Research
An opportunity to learn the elements of research in physics by participating in one of the department's existing research projects. A maximum of four semester hours may be earned in this way. Prerequisites: Physics 211 and permission of Instructor and Department Chair.
(0/4/1) STAFF

280. Selected Topics in Physics
An opportunity to participate in a special intermediate course offering. Students planning to take this course should consult with the instructor during the previous semester. Prerequisite: Physics 211.
(Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) STAFF

311. Contemporary Physics
The general physics background of the student serves as a tool for comprehending readings taken from professional physics publications on topics with significant relationship to life outside the laboratory. The course demands substantial progress in technical writing, technical speaking, and technical literature search skills as measured against normal professional requirements in the field. Prerequisite: Physics 211.
(3/0/3) STAFF

321. Optics
The presentation and demonstration of the proper use of several alternative models of the electromagnetic spectrum, including the ray model, the wave model, and the quantum model. Prerequisites: Physics 122 or 142 or 173.
(3/0/3) STAFF

331. Electricity and Magnetism
The study of physics and mathematics of the classical description of the electromagnetic field. This includes the experimental and theoretical background for each of Maxwell's equations, in vacuum and in matter. Prerequisites: Physics 221 and Mathematics 182.
(3/0/3) STAFF

341. Quantum Physics
The mathematical structure and physical meaning of quantum mechanics, as a fundamental theory of physics, are developed at the intermediate level. Problems are drawn from areas such as the structure of nuclei, atoms, molecules, and crystals. Prerequisites: Physics 211 and Mathematics 210.
(3/0/3) STAFF

370. Advanced Laboratory
A series of four semester experiments and projects that develop the basic experimental skills that a student majoring in physics should have. These include use of standard physics instrumentation, some familiarity with shop tools, laboratory record-keeping and report-writing, and knowledge of ways in which basic physical quantities are measured. The basics for all of these skills are developed in the first semester in the series. The others may be taken in any order. Prerequisite: Physics 211.
(0/3/1 each course) STAFF

441, 442. Theoretical Physics
Designed for students planning to attend graduate school, these courses are to be taken in the senior year at Wofford. The material is taken from the more advanced portions of mechanics, electrodynamics, quantum physics, optics, and introductory statistical mechanics. Special attention is given to the mathematical methods used in each of these areas. Prerequisites: Mathematics 210, 240; Physics 211, 221, 331, and 341; and senior standing.
(3/0/3) each course STAFF
451, 452. Research
Active participation in a research project selected from those of the department’s existing projects, or developed earlier in Physics 250 or in coordination with a faculty member. The student is expected to maintain a regular weekly schedule of lab and library work in connection with this project, keep a notebook in standard format, and write a detailed research report to be retained by the faculty member. Prerequisites: Physics 221, 331, 371, and permission of instructor. (0/6/2) each course STAFF

480. Advanced Topics in Physics
An opportunity to participate in a special advanced course offering. Students planning to take this course should consult with the instructor during the previous semester. Prerequisites: Physics 221, 331, 341, and 371. (Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) STAFF

Mathematics 140.

Requirements for the Major:
Thirty-eight semester hours as follows: the Psychology Core (Psychology 200, 210, 220, 230, 240, 250, and 300), the Senior Thesis (451 or 452), and three approved electives. The list of approved electives includes courses in Psychology as well as certain courses in other departments. Students should contact the Department Chair for the current list.

All Psychology courses at the 200-level and above will be included in the calculations for determining the student’s grade-point average in the major. Students who major in Psychology must meet the requirements for the B.S. degree. Thus, they are required to complete eight hours of laboratory science outside the Psychology Department. Biology 212 is strongly recommended as one of the four-hour courses to be completed toward this requirement. Biology 104, Chemistry 104, Geology 104, and Physics 104 do not contribute to the requirement.

Students majoring in Psychology can concentrate in Neuroscience. Administered by the departments of Biology and Psychology, the Neuroscience Program is an interdisciplinary examination of the nervous system and its regulation of behavior. Completion of the Program will be noted on the transcript. By carefully selecting courses, students may complete both the major in Psychology and the program in Neuroscience. Many of the required courses count toward the major in Psychology and the concentration in Neuroscience. For requirements see the section of the Catalogue on Neuroscience.

