Dr. Mashal Saif, Debating Islam and Women's Rights in Contemporary Pakistan

Date/Time: 2023-10-13 02:00 PM

Location: Olin Theater, Franklin W. Olin Building

Cost:

Details: Dr. Mashal Saif is an associate professor of religion at Clemson University. Her talk focuses on Pakistan, the second most populous Muslim majority country in the world, and two key instances in the country's history of religious debates over women's rights. These debates provide the audience a sense of the spectrum of Muslim views on the broad issue of Islam and women. Dr. Saif argues that what is at stake in Pakistan is not women, but tradition, and that women are simply the grounds on which tradition and authority are debated and reformulated.

Vivek Ramaswamy coming to Wofford College Presidential candidate to speak Oct. 9

SPARTANBURG, SOUTH CAROLINA — Vivek Ramaswamy, a candidate for the Republican nomination for President of the United States, will give a talk and take questions at Wofford College at 6 p.m., Monday, Oct. 9, in Leonard Auditorium. The event is free and open to the public and a reception with Ramaswamy will follow. Registration is recommended.

Ramaswamy's visit is part of the college's Hipp Lecture Series on International Affairs and National Security. The public can register for the event online; click HERE to register. Possession of a ticket does not guarantee entry to the lecture. Doors open at 5 p.m. Seats will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis.

"Vivek's energetic and hopeful message to rekindle the American spirit has inspired many," says Van Hipp, chairman of American Defense International Inc. and founder of the Hipp Lecture Series on International Affairs and National Security. "We are honored to have him on campus to meet with students and participate in a Q&A on national security and foreign policy."

Vivek Ramaswamy is an American business leader and New York Times bestselling author of Woke, Inc.: Inside Corporate America's Social Justice Scam, along with his second book, Nation of Victims: Identity Politics, the Death of Merit, and the Path Back to Excellence, and Capitalist Punishment: How Wall Street is Using Your Money to Create a Country You Didn't Vote For. A summa cum laude biology graduate of Harvard University, Ramaswamy also holds a J.D. from Yale Law School. He is the founder of Roivant Sciences and Strive, an Ohio-based asset management firm. In February 2023, Ramaswamy officially launched his campaign for President of the United States, becoming the first millennial to run as a Republican presidential candidate.

The Hipp Lecture Series on International Affairs and National Security is part of the Hipp Center for National Security and Foreign Policy. It was founded in 2011 to create signature events at Wofford with the goal of capturing the attention of students and the public while drawing them into important conversations on applying American leadership and ideals to the challenges of international affairs past, present and future.

The lecture series is made possible through the generous donations of Wofford alumnus Van D. Hipp Jr., class of 1982, chairman of American Defense International Inc., a Washington D.C.-based consulting firm specializing in government affairs, business development and public relations. Hipp is a former deputy assistant secretary of the U.S. Army.

Wofford College, established in 1854, is a four-year, residential liberal arts college located in Spartanburg, South Carolina. It offers 27 major fields of study to a student body of 1,800 undergraduates. Nationally known for the strength of its academic program, outstanding faculty, study abroad participation and successful graduates, Wofford is recognized consistently as a "best value" and for its commitment to student success and accessibility for low- and middle-income students. The college community has 12 sororities and fraternities as well as 20 NCAA Division I athletics teams.

Dr. Mashal Saif, Debating Islam and Women's Rights in Contemporary Pakistan

Date/Time: 2023-10-13 02:00 PM

Location: Olin Theater, Franklin W. Olin Building

Cost:

Details: Dr. Mashal Saif is an associate professor of religion at Clemson University. Her talk focuses on Pakistan, the second most populous Muslim majority country in the world, and two key instances in the country's history of religious debates over women's rights. These debates provide the audience a sense of the spectrum of Muslim views on the broad issue of Islam and women. Dr. Saif argues that what is at stake in Pakistan is not women, but tradition, and that women are simply the grounds on which tradition and authority are debated and reformulated.

