Three Terriers Named To Preseason All-SoCon Baseball Team

SPARTANBURG, SC – Wofford College had three players named to the Preseason All-Southern Conference Baseball announced on Tuesday. In addition, the defending SoCon Tournament Champion Terriers were selected to finish eighth in the Preseason Coaches Poll. The Terriers had three players honored by the conference's coaches. Named to the first team at shortstop was Michael Gilmartin, while pitcher Ben Austin and second baseman Shane Kirkley were named to the second team.

Gilmartin, a sophomore from Moorpark, California, was named All-SoCon second team and All-Tournament Team in 2007. He hit .322 on the season and is the team's returning leader in runs and hits. In addition, Gilmartin was the Terriers' top closer, posting eight saves with a 4.11 ERA.

Austin, a senior from Chapel Hill, N.C., posted an 11-6 record last season as a starter for the Terriers. In 107.2 innings pitched, he had a team-high 96 strikeouts and a 4.35 ERA. He held opponents to a .264 batting average. Austin was named to the 2007 Southern Conference All-Tournament Team.

Kirkley, a senior from Lugoff, S.C., is the team's returning leader in at-bats, home runs, RBIs and total bases. He posted a .323 batting average in 2007 and was third in the conference with 16 home runs. He was second on the team in homers and was third on the team with 80 hits.

College of Charleston, 2007 Southern Conference regular-season co-champion, is the favorite to win the 2008 crown according to a vote of the league's coaches. The Cougars picked up five of a possible 10 first place votes and finished with a total of 86 votes. Western Carolina, which tied College of Charleston for the regular-season title last season, gets the nod for second place after earning three first-place votes and 77 total votes. Elon received 68 total votes for fourth place. The Citadel edged Appalachian State, 55-54, for fifth and sixth places, respectively, with UNC Greensboro close behind with 51 votes. Defending tournament champion Wofford is picked for eighth place with 33 votes followed by Furman (27 votes) and Davidson (19 votes).

Western Carolina had a total of six players (three first-team and three second-team) named to the preseason All-Southern Conference team. Appalachian State had four players honored (three first-team and one second-team) while The Citadel (one first-team and two second-team), Georgia Southern (one first-team and two second-team) and Wofford (one first-team and two second-team) had three players each earned preseason recognition. College of Charleston (one first-team and one second-team) and Elon (one first-team and one second-team) landed two players apiece on the all-conference team while UNC Greensboro had one player named to the first-team all-league squad.

The Terriers will begin the 2008 season on Friday, February 22 when the Terriers host St. Peters in a doubleheader at 4:00 pm.
