Wells in eighth as Terriers open fall campaign
September 17, 2007

WILLIAMSBURG, Va. -- Wofford junior Erin Wells fired a 2-over par 74 to open play Monday and earn an eighth-place finish after the first 18 holes as the Terrier women's golf team begun its 2007-08 campaign at the Colonial Women's Intercollegiate in Williamsburg, Va., on the par 72, 6,279-yard Jamestown Course.

Wells, who became the first Wofford All-Southern Conference player a year ago, shot a 35-39--74 (+2) to stand five strokes behind the leader, Florida Atlantic's Praewnapa Phol-Uayporn who leads the event with a 3-under par 69.

Terrier freshman Meredith Few, competing in her first collegiate tournament, is tied for 22nd with a 41-38--79 (+7), two shots ahead of sophomore teammates Ellen Kvarby and Sarah Herbert. The pair is tied for 34th after Kvarby registered a 37-44--81 (+9), while Herbert posted a 41-40--81 (+9).

Rounding out the Wofford contingent is freshman Alex Rankin, who is also participating in her first collegiate event. She is tied for 53rd following a 44-42--86 (+14).

The Terriers are sixth out of 11 in the team standings entering Tuesday's final round.

Few tops Terriers as Wofford concludes fall play
October 30, 2007

FT. MYERS, Fla. -- Freshman Meredith Few finished as the top Wofford individual as the Terriers concluded fall tournament action Tuesday afternoon with an eighth-place result at the Pat Bradley Championship on the par 72, 6,842-yard Pelican Preserve Golf Club in Ft. Myers, Fla.

Few shot a 75-80-77--232 (+16) to tie for 21st among the 62 players in the field. She was two strokes better than last season’s All-Southern Conference selection, junior Erin Wells, who garnered a 24th-place tying 76-77-81--234 (+18).

Sophomores Sarah Herbert and Ellen Kvarby registered 49th-place tying scores. Herbert fired a 77-79-88--244 (+28), while Kvarby posted an 87-74-83--244 (+28).

Freshman Alex Rankin was the final Terrier competing and she placed 55th after carding an 80-86-80-246 (+30).

Wofford will return to action in the spring with five tournaments.

Rankin collects co-SoCon Player of the Week award
March 19, 2008

SPARTANBURG, S.C. -- Wofford freshman Alex Rankin, fresh off her individual title at the Gainesville Shootout, has been named a co-recipient of the Southern Conference Player of the Week honor it was announced by the league office for March 19. Rankin shared the accolade with Chattanooga's Emma da Groot, who also captured a tournament title last week winning the Samford Intercollegiate.

Rankin, an Anderson, S.C., became just the second Terrier in program history to win an individual tournament crown when she posted a 7-over par 217 to win the Gainesville Shootout Saturday in Gainesville, Fla.

She fired a career-low 68 during the second round to take control of first place and maintained her 36-hole lead during the final 18 holes for a three-shot victory over Ashley Olynick of Texas A&M-Corpus Christi. The 68 also marked the lowest score of any round for the 87 individuals competing in the event.

The player of the week award for Rankin also marks the second by a Wofford player, following the March 14, 2007, honor bestowed upon then-sophomore Erin Wells. Wells won her award following her medalist honors at the Diet Coke Wofford Intercollegiate, the first in school history.

Rankin will join her Terrier teammates next on the links, March 30-April 1, at the Larry Nelson Collegiate Invitational in Chateau Elan, Ga.
Wofford's freshmen pair in top four after day one
March 31, 2008

CHATEAU ELAN, Ga. -- Wofford's Alex Rankin and Meredith Few, the two freshmen on this year's Terrier squad, are among the top four players with Rankin tied for first after the first two rounds of the Larry Nelson Collegiate Invitational Monday in Chateau Elan, Ga.

Rankin, who captured her first collegiate tournament title in Wofford's last event, the Gainesville Shootout, continued her stellar play with a 73-77--150 (+8) to tie UL-Monroe's Angela Drane for first among the 88 individuals.

Few is one of three players tied for fourth on the par 71, 6,000-yard course with a 79-73--152 (+10). The Terriers are only one of two schools, along with SoCon foe Chattanooga, to place two individuals among the top 10.

Junior Erin Wells is the next Wofford player in the clubhouse with an 83-79--162 (+20) to tie for 33rd.

Wells' classmate, Colleen Rice, registered an 89-88--177 (+35) to finish 79th, while sophomore Sarah Herbert rounds out the Terrier contingent with a 94-90--184 (+42) to place 82nd.

South Alabama paces the team standings with a two-stroke advantage over Samford.

The two-day, 54-hole event will conclude with the final 18 holes Tuesday.

Rankin earns second SoCon Player of the Week honor
April 16, 2008

SPARTANBURG, S.C. -- Wofford freshman women's golfer Alex Rankin garnered her second Southern Conference Player of the Week accolade when she received the nod from the conference office for the week of April 16.

Rankin concluded the regular season with a fourth-place finish at the Roar-EE Invitational in New York, N.Y., Friday and Saturday. The result was her third-straight top-five finish, which began with medalist honors at the Gainesville Shootout March 13-15 in Gainesville, Fla. She earned co-league player of the week accolades March 19 after the individual title.

On the season, she leads the Terriers with a 77.95 stroke average, three top-10 finishes and six top-20 results. Rankin, an Anderson, S.C., native, lowered her stroke average by nearly four shots to 75.9 during the four spring events from a 79.7 mark during the five fall tournaments. She was the top Wofford scorer in five of the nine tournaments during her rookie campaign.

She becomes the first player in program history to earn Southern Conference Player of the Week honors more than once. Erin Wells captured the accolade one time, March 14, 2007.

Rankin will next join her Terrier teammates at the Southern Conference Championship, April 20-22, at The Links at Stono Ferry in Hollywood, S.C.