Subject: Report on the Parking and AI committees

Date: October 4, 2023 at 1:48 PM

To: Wofford Staff and Faculty WoffordStaff@Wofford.Edu, Wofford Students WoffordStudents@Wofford.Edu

To: Wofford campus community
From: Nayef Samhat
Date: Oct. 4, 2023
Re: Report on the Parking and AI committees

Two important campus committees — one on parking and one on artificial intelligence — have begun their work. Learn more here, and please join me in thanking our colleagues who are serving our community in these important ways.

Campus Ad Hoc Parking Committee

Working with appropriate sources and constituencies, the campus ad hoc parking committee will review existing parking inventory across the entirety of the campus as well as current parking policies. The committee will present a report to senior leadership on the president's cabinet, including any recommended changes to parking policies and practices. The committee is chaired by Director of Campus Safety Dwayne Harris. Serving on the committee are:

1. Three representatives from the student body, one of whom must be a student who commutes: Gracyn Coker '25, Emily Drummond '25 and Foster Kemp '26.
2. Three representatives from the faculty: Dresden Lackey, assistant professor of sociology and anthropology; David Pittman '94, professor of psychology; and Jim Stevens; assistant professor of finance.
3. Three representatives from the staff, one of whom must be from athletics: Donald Eggleton, groundskeeper; Elizabeth Rabb '01; deputy athletics director and SWA; and Susan Thomas, administrative assistant.

Any recommendations must be endorsed by at least two of the three members of each representative group.

To share your feedback or suggestions with the parking committee, email parking@wofford.edu.

Wofford AI Working Group

The Wofford AI Working Group will formulate an effective and innovative response to the widespread impact of Generative AI. This group will first identify and understand the many ways that AI will present opportunities and challenges to our campus community in the present and future. Informed by our liberal arts mission, the working group will then draft a strategic framework for how Wofford can become a leader in this area and prepare our students, staff and faculty to respond to the impact of Generative AI on their careers and everyday lives.

Kimberly Hall, associate professor of English, is leading the working group. Also serving the college on the AI Working Group are Justin Bailey, director of the Center for Excellence in Teaching and Learning; Jenny Bem, associate professor of accounting; Beau Christ, associate professor of computer science; Al Douglass, assistant professor of English and director of the Writing Center; Rebecca Forstater, assistant professor of studio art; Taylor Fuller '24; Kevin Huffman, digital director in the Office of Marketing and Communications; Kirsten Krick-Aigner, professor of German; Ashley Manigault '24; Dan Mathewson, professor of religion and associate provost for faculty development; Curt McPhail '96, executive director of the Career Center; Lisa Roberts, dean of the library; and Rachel Vanderhill, associate professor of government and international affairs.

Between Oct. 31 and Nov. 10, the group will be conducting a survey and holding a series of focus group discussions to learn more about your ideas, opinions and questions about Generative AI. If you have questions or comments at any time, please email aiworkinggroup@wofford.edu. Also look for a webpage — coming soon — so you can track progress and learn more.

Dr. Mashal Saif, Debating Islam and Women's Rights in Contemporary Pakistan

Date/Time: 2023-10-13 02:00 PM

Location: Olin Theater, Franklin W. Olin Building

Cost:

Details: Dr. Mashal Saif is an associate professor of religion at Clemson University. Her talk focuses on Pakistan, the second most populous Muslim majority country in the world, and two key instances in the country's history of religious debates over women's rights. These debates provide the audience a sense of the spectrum of Muslim views on the broad issue of Islam and women. Dr. Saif argues that what is at stake in Pakistan is not women, but tradition, and that women are simply the grounds on which tradition and authority are debated and reformulated.

