Reminders from the Registrar

Details: Friday, April 13, is the last day to submit Course Withdrawal forms (WP forms) to the Registrar's Office. The forms are available through the student tab of myWofford. All previously received forms have been processed. A 'WP' will be noted on your class schedule in myWofford. If you believe you submitted a WP form, but do not see a 'WP' on your schedule, please contact the Registrar's Office ASAP. Registration for FALL 2018 is April 24-27. Registration will open at 7:30 on your designated day; however, it will close that evening at midnight and remain closed until all remaining groups have had the chance to register. Registration for Fall will re-open for everyone on Tuesday, May 1. Your advising PIN and registration day/time are available under the student tab in myWofford. You can view both by clicking on the picture labeled 'view my advising PIN.' If you have not met with your advisor, you need to do so prior to registration time. If you need/want to register for a course that has a restriction that you do not meet, you will need to get an override from the faculty member teaching the course. If you plan to repeat a course, you will need an override from the Registrar's Office before you can register. Remember you can only repeat a total of four courses during your Wofford career. Check to see if you have any holds. If you have a hold, visit with the office that placed hold to resolve the issue at least 24 hours prior to your registration time.

Perspectives on Digital Pedagogy - Writing for Authentic Audiences

Date/Time: 4/20/2018 2:00:00 PM

Location: Olin 207A

Cost: free

Details: Interested faculty and staff are invited to join the CIL for a talk and workshop with Dr. Rachel Schneider of Missouri University of Science & Technology: "Writing ?for Real': How to Design Assignments with Authentic Audiences." One problem when designing writing assignments for students is to get them to take seriously the idea that writing is always intended for specific audiences. By designing assignments where students produce material for audiences outside the classroom, students practice real-life skills, which often makes them more interested and helps them see how their writing skills can transfer across assignments. In this talk, instructors will not only learn about the latest research on writing for authentic audiences, but will be shown examples of assignments and best practices from a range of disciplines to help them apply these skills in their own classrooms. Refreshments will be provided, and an RSVP to Cate Blouke would be appreciated but not required.

Help donate your Terrier Bucks to the Spartanburg community

Details: Are you interested in helping a local non-profit in need? The month of April is sexual assault awareness month, and as students at Wofford we are trying to give back to the Spartanburg community. By collecting food and non-perishable items for SAFE Homes-Rape Crisis Coalition, the local organization that helps survivors of sexual assault and domestic abuse, we hope to aid sexual assault survivors. AVI has graciously given you the ability to donate your terriers bucks to SAFE Homes-Rape Crisis Coalition. Through your donation, AVI will purchase materials that SAFE Homes needs in order to assist their clients. We will be collecting money April 9 - 23, and then will be giving the supplies you helped purchase to Safe Homes-Rape Crisis Coalition at the end of April. Here is the link for you to donate some of your Terrier Bucks.

Perspectives on Digital Pedagogy - Writing for Authentic Audiences

Date/Time: 4/20/2018 2:00:00 PM

Location: Olin 207A

Cost: Free

Details: Interested faculty and staff are invited to join the CIL for a talk and workshop with Dr. Rachel Schneider of Missouri University of Science & Technology: "Writing -for Real!: How to Design Assignments with Authentic Audiences." One problem when designing writing assignments for students is to get them to take seriously the idea that writing is always intended for specific audiences. By designing assignments where students produce material for audiences outside the classroom, students practice real-life skills, which often makes them more interested and helps them see how their writing skills can transfer across assignments. In this talk, instructors will not only learn about the latest research on writing for authentic audiences, but will be shown examples of assignments and best practices from a range of disciplines to help them apply these skills in their own classrooms. Refreshments will be provided, and an RSVP to Cate Blouke would be appreciated but not required.