Students majoring in Psychology can obtain an Emphasis in Computational Science. The interdisciplinary field of computational science applies computer science and mathematics to psychology and the other sciences. For requirements, see the Catalogue section on Computational Science.

Students in the Teacher Education Program who are seeking to complete licensure requirements to teach psychology should refer to the Teacher Education Handbook and consult with the Chairs of the Psychology and Education Departments to review the extent to which Departmental and teacher preparation requirements differ and to develop plans for meeting both.

Introductory Courses
104. Psychology: Concepts and Method
A study of topics selected to introduce students to basic concepts in psychology and the scientific method. Does not count toward a major in Psychology or toward science requirements for the B.S. degree. (3/3/4) STAFF

110. Introductory Psychology
A general survey of what psychologists do, the tools they use, and problems of current attention. Emphasis is placed on methodology, biological psychology, learning, motivation, perception, cognitive processes, development, social and abnormal psychology, and assessment of individual differences. Open only to freshmen and sophomores. (3/0/3) STAFF

Core Program for the Major
The required courses in the Psychology Core must be completed before a student may begin the Senior Thesis. Therefore, these courses should be completed by the end of the junior year.

200. Experimental Methods
A survey of the research methods used to obtain scientific knowledge in psychology, with an emphasis on experimental design and the interpretation of research results. Prerequisite or corequisite: Mathematics 140. (3/3/4) REID

210. Sensation & Perception
A study of the functions of sensory systems as they relate to behavior and the mechanisms of perception. Prerequisite: Psychology 230. (3/3/4) PITTMAN

220. Abnormal Psychology
The study of the causes of inappropriate behaviors and cognitions (including mental illness) and techniques for redirecting such behaviors and cognitions. (3/0/3) LEFEVRE, McANINCH

230. Biological Psychology
An introduction to the concepts and experimental techniques of biological psychology. This course covers the scope of genetic, neural, and hormonal processes that underlie behavior. (3/3/4) PITTMAN

240. Child Development
A survey of child and adolescent development. Major theories about and influences on cognitive, emotional, physical, and moral development are explored. (3/0/3) McANINCH
320. Social Psychology
An exploration of the basic questions addressed by social psychology (e.g., how people influence each other) and the classic experiments conducted to test the theories. (3/0/3) LEFEBVRE

300. Learning and Adaptive Behavior
A survey of the general principles of learning and adaptive behavior in humans and lower animals. The course emphasizes the evolution of these mechanisms, their current adaptive function, and current models of learning processes. Prerequisite: Psychology 200. (3/3/4) REID

451, 452. Senior Thesis I, II
A research-oriented seminar focusing on the mechanisms of behavior, cognition, perception, or social interaction. Students conduct a major experiment with human or animal subjects and present their findings in a written report meeting American Psychological Association journal form requirements. A comprehensive written review of the professional literature in the student’s area of research is also required. Students must complete either 451 or 452, but they may complete both courses. Prerequisite: Permission of instructor. (3/3/4) STAFF

Electives

260. Human Sexuality
A careful presentation of human development and sexual adjustment which provides a framework for behavior directed toward constructive human relationships. (3/0/3) LEFEBVRE

270. Health Psychology
An introduction to the rapidly developing field of health psychology. Our thoughts, feelings, motives, and behaviors influence our physical health, and they are involved in the causes and maintenance of various potentially fatal diseases. This course explores how psychology contributes to an understanding of the genesis, treatment, maintenance, and prevention of a number of medical conditions, as well as implications for health care practice and policy. (3/0/3) LEFEBVRE

280. Selected Topics in Psychology
Selected topics in psychology at the introductory or intermediate level. (Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) STAFF

310. Cognitive Science
A survey of the experimental analysis of human memory and cognition, including such topics as the organization of human memory systems, knowledge representation, language, imagery, attention, and connectionist modeling. Prerequisite: Psychology 200. (3/0/3) BOPP, REID