Dr. Mashal Saif, Debating Islam and Women's Rights in Contemporary Pakistan

Date/Time: 2023-10-13 02:00 PM

Location: Olin Theater, Franklin W. Olin Building

Cost:

Details: Dr. Mashal Saif is an associate professor of religion at Clemson University. Her talk focuses on Pakistan, the second most populous Muslim majority country in the world, and two key instances in the country's history of religious debates over women's rights. These debates provide the audience a sense of the spectrum of Muslim views on the broad issue of Islam and women. Dr. Saif argues that what is at stake in Pakistan is not women, but tradition, and that women are simply the grounds on which tradition and authority are debated and reformulated.

"Can Host-Microbiome Systems Be Healthy?" with Dr. Derek Skillings

Details: The philosophy department is hosting Dr. Derek Skillings (UNC, Greensboro) at 4 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 26 in Chandler Environmental Studies 109. Dr. Skillings will look at some alternatives for making sense of "healthy microbiome" talk. He will argue that existing "naturalistic," or non-evaluative, accounts of human health are not appropriate for microbiomes, and that notions of ecosystem health face similar shortcomings. He will end by looking at some possibilities for understanding overall host health given the importance and ubiquity of microbiomes.

Dr. Mashal Saif, Debating Islam and Women's Rights in Contemporary Pakistan

Date/Time: 2023-10-13 02:00 PM

Location: Olin Theater, Franklin W. Olin Building

Cost:

Details: Dr. Mashal Saif is an associate professor of religion at Clemson University. Her talk focuses on Pakistan, the second most populous Muslim majority country in the world, and two key instances in the country's history of religious debates over women's rights. These debates provide the audience a sense of the spectrum of Muslim views on the broad issue of Islam and women. Dr. Saif argues that what is at stake in Pakistan is not women, but tradition, and that women are simply the grounds on which tradition and authority are debated and reformulated.

Speaker: "Wounded-Vision: The Scarlet Witch and the Trauma of Family" by Will Rogers

Date/Time: 2023-11-06 04:00 PM

Location: Leonard Auditorium

Cost: Free

Details: Nostalgia is a hell of a drug, so goes the commonplace, and it is a strong one for Wanda Maximoff in Wandavision. A frequent response to trauma, nostalgia is about reliving what we know and what's comfortable. It's worked like that for many of us in a post-pandemic America, gripped by protests, isolation, and economic and political upheaval. Nostalgia numbs that, and, in this presentation, Will Rogers connects those strategies of a pandemic-afflicted audience to the originary pain that Wanda buries in her conjured spaces of the sitcom.

Subject: 2024 Annual Benefits Enrollment, Nov. 1-17

Open enrollment has been scheduled for November 1-17!

To offer you an enhanced enrollment experience this year and make the implementation of Employee Navigator as easy as possible, we're partnering with an Employee Benefits Communication and Enrollment Firm, e3 Benefit, to provide individualized one-on-one benefits counseling sessions to all employees. If you do not want to complete the process on your own, we encourage all benefit-eligible employees to complete the enrollment process with a benefits counselor.

Click Wofford - Digital Postcard 2024 for instructions on how to book your appointment with a professional benefits counselor and to use the self-service employee navigator portal. The digital postcard also is attached.

You may also view the 2024 Employee Benefit Guide at Flipbook - Benefits Guide.

If you have questions regarding the open enrollment process, please reach out to me at andersonfc@wofford.edu.

Thank you!

Speaker: "Wounded-Vision: The Scarlet Witch and the Trauma of Family" by Will Rogers

Date/Time: 2023-11-06 04:00 PM

Location: Leonard Auditorium

Cost: Free

Details: Nostalgia is a hell of a drug, so goes the commonplace, and it is a strong one for Wanda Maximoff in Wandavision. A frequent response to trauma, nostalgia is about reliving what we know and what's comfortable. It's worked like that for many of us in a post-pandemic America, gripped by protests, isolation, and economic and political upheaval. Nostalgia numbs that, and, in this presentation, Will Rogers connects those strategies of a pandemic-afflicted audience to the originary pain that Wanda buries in her conjured spaces of the sitcom.