Help donate your Terrier Bucks to the Spartanburg community

Details: Are you interested in helping a local non-profit in need? The month of April is sexual assault awareness month, and as students at Wofford we are trying to give back to the Spartanburg community. By collecting food and non-perishable items for SAFE Homes-Rape Crisis Coalition, the local organization that helps survivors of sexual assault and domestic abuse, we hope to aid sexual assault survivors. AVI has graciously given you the ability to donate your terriers bucks to SAFE Homes-Rape Crisis Coalition. Through your donation, AVI will purchase materials that SAFE Homes needs in order to assist their clients. We will be collecting money April 9 - 23, and then will be giving the supplies you helped purchase to Safe Homes-Rape Crisis Coalition at the end of April. Here is the link for you to donate some of your Terrier Bucks.

One problem when designing writing assignments for students is to get them to take seriously the idea that writing is always intended for specific audiences. By designing assignments where students produce material for audiences outside the classroom, students practice real-life skills, which often makes them more interested and helps them see how their writing skills can transfer across assignments. In this talk, instructors will not only learn about the latest research on writing for authentic audiences, but will be shown examples of assignments and best practices from a range of disciplines to help them apply these skills in their own classrooms. Refreshments will be provided, and an RSVP to Cate Blouke would be appreciated but not required.Contact: Cate BloukeEmail: bloukecm@wofford.eduTelephone/Extension: 8645975047Math Tea*Date/Time: 4/20/2018 2:30:00 PMLocation: Olin 204Cost: FreeDetails: Come join the Math Department today for the last Math Tea of the semester. Last Day! Help donate your Terrier Bucks to the Spartanburg community

Details: Are you interested in helping a local non-profit in need? The month of April is sexual assault awareness month, and as students at Wofford we are trying to give back to the Spartanburg community. By collecting food and non-perishable items for SAFE Homes-Rape Crisis Coalition, the local organization that helps survivors of sexual assault and domestic abuse, we hope to aid sexual assault survivors. AVI has graciously given you the ability to donate your terriers bucks to SAFE Homes-Rape Crisis Coalition. Through your donation, AVI will purchase materials that SAFE Homes needs in order to assist their clients. We will be collecting money April 9 -23, and then will be giving the supplies you helped purchase to Safe Homes-Rape Crisis Coalition at the end of April. Here is the link for you to donate some of your Terrier Bucks.

Tuition Scholarship for Rising Juniors -- Call for Applications

Details: The C. C. Norton Endowed Scholarship Fund was established by his wife, Mabel B. Norton, in 1983 to honor the memory of Dr. C. C. Norton, professor of sociology (1925- 1966) and dean (1940-1954) of Wofford College. Awards from the fund are reserved for rising juniors who have financial need and who are majoring in sociology. The fund contains approximately $15,000 and will be distributed to one or more students each year. To be eligible to apply for the award, you must be a rising junior who is majoring in sociology. The Sociology and Anthropology Department's faculty will adjudicate the applications. To apply for the award, please email the following materials to Dr. Fowler (fowlerct@wofford.edu): 1. A list of your sociology and anthropology coursework and your GPA 2. A statement of financial need 3. A 1000 word personal essay describing your goals as a sociologist or anthropologist, how the scholarship will further your goals, and how you expect to be affected by your learning in sociology and anthropology department. Applications are due by Friday, May 1st at 5:00 pm.

National Day of Silence

Details: Today is GLSEN's national day of silence. GLSEN's Day of Silence is a national event where folks take a vow of silence to highlight the silencing and erasure of LGBTQIA people at school (GLSEN.org). We will not have an event today on the Seal of Main Building. However, today I ask members of our community to take notice of the posters around campus and the Office of Diversity and Inclusion's social media pages. Posters and social media will be displayed with encouraging messages supporting our community members who have been silenced or remain in silence because of various circumstances. The Wofford Terriers stand with you and are here to support you! We ask our community to take time today to reflect on how we can continue to provide support to our LGBTQIA community on our campus and provide opportunities for their voices to be heard and appreciated as a part of the Wofford Community.