320. Personality
The development and identification of personality from an experimental/empirical standpoint. Prerequisite: Psychology 220. (3/0/3) LEFEBVRE

325. Abnormal Child Psychology
A seminar course designed to synthesize the various problematic behaviors, cognitions, and emotion in children. Students will integrate the major issues in the assessment, classification, and treatment of childhood disorders as well as evaluate the current scientific literature related to these disorders. An emphasis will be placed on class participation, writing assignments, and reading original journal articles. Prerequisite: Psychology 220. (3/0/3) LEFEBVRE

330. Behavioral Neuroscience
An advanced study of the concepts and techniques of behavioral neuroscience. Prerequisite: Psychology 230. (3/0/3) PITTMAN

330L. Behavioral Neuroscience Laboratory
The laboratory will provide an opportunity to gain expertise in the quantification and analysis of animal behavior as well as advanced electrophysiological techniques such as EEG, EOG, integrated whole nerve recordings, and single neuron recordings in both human and animal models. Corequisite: Psychology 330. (0/3/1) PITTMAN

340. Adult Development and Aging
A study of development (cognitive, emotional, and social, through adulthood and aging) and of relevant issues such as Alzheimer’s disease and death. Prerequisite: Psychology 240. (3/0/3) BOPP, McANINCH

351. Psychopharmacology
A study of the actions of psychoactive drugs on the nervous system and behavior. Some prior acquaintance with basic neuromotor, neuropharmacology, and behavioral techniques is suggested. (3/0/3) PITTMAN

355. Industrial Psychology
A general course designed to acquaint students with the uses of psychology in industrial settings. Emphasis on interviewing, motivating, selling, brainstorming, and related aspects of social psychological processes in industrial settings. Of special interest to students of business, law, and the ministry. Prerequisite: Psychology 200. (3/0/3) STAFF

360. Applied Statistics for Psychology
A course in statistics and other quantitative methods applied to psychology. This course does not meet the General Education Requirement for Mathematics. Prerequisites: Mathematics 140, Psychology 200. (3/0/3) LEFEBVRE, McANINCH, REID

370. Behavioral Medicine
Behavioral medicine refers to the integration of the behavioral sciences with the practice and science of medicine. Mental state and behavior have powerful influences on the etiology of disease, recovery from disease, and immune system function. This course identifies how behavioral interventions can be used in the treatment of illnesses that were previously viewed as strictly medical problems. Prerequisite: Psychology 270. (3/0/3) LEFEBVRE
440. Clinical Psychology
A course teaching techniques of interviewing clients to diagnose problems, types of therapy and their appropriateness for the various types of problems, the distinction between ineffective and effective therapeutic techniques, and the measurement of the effectiveness of an intervention. This course exposes students to the research, teaching, and clinical service roles performed by clinical psychologists. Prerequisite: Psychology 320.
(3/0/3) LEFEBVRE, MCANINCH

450. Psychological Assessment
A study of the function, construction, and application of standardized tests as part of a broader approach to the assessment of the individual. Special emphasis on intelligence testing. Prerequisites: Psychology 200 and 220.
(3/0/3) MCANINCH

448. Internship
A course in which students become involved in the practical application of psychological training. Students work a minimum of ten hours a week in a community program under supervision at such agencies as the Spartanburg Mental Health Center, Broughton State Hospital, Charles Lea Center, or Spartanburg Alcohol and Drug Abuse Commission. Open only to students majoring in Psychology.
(1/4/3) LEFEBVRE

460. Independent Research
This course is designed to permit students to learn independent research techniques through actually planning and conducting an experiment. A final paper meeting American Psychological Association journal form requirements completes the experiment. Open only to students majoring in Psychology.
(Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) STAFF

480. Advanced Topics in Psychology
An intensive examination of an advanced area of psychology. Specific content is designed to meet the needs and interests of students. Open only to students majoring in psychology.
(Variable credit in class or lab up to 4 hours) STAFF