Speaker: "Wounded-Vision: The Scarlet Witch and the Trauma of Family" by Will Rogers

Date/Time: 2023-11-06 04:00 PM

Location: Leonard Auditorium

Cost: Free

Details: Nostalgia is a hell of a drug, so goes the commonplace, and it is a strong one for Wanda Maximoff in Wandavision. A frequent response to trauma, nostalgia is about reliving what we know and what's comfortable. It's worked like that for many of us in a post-pandemic America, gripped by protests, isolation, and economic and political upheaval. Nostalgia numbs that, and, in this presentation, Will Rogers connects those strategies of a pandemic-afflicted audience to the originary pain that Wanda buries in her conjured spaces of the sitcom.

From: President's Office PresidentsOffice@wofford.edu
Subject: Update from the Board of Trustees fall meeting
Date: October 23, 2023 at 2:01 PM
To: stonerp@wofford.edu

PO

Dear Phillip,

The Fall 2023 meeting of the Wofford College Board of Trustees concluded on Oct. 13, and I'd like to share the results of that meeting.

The board spent much of the meeting taking an in-depth look at the enrollment process and the impact that it has on college budgets and operations. In addition, the board learned more about the upcoming changes to the Free Application for Federal Student Aid FAFSA. The FAFSA for returning students is due by March 15 and remains an important step in ensuring that students maximize financial aid. At the meeting trustees approved tuition, fees, housing and food of $72,225 ($56,005 tuition) for the 2024-25 academic year based on an enrollment range of 460 to 480 students who will join our community in the fall.

The first day of the trustee meeting (Oct. 12) was A Day for Wofford. Trustees pulled out their phones and gave along with faculty, staff, students and alumni. During the 24-hour collective giving event, 1,824 donors gave almost $2 million. I'd like to note that 81 students made a gift and 118 members of the faculty and staff made gifts unlocking additional funding in support of college people, places and programs.

At the meeting, trustees also heard reports from Campus Union President Graydon Davies '24; Parent Leadership Council Co-Chair Amanda Ramseur, who leads along with her husband, Bobby; and Alumni Association President Nathan Madigan '08. Dr. Rachel Vanderhill, associate professor of government and faculty representative to the board, shared an excellent report focusing heavily on the transformative impact of collaborative student-faculty research. Faculty, students and the Spartanburg community reap the benefits of these experiences, and I am proud that the college continues to allocate funds to support this work.

Here are a few other things to note as we approach the midpoint of the semester:

- James Scott '97, a Pulitzer-prize finalist novelist, will join a panel on the role of narrative when writing history with Clayton Whisnant, Chapman Professor of History; Jess Tompkins, assistant professor of history; and John Lane, professor emeritus of environmental studies, at 4:30 p.m., Tuesday, Oct. 24, in the Papadopoulos Room. Please join if you can.
- Along those lines, each semester the college brings dozens of speakers, panels, symposiums and events to our community of learners. Almost all are free! I encourage you to take advantage of these opportunities, which are shared on posters, Instagram and in the Daily Announcements. One, in particular, "While Sheperds Watched," at 7 p.m., Monday, Dec. 11 in Leonard Auditorium, marks the revival of the Dunlap Chamber Music Series with a performance by the Tallis Scholars, an internationally acclaimed British professional early music vocal ensemble.
- Wofford has contracted with Opendorse to offer a name, image and likeness (NIL) platform to support our student-athletes. The service will be available by the end of the fall semester.

Many people are making last-minute preparations for Homecoming, and alumni will return to campus for festivities beginning Thursday, Nov. 2. Prema and I look forward to attending events ranging from the Alumni Board meeting and Alumni Awards Ceremony to the Black Alumni Summit and the football game. The All Alumni Party was a hit last year and will follow class reunions again. For a complete schedule, visit Wofford.edu/homecoming.

Thank you all for your commitment to our college and our community of learners. It's a great time to be a Terrier!

Best,

Fictions of the Living Dead: How Zombie Narratives Reassemble Haitian History

Date/Time: 2023-10-24 05:00 PM

Location: Olin 101

Cost:

Details: Dr. Lucy Swanson of the University of Arizona will offer a public lecture on the history and contemporary evolutions of zombie narratives in the French-speaking Caribbean. The zombie legend first emerged centuries ago in Haitian popular beliefs, in the context of enslavement and colonization. Since that time, it has morphed into a violent consumer of human flesh from Romero's Night of the Living Dead to HBO's The Last of Us. Swanson explores historical roots of the living dead before examining French director Bertrand Bonello's 2019 film Zombi Child.

"Can Host-Microbiome Systems Be Healthy?" with Dr. Derek Skillings

Details: The philosophy department is hosting Dr. Derek Skillings (UNC, Greensboro) at 4 p.m. on Thursday, Oct. 26 in Chandler Environmental Studies 109. Dr. Skillings will look at some alternatives for making sense of "healthy microbiome" talk. He will argue that existing "naturalistic," or non-evaluative, accounts of human health are not appropriate for microbiomes, and that notions of ecosystem health face similar shortcomings. He will end by looking at some possibilities for understanding overall host health given the importance and ubiquity of microbiomes.

Speaker: "Wounded-Vision: The Scarlet Witch and the Trauma of Family" by Will Rogers

Date/Time: 2023-11-06 04:00 PM

Location: Leonard Auditorium

Cost: Free

Details: Nostalgia is a hell of a drug, so goes the commonplace, and it is a strong one for Wanda Maximoff in Wandavision. A frequent response to trauma, nostalgia is about reliving what we know and what's comfortable. It's worked like that for many of us in a post-pandemic America, gripped by protests, isolation, and economic and political upheaval. Nostalgia numbs that, and, in this presentation, Will Rogers connects those strategies of a pandemic-afflicted audience to the originary pain that Wanda buries in her conjured spaces of the sitcom.

Speaker: "Wounded-Vision: The Scarlet Witch and the Trauma of Family" by Will Rogers

Date/Time: 2023-11-06 04:00 PM

Location: Leonard Auditorium

Cost: Free

Details: Nostalgia is a hell of a drug, so goes the commonplace, and it is a strong one for Wanda Maximoff in Wandavision. A frequent response to trauma, nostalgia is about reliving what we know and what's comfortable. It's worked like that for many of us in a post-pandemic America, gripped by protests, isolation, and economic and political upheaval. Nostalgia numbs that, and, in this presentation, Will Rogers connects those strategies of a pandemic-afflicted audience to the originary pain that Wanda buries in her conjured spaces of the sitcom.

Subject: Join a focus group or take a survey on generative AI

Date: October 30, 2023 at 4:11 PM

To: Wofford Staff and Faculty WoffordStaff@Wofford.Edu, Wofford Students WoffordStudents@Wofford.Edu

Dear students, faculty and staff,

Wofford's Artificial Intelligence Working Group is studying what our campus community thinks and understands about the development of generative AI and its impacts. To learn what is happening with AI at Wofford, we want to hear from as many people on campus as possible about their perspectives on these technologies in and out of the classroom. We invite you to tell us your thoughts in one of two ways.

Option 1: Over the next three weeks, we will hold a series of small focus groups where you can share your thoughts with us in person. If you would like to attend one of these sessions, please sign up at the links below.

Sign up for a faculty/staff focus group here.

Sign up for a student focus group here.

Option 2: You can share with us through a brief digital survey that will be emailed later this week. Keep an eye on your inbox.

We want to hear from you whether or not you are already using generative AI, and whatever your role is on campus. Thank you in advance for helping us to create a picture of Wofford's perspectives.

Sincerely,

The members of the AI Working Group
